NORFOLK TRIP OF SALESMAN IS BAKER CLEW

Man Who Left Capital on Day After Murder Is Object of Hunt.

TRIO ALREADY HELD PUT ON GRILL AGAIN

Two Thieves Are Firm in Story of Articles Taken From Death Car.

RICHMOND CAPTIVE'S ALIBI PROVES FAULTY

Dates Fail to Check, While Communion Cups He Gave Away Are Mystery.

Two colored men in the Arlington County Jail and a man being held by Richmond, Va., police continued to hold the pivotal points of interest last night in the Baker murder case, as authorities uncovered a new lead for development.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth and District detectives yesterday subjected the two colored men to withering cross-examination in an attempt to shatter their story that they took only a purse and scarf from the murder car.

Detective Thomas Sweeney and a Department of Justice agent arrived in this city last night after grilling Earl Frank, alias Earl Frank White, regarding his whereabouts on the day that the Baker girl was murdered.

New Lead Uncovered.

Mr. Gloth last night announced that a promising lead had developed when it was disclosed that a salesman, whose name he would not reveal, had left Washington the day after the murder and had gone to Norfolk, Va.

For four days he remained in a room in a hotel in Norfolk. Later he entered a private sanitarium near Washington and is now believed to be in a sanitarium in Virginia. Operatives have been dispatched to the hospital to question the new suspect.

Frank Smith and James Vollin, the two colored men under arrest, underwent the cross-examination yesterday. One of them is a light-skinned Negro and police are proceeding on this tangent on the assumption that the witnesses who saw the assault on Miss Baker in Ellipse may have mistaken him for a white man.

Men Firm in Story.

Police were unsuccessful in their attempt to obtain admission from the two colored suspects that they had rifled automobiles in the vicinity of the Ellipse. Trinkets and a novel which had been considered valuable clews proved to have been pilfered from parked automobiles in the vicinity of the Ellipse.

It was thought by investigators that the Baker girl may have surprised the thief in the act of stealing articles from her machine and, when discovered, the man struck her, later assaulting and killing her.

Palm prints of the two colored men have been taken and are to be compared with prints found on the murder car. Both men remained steadfast to the story that they had not taken the coat, hat and other articles from the murder car. Their only admission was that they had taken a few articles from the machine after it had been abandoned near Military road.

U. S. Farm Visited.

Mr. Gloth and Deputy Sheriff Harry Woodyard, of Arlington County, yesterday visited the Experimental Farm of the Department of Agriculture where it was definitely established by them that the coat, hat, trinkets and other articles which were found in a manhole there on Friday had not been in the sewer on the previous Tuesday.

Had the police obtained an admission from the men that their friends had placed the articles in the manhole after their incarceration, they

Injury Confines President's Wife

Physician Says Mrs. Hoover Must Convalesce for Two or Three Weeks.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover will be forced to convalesce at the White House for two or three weeks more before she will be able to resume her social and other duties, Capt. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, let it be known yesterday.

Ten days ago Mrs. Hoover painfully wrenched her back while getting up from a couch. She is making good progress, Dr. Boone declared, but her complete recovery must be slow.

President Hoover again was forced to receive alone at a White House reception yesterday to delegates to the biennial convention of the National League of American Pen Women.

LONDON NAVAL PACT PRAISED BY KELLOGG

Tricornered Quiz Planned by Senate and House Committees.

CRITICS BEGIN ATTACK

While former Secretary of State Kellogg was sounding the praises of the London naval treaty, after a call on President Hoover yesterday, big navyists in Congress were plotting another line of attack through the House naval affairs committee, before which Chairman Britten (Republican), Illinois, said he would summon Secretary of the Navy Adams, Admirals Pratt and Jones and other naval advisors to the American delegation.

"The treaty signed at London," said Mr. Kellogg, coauthor of the anti-war pact, which was the cornerstone of the new naval treaty," is a great step forward. It is certain to prevent competitive naval construction between the great nations in the future. I am confident that the Senate will ratify the treaty at the present session of Congress."

As Chairman Hale (Republican), Maine, of the Senate naval affairs committee, has already said he would hold hearings coincident with those that Chairman Borah will have before the Senate foreign relations committee, the treaty is in for an unprecedented three-cornered committee scrutiny. Two of these hearings, those by the Hale and Britten committees, are destined to be hostile, for the naval affairs committees are largely made up of big navyists who object to what Mr. Britten charges is the "surrender" on big cruisers.

Mr. Britten is already talking of reservations or amendments to the London document, and of recommending such changes to the Senate. As any amendment would vitiate the treaty, and especially the sort Mr. Britten contemplates upsetting the cruiser bargain, the treaty's champions will rigidly oppose the slightest alteration of the official text.

Any amendment would force resubmission of the treaty to London and Tokyo as well as Paris and Rome.

Rumors have long been current that a large body of expert navy

Bori, Gigli and Tibbett Are Applauded in Leading Roles.

Metropolitan Group Is Accorded Ovation in Capital.

Lucrezia Bori, Beniamino Gigli and Lawrence Tibbett, an incomparable trio of operatic stars, made the opening performance of the Metropolitan Opera Company's all too brief season in Washington at Fox Theater last night one long to be cherished in the musical annals of the National Capital. The opera chosen for the initial presentation was Puccini's tragic but ever lovely "La Boheme."

That the Fox Theater is the most adequate setting for grand opera in Washington was soon realized as the brilliant scene was surveyed with the tier of boxes aglitter with gems worn by gorgeously gowned social leaders resembling the far-famed "Diamond Horseshoe" of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. The orchestra and other portions of the house were filled practically to capacity and the audience was a Who's Who in Washington.

Due to illness Mrs. Hoover was unable to attend the opera as she had previously planned. The ranking Government official present was the Vice President, who occupied the front box with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, and a party of friends.

A metropolitan atmosphere was given to the scene at the entrance to Fox Theater last night when cameramen gathered there to make flashlights of notables as they arrived.

This attracted a large crowd of the curious who had much evident enjoyment trying to guess who the celebrities were as the "boom, boom boom" of the flashlights went off.

On all sides members of the special committee, headed by Mrs. Robert Low Bacon as chairman and Mrs. Wilson-Greene, the impresarios, were being congratulated for their civic spirit and arduous labors which had made possible the season of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company here again.

The scintillating beauty of the stars' voices, the smooth ensemble work of the cast, the well-nigh perfect support of the orchestra under the mastery of Vincenzo Bellezza's baton with the instrumental phrases telling the tragic story of the opera

HARDMAN TO CROWN QUEEN OF FESTIVAL

Governor of Georgia to Be Among Distinguished Guests Today.

HOLIDAY MOOD REIGNS

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 23.—The Governor of Georgia will be in Virginia tomorrow to place the royal crown upon the head of the beautiful daughter of his excellency, the Governor of the Old Dominion, at the seventh annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival here tomorrow and Friday.

Announcement has been made that Gov. L. G. Hardman, of the Southern State, had accepted the invitation to thus officiate at the coronation of Miss Suzanne Pollard, who is to reign over the festival as "Queen Shenandoah VII." Miss Pollard is also mistress of the executive mansion in Richmond.

Gov. Hardman, Mrs. Hardman and their daughter will be guests of former Gov. and Mrs. Harry F. Byrd at their country home, Rosemont, in Clarke County. Gov. Byrd will entertain three other governors, Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia, who succeeded him; Gov. and Mrs. W. G. Conley of West Virginia, and Gov. and Mrs. Max Gardner of North Carolina.

Still another State executive, Gov. John C. Richards of South Carolina, is to attend the festival. He will be the guest of his kinsman, Nelson F.

GANDHI CONTINUES TO ASSAIL VIOLENCE

London Perturbed by Fatal Outbreak in City Near Afghan Border.

London, April 24 (Thursday) (A.P.). Sudden extension of the anti-British movement in India to far away Peshawar, the great gateway of the northwest near the Afghan border, has roused disturbing thoughts here.

The Lahore correspondent of the Daily Mail sent a version of developments in Peshawar which dwarfed earlier reports. The dispatch said that a serious outbreak was suppressed only when troops poured machine gun and rifle fire into a riotous mob, killing twenty.

The mob, inflamed by recent propaganda and speeches by leaders of the Indian National Congress, had held up an armored car, poured kerosene on it and ignited it, the two occupants being burned to death. It was related further that a British sergeant had been pulled off a motorcycle in the bazaar and attacked with an ax. It was reported that he had died of his wounds.

Troops Hold City.

The streets were said to be strewn with stones which the mob hurled at the police and soldiers. H. A. F. Metcalfe, deputy commissioner of police, and several other police officers were so severely injured as to require hospital attention.

British and Gurkha troops are holding the city. The gates of the place are strongly guarded in order to keep out the wild tribesmen of the frontier who, whenever disturbances arise, habitually swarm into the place, looking for loot.

The correspondent added that the congress leaders whose speeches inflamed the mob have been arrested.

Twelve Die in Clash.

The Daily Mail also had a dispatch from Bombay saying that the Maharajah of Kolhapur, an independent state within the Bombay presidency, had taken action against sedition mongers by forbidding any meeting or procession unless special permits are given by magistrates. The maharajah also made certain sections of the Bombay salt act operative in his dominion and extended the powers of the police.

LETTERMAN IS FREED IN WARRANTLESS RAID BY DIRECTED VERDICT

OFFICER JUSTIFIED, IS COURT'S DECISION

Smelling Alcohol Odor Gave License to Search Premises, Is Ruling.

MANNER OF ENTRANCE IS DECLARED LEGAL

Claim Squad Sought Man for Whom It Had Warrant Is Upheld.

In response to a command from Judge Isaac R. Hitt in Police Court yesterday afternoon, a jury of twelve men returned a directed verdict of "not guilty" in favor of Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman, who was on trial on a charge of unlawful entry in connection with a raid last month on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eleck Harmon on S street northwest near Sixteenth street.

In directing the verdict the judge pointed out that from testimony brought out by the Government Sergt. Letterman had entered the Harmon's apartment lawfully and members of his command, having smelled the odor of alcohol, were automatically given the license to search the premises and seize contraband and arrest the occupants.

The United States attorney's office, through Assistant United States Attorney Charles B. Murray, prosecuted the case, and the judge's reasons in directing his verdict were considered a direct slap at that arm of the enforcement service. Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart, who is in charge of prosecuting liquor cases in the Police Court, refused to prosecute the Harmons because of the manner in which Sergt. Letterman had gained entry into the apartment.

Looking for Man, Claim.

Sergt. Letterman, according to testimony, entered the Harmon apartment on the pretext of looking for a man whom he sought on an arrest warrant. He did not have a search warrant. This fact was stressed by Mr. Murray in arguing that there be no directed verdict. Mr. Murray pointed out that in future members of the police who happen to be prohibition agents also can enter an apartment or private home with any paper and make a search of the premises.

In ordering the jury to dismiss the case, Judge Hitt said:

"We have testimony that Mr. Letterman went to this place and that he knocked on the door, and that he entered. At that point his olfactory organs revealed that the law was being violated. Testimony is to the effect that his entry was legal and that his fellow officers, smelling the fumes of an intoxicating beverage, were given license to search the premises. The motion of the defense counsel for a directed verdict is therefore allowed."

The jury then arose and issued the verdict as decreed by the judge.

Letterman Smiles In Court.

Sergt Letterman, all smiles, arose and congratulated his counsel, and others of his friends who were in the courtroom.

The motion for the directed verdict was made on the grounds that the charge against the sergeant did not come under the Willis-Campbell act under which he was tried since he was not a prohibition agent, but a qualified civil service employe, and that the defendant himself did not search the premises.

Mrs. Harmon, on the stand, had testified that after the police entered with a search warrant for a man who did not live there, Sergt. Letterman stood with her and that his men had scattered over the place.

WETS, IN REBUTTAL, SCOUT DRY CLAIMS

U. S. Industrial Expansion Has Only Gone Along With Prohibition, Is View.

DU PONT IS ONE WITNESS

(Associated Press.)

The decade of American industrial expansion since the World War has been coincident with, rather than a result of, national prohibition, in the opinion of the antiprohibitionists who yesterday delivered a rebuttal attack before the House judiciary committee against the testimony of the drys.

The opponents of the eighteenth amendment placed one witness after another on the stand to challenge the dry contentions that happy homes, bulging bank accounts, busy manufacturing plants and a host of other good things could be attributed to the dry statute.

They also took direct issue with

SLAYER ACQUITTED IN MONCURE KILLING

THREAT EVIDENCE HEARD

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 23 (A.P.).—George W. Moore, alleged bootlegger, was acquitted by a jury in criminal court here today of a charge of second-degree murder growing out of the slaying of Robert K. Moncure, prohibition agent, during a raid on Moore's home on January 18 last. The jury deliberated only 25 minutes.

Testimony of an eye-witness that Federal prohibition officers, raiding the Moore home, had called out "Shoot him, shoot him," as they forcefully entered the house, was given. Moore was charged with killing Moncure, who with Franklin R. Patterson, was shot to death during

318 Deaths in Prison Attributed to Laxity

Columbus, Ohio, Fire Chief Asserts at Hearing That All Victims Could Have Been Saved; Tearful Relatives Claim Bodies.

Columbus, Ohio, April 23 (A.P.). Sensational charges that prison officials could have saved all of the 318 prisoners who died in the Ohio Penitentiary fire Monday night and an admission from Warden Preston E. Thomas that no general fire precautions are taken at the institution were read into the record of the board of inquiry today.

Charges that the prison officers were lax in their consideration of the value of human life were made by A. E. Nice, Columbus fire chief. The warden blamed the State for overcrowding the prison to almost twice its capacity.

Chief Nice declared that all the victims could have been saved if they had been released from their cells as soon as the fire was discovered. He told the board that there must have been undue delay because the first alarm came from a box outside the prison walls.

Warden Thomas, recalled to the witness stand after Nice finished his testimony, was questioned in detail as to what precautions were taken against fire and why he went outside the prison walls to prevent any escapes when a serious situation prevailed inside.

He replied that he did not provide general fire protection at the prison because Columbus fire companies can reach there in two minutes and that he did not go to the scene of the fire because he had given orders and expected them to be carried out.

The investigation continued through a day marked by another scare, supplied by restless prisoners who caused the number of guards and troopers to be augmented. Several thousand prisoners in the idle house and 600 Negro convicts in the dormitories created a disturbance but were quieted without serious happenings.

Prison routine was returning to normal. One hundred and forty men were transferred to other State institutions to relieve overcrowded conditions and within a day or so the convicts will resume work in the prison factories.

At the improvised morgue in the State Fair Grounds Horticultural Building, where long rows of caskets were stretched out on wooden benches relatives of the fire victims called to receive their bodies. Fifteen were released for burial, conveyed in Army trucks to railroad stations or in hearses if the relatives were able to employ them.

For the first time since the holocaust Warden Thomas ventured into the prison yard. He walked over to the deputies' office and then started across to the chapel, where hundreds of cellmates of the dead men were installed in temporary quarters.

Jeers and cries of derision brought the warden's bowed head erect.

Judge Orders Hurdy-Gurdy Grinder to Leave District

Monkey Is Also Ordered to Leave Washington With Master.

Although declaring that any one who revived the old hurdy-gurdy days should be given five years in jail, Judge Robert E. Mattingly, in Police Court, yesterday took the personal bond of Walter Proctor, a vigorous-looking Italian, on the condition that he would not play his hand-organ in Washington any more and would leave the city on an afternoon train.

Proctor appeared before the judge on a charge of playing his hand-organ without a permit. Police testified that he was grinding his way through Washington, gathering in pennies, when apprehended.

The Italian explained that he was doing his best to get out of Washington as he wanted to get to Winches-

Group Will Register Its Opposition to Measure at Capitol.

A group of Washington society women will appear at the Capitol tomorrow to take part in a mass assault on the Howell enforcement bill.

The bill, designed to make Washington what President Hoover thinks it ought to be—the model prohibition city of the country—contains one of the most drastic provisions ever written into a dry measure.

This is the so-called "home raid" provision. Under it a policeman, seeing a bootlegger with liquor enter or leave a private dwelling, might obtain a warrant to raid that dwelling. Not even the Volstead act goes that far. Under it an officer, before he could obtain a warrant to raid a place, would have to make a purchase of liquor there.

So drastic is the home-raid provision that even the Attorney Gen-

She also had admitted that she had been bottling home brew and that there was some mash working and that the fumes might have arisen from a batch of working mash in a neighbor apartment.

Argument of Murray.

Mr. Murray contended that he had shown that Letterman, though, a member of the Metropolitan police force, was a defacto prohibition agent of the prohibition department even though he had not stood the civil service examination. He pointed out that it was not up to the Government to show that he was a qualified prohibition officer.

The case, from the argument, hinged on whether Letterman was a prohibition agent and an officer of the United States.

Defense counsel said he was not, because of the fact that he had not passed certain Civil Service requirements.

Government's Side Presented.

The Government, through Mr. Murray, said he was, pointing out that it had been shown that he had been sworn in as a prohibition agent while still a member of the Washington police force. Government testimony was to the effect that Letterman was appointed to the prohibition force in February, 1928.

In addition to this Mr. Murray also read the Willis-Campbell act which provides that any officers or agents of the United States who enter a private dwelling without a warrant are guilty of misdemeanor.

The raid on the Harmon establishment followed by a few days a warrantless raid made on an alleged speakeasy by Capt. W. G. Stott, of the Third Precinct. Mr. Hart upheld Capt. Stott's raid on the ground that a speakeasy was a public place, but ruled that the Harmon raid was illegal because it was on a private home and there was no search warrant.

Invitation to Raiders Denied.

The raiders had alleged that Mrs. Harmon invited them in and that they saw evidences that the law was being violated.

Mrs. Harmon denied that she had given the invitation, but stated that the police had pushed their way in after she had opened the door, and that while Sergt. Letterman stood beside her that his men scattered over her apartment.

Testimony also was brought out at the trial through several court officials that no warrant for the raid on the Harmon apartment had been issued.

It was understood that the trial of Sergt. Letterman on the charge was the first that had ever been attempted under the Willis-Campbell act in the United States, although the statute has been on the books since 1920.

Nicaragua Rebel Movement Denied

Commander Explanis Reportts Started From Brush With Theives.

Managua, Nicaragua, April 23 (A. P.).—Gen. Douglas MacDougal, commander of the Nicaraguan National Guard, said tonight that no rebel movement existed near the Costa Rican frontier as had been stated in reports emanating from Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

Gen. MacDougal explained that on April 5 a detachment of eight guardsmen under Lieut. Wilson had encountered fifteen poorly armed cattle thieves at the abandoned Hacienda El Carmen nea rthe town of Sapoa. The band showed fight and four of them were killed and three wounded, the others fleeing into Costa Rica.

The general emphasized that the affair had nothing of the characteristics of a "rebellion" and that today's reports showed that all sections of the country were quiet.

APPLE BLOOM FETE WILL BEGIN TODAY

Richards, director general of the celebration.

Specially engraved invitations, bearing the gold seal of the city of Winchester, have been prepared and forwarded to five native-born celebrities listed in the "Winchester Hall of Fame." They are Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, jr., naval flier and explorer; Willa Sibert Cather, the author; Dr. Frederick Henry Baetjer, the Roentgen ray expert; Dr. James Howard Gore, university professor and American delegate to many international congresses, and Admiral Louis McCoy Nulton, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

Ancient ceremonial and modern glory will surround the coronation of Miss Pollard as queen of the festival. The ritual employed in the coronation of the English sovereigns at Winchester, the old English capital, will constitute the pattern of the ceremonies. Adding charm to the impressive ceremony will be scores of princesses and other attendants to her majesty. Numerous amplifiers will carry the voices of participants to every corner of the 72-acre Handley High School campus, where the exercises take place at 3 p. m. tomorrow. The ceremony has been prepared by the Rev. Dr. S. L. Flickinger, pastor of Centenary Reformed Church, an authority on ritualism, from the old English form into which the Spanish ceremonial of the presentation of the golden apple has been incorporated.

Sections of Ceremony.

The elaborate coronation ceremony has been divided into nine sections, including the entrance to the esplanade, the recognition, the oath, the investing with the royal robe and delivery of the golden apple, the presentation of the key to the city, the investiture per baculum, the crowning, the ithronization, and the homage. Rhythmic dance interludes are to be given between each episode by Miss Georgia Conrad. The Glee Club of the Harrisonburg State Teachers' College will sing. The incidental music will be by the United States Navy Band, Lieut. Charles Benter directing.

Decorating of public and private buildings in the business section of the city was begun several days ago. Decorations are for the most part much more elaborate than formerly. Instead of using only the festival colors of pink, green and white, the colors of the national flag have been blended with the lighter shades, producing a more vivid and outstanding effect. Many private residences also are to be trimmed with flags and bunting.

WOMEN TO OPPOSE HOWELL MEASURE

eral has denounced it. In doing so, however, he split with the Prohibition Bureau, which favors the provision.

The society women will appear at a hearing on the Howell bill, which will be conducted by the Senate committee on the District of Columbia at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The women are all members of the local chapter of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, which was organized by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, of New York.

Among those who will be ready to testify are Miss Belle Gurnee, chairman of the local council; Mrs. John F. Dryden, treasurer; Mrs. James F. Mitchell, Mrs. Spencer Cosby, Miss Nancy Newbold, Mrs. P. Lee Warren, Mrs. Charles P. Stone, Mrs. J. J. Wadsworth and Mrs. Frederick H. Brooke.

Views Are Outlined.

It is possible, too, that Representative Mary Norton, of New Jersey, will be a witness. She is vice chairman of the local organization.

"We are extremely serious in opposing prohibition," Mrs. Frederick H. Brooks said last night. "At the same time, we want to be dignified in our opposition. We have no desire to cause any fireworks.

"As for the Howell bill, it is—well, it is simply impossible."

Aligned with the women tomorrow will be representatives of the Crusaders and the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. The former organization probably will be represented by Nathaniel Holmes, commander, and John F. Dryden, treasurer, while the Association Against probably will be represented by Capt. William Stayton.

Wet Groups Not Heard.

At the first hearing on the Howell bill not a single wet organization was represented. The drys were there, however, and in force. That there were no wets to testify was not the fault of Chairman Capper, who has announced that the committee always will welcome both sides to any issue.

The Howell bill was drafted by Senator Robert B. Howell (Republican), of Nebraska, after he and the President had engaged in a controversy over enforcement here.

In addition to its home raid provisions, it contains a provision to give all of the 1,300 Metropolitan policemen here the powers of prohibition agents. At present such powers are held only by 38 policemen, who have been specially deputized as agents.

Danish Fliers Killed As Plane Crashes to Sea

Warnemuende, Germany, April 23 (A.P.).—Capt. Jensen, pilot of a Danish naval plane, and Mechanic Bresendorf were killed last night in the crash of their plane on the Baltic Sea. Capt. Jensen's body was found today.

Officials of the aviation training school said the naval plane was flying about 160 miles an hour when it hit the water with terrific force, the impact demolished the plane.

LOBBYING IN COURT IS CHARGED IN QUIZ

CONTENTS ARE READ

(Associated Press.)

Investigation by the Senate lobby committee of the activities of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment yesterday produced a charge by Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, that the organization had "lobbied directly with the United States Supreme Court."

The charge resulted from the reading of two letters written last year by Thomas W. Phillips, of Pennsylvania, a director of the association, to Justice Stone, of the Supreme Court, and a third to the late Justice Sanford. The letters consisted largely of an attack on prohibition.

They were read before the committee while it was questioning Henry W. Curran, president of the Antiprohibition Association for the fifth day, in regard to its activities in behalf of repeal of the dry laws.

Curran Approved Letters.

Questioned by members of teh committee, Mr. Curran said he approved the letters.

"It is the most amazing thing I ever heard of," Senator Robinson retorted. "You are lobbying directly with the United States Supreme Court, apparently to influence that great court in its decisions. I have never heard of such a thing in a god many years of the practice of law."

Mr. Phillips is running for governor of Pennsylvania and is supported by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Informed at his home at Butler, Pa., that the letters had been read before the lobby committee, Mr. Phillips described them as "personal letters to acquaintances" and said there was no intent to "lobby." He added that the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment had "absolutely nothing to do with it."

Hint of Attempted Test Case.

An intention to bring a test case in the courts in an attempt to eliminate the eighteenth amendment from the Constitution was disclosed in another letter written by William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

The letter, written last year to A. P. Williams, of New York, expressed the opinion that time "will come(in the not distant future) when it will be wise to bring a suit and go on up to the Supreme Court of the United States in the hope of getting the eighteenth amendment out of the Constitution."

"To bring such a suit now would be almost suicide," the letter said, adding:

"It has seemed to me, and I think it has seemed to the executive committee of our association, that good tactics and common sense require that the test case in the Supreme Court be held off until there has been some change in the personnel of that court."

Cumberland, Md., April 23.—James Holmes of Lonaconing, recently appointed to fill the unexspired term of the late John W. Doherty, United States Deputy Marshall for this section, has assumed his duties, having been sworn in by United States Marshal Collier in Baltimore.

Dr. Holmes is a former county tax collector for the Lonaconing district and is a member of the Republican State Central Committee for Allegany County.

MAN IS ACQUITTED IN DRY AGENT DEATH

the raid. Two other prohibition agents escaped uninjured.

The testimony was given by a defense witness, S. T. Babcock, operator of a filling station located near the Moore home. Babcock said he saw two agents go to the front and two to the rear of the house. The pair in front, the witness said, paused a minute before the door to a screened-in porch and then "yanked open" the door and started to enter.

Babcock testified that a man's voice coming from the outside of the house called out: "Shoot him, shoot him, shoot him." Then he heard a shot.

Almost immediately afterward, the witness said, he heard the triple cry of "Shoot him!" from the rear of the house, where the other two agents had gone.

The defense, adding the element of self defense to that of defense of home and property, yesterday introduced testimony that on one occasion two prohibition agents, one of them Moncure, had threatened Moore with a warning that they were coming to his house with loaded guns.

Moore faces another second degree murder charge in connection with the death of Patterson.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Hartridge declared that, through admissions of the State, the prohibition agents were attempting to use a daytime warrant after sunset. The court held that the warrant was worthless at the time it was used, and that the agents placed themselves in the position of trespassers when they came upon Moore's property at the time of the raid.

Moore testified today that he did not know the identity of the officers when they came and tried to enter his home by force.

His daughter corroborated his testimony.

REPEAL OF DRY LAW FAVORED BY WOMEN

TYDINGS DENOUNCES ACT

Cleveland, Ohio, April 23 (N.Y.W. N. S.). — Repeal of the eighteenth amendment was urged upon the first national convention of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform here today and was enthusiastically applauded by the 246 delegates, representing a membership of 100,000 women in every State in the Union.

Whether or not the association will go on record as favoring repeal depends upon a vote to be taken tomorrow morning, but it is expected that this demand will be written into the platform. Many of the leaders favor repeal of the amendment and return of liquor control to the States in the interest, they say, of true temperance.

United States Senator Millard E. Tydings told the delegates tonight that the people of this country are spending a billion dollars more for illicit liquor a year than was spent for legal liquor before prohibition. In addition, he said, the Treasury is losing $400,000,000 annually in taxes formerly received from liquor, as well as appropriating $40,000,000 to enforce prohibition.

He declared that 1,355 persons, or three a week, have been killed with firearms since 1920 in the enforcement of prohibition and that 51 of these killings had been suppressed by the Government departments whose agencies were responsible. On the other hand, he continued, 1,300 prohibition agents had been dismissed or imprisoned for corruption, and in the whole department 12,000 men had been hired and fired to maintain a force of 3,000."

The women who listened to and applauded his speech included young, smartly dressed women, elderly ladies in pearl dog collars and Queen Mary hats (one with an ear phone), and many in between—a prosperous, intelligent-looking assemblage.

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the association, described them in her opening address as "women of prominence, of unimpeachable integrity, and known in their communities for their leadership."

DRY CLAIMS SCOUTED BY WETS' REBUTTAL

the argument of the drys that Young America was drinking less as a result of the constitutional prohibition against intoxicating beverages.

George Holden Tinkham, a Republican representative from Massachusetts; Pierre S. du Pont, Delaware capitalist; Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, retired, whose name is linked with the exploits of the famous Yankee division in France, and Miss Elizabeth Harris, of the Washington branch of the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, were those called upon by Representative Linthicum, of Maryland, a Democrat, who has been presenting many of the anti-prohibition witnesses.

After these had been heard F. W. Buck, executive secretary of the Federal Dispensary-Tax Reduction League, Inc., urged revision of the prohibition statutes as they exist today.

Mr. du Pont, a leader in the industrial world, directed his assault against the claims of increased wealth, arguing that they rested upon "nothing but the coincidence" with prohibition. He asserted that many persons, including even some of the most upright and respected, were "in open revolt" against the dry law.

He said whether or not the efficiency of the working man had been changed materially as a result of prohibition was a question that could not be definitely proved.

"In dealing with this part of the subject," he added, "prohibitionists take the attitude that a large percentage of working men consumed liquor to such an extent as to interfere with their daily work."

He then said that an investigation for a decade before prohibition had produced an estimate that not more than 5 per cent of the total male population drank enough to injure themselves.

Irving Fisher Quoted.

Mr. Tinkham also challenged the assertion of the drys that prohibition had increased savings in the United States and presented a letter from Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale University, under date of July 9, 1929, in which the economist said he had found evidence that prohibition has materially helped the United States, but I do not think it as important a factor as several others."

Gen. Edwards told of the effort of army officers in the preprohibition days to cope with drunkenness among troops. He said they had found that by establishing what was known as the "Post Exchange" temperance had been promoted.

In the Post Exchange, he explained, good food, wines and beers alone were served and soldiers readily had taken to patronizing such places rather than saloons and grog houses just off the military reservations.

Established Them Himself.

The veteran soldier said he personally had established such exchanges at Fort Porter, near Buffalo; at Fort Clark, in Texas, and later in Panama. After he had been relieved as commandant in the Canal Zone, he said the Post Exchange, known there as a community house, subsequently had been abolished and drunkenness and insubordination soon followed.

Mr. Buck urged that Congress provide for a dispensary plan under which the licensing of breweries and wineries and distilleries would be carried out and the sale of the intoxicants placed in the hands of dispensing agents to be appointed in the same way as postmasters. An amendment to the eighteenth amendment, he said, would be necessary to accomplish this end. He argued that a dispensary system would promote temperance and improve health. Mr. Buck cited the control systems in Canada, Sweden and other countries as sustaining his contentions.

Miss Harris challenged the testimony of a number of women who appeared in behalf of prohibition on the ground that they could not speak for all the women they said they represented. She contended that with the exception of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, it would be impossible for any one person to voice the views of all members of other women's organizations on a subject as controversial as prohibition.

Grandmother Is Sent To Jail for Rum Sale

Paducah, Ky., April 23 (A.P.).—A plea of Mrs. Mary James Trotter, a grandmother, of Mannington, that she "simply had to sell a little liquor now and then to take care of my four grandchildren" failed before Judge Charles I. Dawson in Federal court here today and she was sentenced to six months in the Jefferson County Jail at Louisville.

Mrs. Trotter told the court she was 69 years old and when he reminded her that at the last term she had said she was 86, she replied, "Well, Judge, I'm mighty forgetful."

Mrs. Trotter admitted selling whisky but begged the court not to send her to jail. She was given twelve months probated sentence on a similar plea at the last session, but two months ago was rearrested for selling whisky.

C. M. Guggenheimer, Of Lynchburg, Is Dead

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., April 23.—Charles M. Guggenheimer, jr., 39, president of Guggenheimer's Department Store here, former president of the Virginia Retail Merchants Association, died this morning at Virginia Baptist Hospital, having been ill a week of septicemia.

He was the son of the late C. M. Guggenheimer and is survived by his widow, who was Miss Jane Hecht, of Baltimore; three children, his mother, Mrs. Minnie Rosenbaum Guggenheimer; two brothers, N. S. and Max, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Jerome Waterman, Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. Bertha Nusbaum, Norfolk. He was educated at Glass High School here, Bellevue Academy and Tome School, and saw service in the Army in France in 1917.

Inquest to Be Omitted In Clarksburg Suicide

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 23.—Lewis County authorities today announced that an inquest would not be necessary in the case of Frank C. Forinash, 57, Deanville merchant, who committed suicide by shooting himself in the chest with a revolver in the basement of his store yesterday. Ill health and financial troubles are assigned as the motive.

Forinash leaves his widow, two daughters and a son.

Maryland Man Killed When Auto Overturns

While hurrying to a wrecked car near Owensville, Md., last night, Earl W. Lee, 32 years old, Edgewater, Md., lost control of the wrecking crane he was driving and was injured fatally. He was crushed under the crane. When found by State Policeman J. O. Shockley, the injured man was tightly grasping the steering wheel of the car.

The State policeman took him to Emergency Hospiatl, Annapolis, Md., where he died a short time after arrival. Dr. J. Russell pronounced him dead and issued a certificate of death by accident. The garage man was on his way to extricate a car which had been in a minor collision. The tow truck turned over on the Solomon's Island road near Owensville.

Mrs. Thomas W. Koon, Wife of Doctor, Dies

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., April 23.—Mrs. Clementine M. Koon, wife of Dr. Thomas W. Koon, Mayor of Cumberland, died yesterday in a Washington hospital, where she had been a patient for a week. Mrs. Koon had been in ill health for a long period and had spent the past year in Baltimore hospitals.

Burial will be in Louden Park Cemetery, Baltimore, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Koon's only surviving relatives, besides her husband, is one sister, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Washington.

Maryland Girl Student Wins $300 Scholarship

Special to The Washington Post.

La Plata, Md., April 23.—Miss Nellie Higdon, a member of the senior class, commercial department, at Lackey High School, Indian Head, has just been notified she is the winner of a $300 scholarship to Strayer School, Washington.

Miss Inex Ingham won second place and is named alternate. Miss Ingham is also a pupil of Lackey High School, academic department. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ingham. Mr. Ingham is chief warrant, United States Navy, stationed at Indian Head.

Safecrackers Get $600 At Pasadena Postoffice

Safecrackers early yesterday broke open the postoffice and railway station at Pasadena, Anne Arundel County, Md., and stole stamps and cash totaling $600. The robbery was discovered by Harold Winslow, postmaster and station agent, when he arrived to open the station yesterday morning.

The station is a combined ticket office for the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Railway and postoffice. The front door had been "jimmied" and the safe door drilled by apparently expert cracksmen. Maryland State Police, Postoffice Department inspectors and county police are searching for the yeggmen.

"Well, you better get out of here as quickly as you can," said the judge. "Catch the first train and don't play your organ any more until after the train pulls out. Case dismissed."

As an aftermath Judge Mattingly asked: "Have you got a monkey." Assured that the Italian had a very agile and alert Simian the judge warned: "And don't forget your monkey. If you do we'll have to put him in the Zoo."

Charlottesville Population Up.

Charlottesville, Va., April 23 (Special).—The population of this city has increased 4,486 in the last decade, from 10,688 to 15,154, Ernest R. Ruff, supervisor of census for this district, announced today. Of the present population, 11,058 are white and 4,096 colored. The unemployment schedule lists 316.

STORY OF TAYLOR'S MURDER IS SCOUTED

Man, Who Declared He Slew Film Director, Thought to Have Weak Mind.

DISCREPANCIES IN TALE

Los Angeles, April 23 (A.P.).—A hope of solving the eight-year-old mystery of the murder of William Desmond Taylor, motion-picture director, was raised and then shattered here today. Police detectives, to whom Russo Rinaldo, 41-year-old accountant, "confessed" he killed Taylor, held the man for examination of his mental condition after they decided his "confession" was improbable.

Taylor was found in his bungalow, dead from a bullet wound, in February, 1922. Investigation drew into the picture such film actresses as the late Mabel Normand and Mary Miles Minter. His valet, Everett Sands, has not been found since the murder.

Two weeks ago, the day after Rinaldo came here from Tucson, Ariz., the police received an anonymous telephone "tip" concerning the murder mystery. Consequent to investigation of it Rinaldo was arrested last night and police said he voluntarily confessed to the shooting of the motion-picture director in a quarrel over a screen actress. Discrepancies of his narration with the known facts led to doubt and finally discredit of the entire confession. His estranged wife, Mrs. Alice Rinaldo, music teacher, added the last touch that broke down the story.

"I was living with my husband at the time of the Taylor murder," Mrs. Rinaldo told Chief of Detectives Joseph Taylor. "He had nothing to do with the murder and his story is a figment of what I believe to be a disordered mind."

She previously had informed the police Rinaldo frequently suffered erratic spells as the result of shell shock in the World War.

Rinaldo, who had been booked on suspicion of murder, was identified this afternoon as the man who threatened to shoot Mrs. Doris Martin, waitress, whom he met several months ago in Brawley, Calif. The woman's husband, E. L. Martin, made the identification. He said Rinaldo had persistently annoyed Mrs. Martin and that he came to their door demanding to see her. The demand was refused by Martin, who said Rinaldo telephoned his wife later that he would "bump her off."

Rinaldo is being held at least until tomorrow, when examination will be made of his mental condition.

West Virginia Forger Gets Five-Year Term

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., April 23.—Otho Simmons, 25, of Circleville, W. Va., was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary on a charge of forgery by Judge H. W. Hertram here today in Rockingham Circuit Court.

Simmons pleaded guilty to forging signatures and indorsements to six checks aggregating $2,874.60. He deposited three of the checks, totaling $984, at one bank and drew out $50 in cash. He left the other three checks for collection when the two other banks refused to honor them. All checks were drawn on the Farmers Bank of Pendleton, Franklin, W. Va., and bore what were purported to be signatures of Pendleton County residents. Each check bore a notation that it was tendered in payment for live stock.

Charlestown Is Loser In Census Tabulation

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 23.—Charlestown, county seat of Jefferson, showed a net loss of 93 population in census figures released today by Supervisor H. O. Keedy, of the Third District. The population as of April 1, this year, was given as 2,434, as against 2,527 for 1920, a decrease of between 3 and 4 per cent.

Ridgley, Mineral County, showed 1,972 on April, against 1,709 ten years ago, a gain of 261, or about 15 per cent.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon and recessed at 5:25 p. m. to 12 noon today.

Rejected the Shortridge proposal to bar all Philippine immigration for five years except students and visitors, and approved, 32 to 30, the Kendrick amendment to the Harris bill to allow unrestricted entry of laborers engaged in seasonal work of less than eight months' duration. Another proposal by Senator Hayden (Democrat), Arizona, to place Canada and Newfoundland under a quota was rejected, 44 to 14.

Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, charged before the lobby committee that the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment had "lobbied directly with the United States Supreme Court."

Judiciary committee reported a series of House bills providing prison relief and including authorization for two new Federal prison institutions.

Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, gave notice he would seek reconsideration of action taken on the McKellar resolution proposing an investigation of the Shipping Board, temporarily blocking the investigation.

Walker D. Hines, counsel for the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railroad stockholders, appearing before the interstate commerce committee, opposed legislation to suspend railroad consolidations.

HOUSE.

Met at 12 noon and adjourned at 4:35 p. m. to 11 a. m. today.

Sent the Agriculture appropriation bill to conference after refusing to accept several Senate amendments.

Speaker Longworth referred to the appropriations committee the supplemental estimate of $28,693,540 submitted by President Hoover, as an initial outlay on more than 200 public building projects to cost $112,887,800.

Pierre S. du Pont and other noted wets asked the judiciary committee to report out a bill for repeal of prohibition.

Robert O. Lord, president of the Guardian Detroit Union Group, appeared before the banking committee and asserted that banking "must keep pace" with present industrial trends.

Chairman Britten, of the naval committee, announced that while the Senate naval committee is investigating the political and diplomatic phases of the London naval treaty, his group would summon Secretary Adams and the technical naval advisers to disclose "the military evidence."

Chairman Wood, of the appropriations committee, declared that he was opposed to the Johnson bill to extend relief to World War veterans, because it probably would cost the Government an additional $400,000,000 annually.

1409 H STREET

EAST-WEST HIGHWAY LINK NEARLY READY

Sixteenth Street Extension Expected to Open for Traffic Sunday.

SIGNAL LIGHT IS SET UP

Completion of the roadway under the viaduct on the extension of Sixteenth street to the Colesville pike at Georgia avenue is expected in time to permit the use of the extension for traffic Sunday, it was announced yesterday by County Commissioner Lacy Shaw, in charge of the Silver Spring district. The electromatic signal light which has been installed at this intersection also is expected to be ready for use Sunday.

Commissioner Shaw said last night that the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission has completed the installation of a storm sewer under the viaduct and the street is ready for paving. The contractor in charge assured him that quick-drying cement would be poured tomorrow, provided the weather conditions permit. This cement dries in 24 hours and traffic will be enabled to use the roadway Sunday, the contractor told Commissioner Shaw.

This important artery extends from the circle at the District line and the beginning of the East-West highway at Sixteenth street and connects with Georgia avenue and the Colesville pike just above the County Building in Silver Spring. Within a short time it is expected that the completion of the Columbia pike will open up a short route to Laurel and thence by way of the Baltimore boulevard to Baltimore.

The signal light is controlled by a robot which keeps track of the arrival of automobiles and automatically gives the right of way to the traffic in the order of its arrival at the intersection. Because of the difficulty which is expected at the corner because of left turns, a special light has been provided upon which turns will be made, thus doing away with the principal traffic menace at this intersection. Three important roads join here and this corner is destined to be one of the most important from a traffic standpoint, in Silver Spring. The four lights have caused considerable comment and many and ludicrous are the efforts to explain the fourth light. The office of Ward W. Caddington, secretary to Commissioner Shaw, has been deluged with requests for an explanation.

The opening to traffic will not interfere with plans for a gigantic celebration of the opening of the East-West highway, of which this will be a link, on May 16 by the Chambers of Commerce of Silver Spring and Bethesda and the Montgomery County Civic Federation at which Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and other prominent Maryland officials as well as a number of prominent Washingtonians will be present.

Two petitions for absolute divorce, one with an international angle, were filed in circuit court at Rockville yesterday, while Judge Robert B. Peter was refusing to grant a third because he claimed that charges of infidelity had not been proved.

The petition for absolute divorce filed by Mrs. Virginia Perrell, of Bethesda, alleging infidelity on the part of Leonard F. Perrell, of Bethesda, was dismissed. The judge held that charges of infidelity had not been supported by the evidence.

Henry Baxter Brown, of Silver Spring, filed a petition for an absolute divorce from Mrs. Minnie Lee Hester Brown, of Clarendon, Va., alleging infidelity and naming a corespondent. The couple was married June 20, 1912, and have two children. The husband is represented by Attorney P. Bernard Welsh, of Rockville.

Michele Guida, of Montgomery County, through Attorney Edward Peter, asked an absolute divorce from Mrs. Maria Guida, of Sancipirello, Italy, charging desertion. The couple were married September 14, 1926, and have no children.

Earl Ward, a student at the Georgetown Preparatory School, reported to police of the Bethesda substation that $75 in cash had been stolen from him at the school. He gave the police the name of a man he suspected of having taken the money.

Firms Are Active In Utility Fields

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 23.—Representatives of the Columbia Gas & Electric Co. are busy in Clarksburg and its vicinity and elsewhere in the central and northern portions of the State trying to purchase holdings of a large number of independent oil and gas companies operating in the district.

In some instances the transactions have been virtually closed. J. W. Johnson, of Bristol, one of Harrison County's leading oil and gas men, reports purchase of holdings of eight oil and gas companies in this section for a price said to be around $500,000. This deal includes 3,500 acres of territory and a number of producing wells. It is understood the purchases were made for the Columbia.

Offers have also been made the Bridgeport Natural Oil & Gas Co., the Aspura Oil & Gas Co. and several companies in the Philippi and Wallace sections.

Hope Natural Gas Co. officials are understood to be active in the region in connection with leaseholds, and it is not unlikely that they will take counter action in preventing possible deals by the Columbia or making them on its own account.

EIGHT SENTENCED TO PRISON TERMS

Two Men Given Four Years for Store Thefts in Prince Georges.

POLICE CASE DISMISSED

Eight persons were sentenced to varying terms in the Maryland Penitentiary yesterday by Judge M. Loker in the Prince Georges County Circuit Court at Upper Marlboro.

Four Negroes who had been convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods by a jury in the morning were sentenced as follows: Vernon Seaburn and James Russell, four years each, and Buck Hamilton and Glen Pincher, three years each. The Negroes were found guilty of having robbed the store of David T. Shetenstein at Woodmore, the loot including two pistols and $100 in cash. The men were arrested by County Policeman V. M. Nichols.

Fred Reel, alias "Jimm," of Tuxedo, was sentenced to serve two years upon a plea of guilty of forgery. He is alleged to have signed the name of his uncle, A. Pryor, to several checks. Louis Freeman, alias Reds Simms, colored, was sentenced to serve four years on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill and one year on a charge of jail-breaking. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

Fred Brown and Horace Simms, both colored, who are alleged to have stolen a 17-pound turkey from the estate of Judge Joseph C. Mattingly, were given sentences of eighteen months each and the sentences suspended generally, which means that the sentence must be served any time in their life that they are again convicted of a crime. Judge Mattingly took no part in the trial.

James Robinson colored, who was charged with assault with intent to kill, was acquitted by a jury yesterday. He is alleged to have shot Richard Duckett and his daughter, Josephine Duckett, both colored, at a colored dance in Baden. He pleaded self-defense.

Judge J. Chew Sheriff in Hyattsville branch of county police court yesterday announced that he had decided to dismiss charges which had been preferred against Town Policeman Francis E. Draley, of Mount Rainier, by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Brown. The policeman was arrested on charges of being drunk and disorderly.

Officer Draley told the court at his hearing last Wednesday that he was imitating Amos 'n' Andy when the deputy sheriff entered the store where he was arrested April 11. Several witnesses testified that Officer Draley does not drink. The officer previously had been exonerated by the town council of Mount Rainier.

Two Cars Upset In County Crash

Arlington and Washington Drivers Escape From Wreck Unhurt.

Two motorists experienced narrow escapes from death last night when their cars collided at the intersection of the Lee highway and Glebe road, Arlington County, and overturned.

S. Harrington, of Clarendon, operator of a car traveling along the Lee highway, according to police, struck the rear of the car of E. Sanwoder, of Potomac street near Twelfth street, Washington, which was leaving the intersection, spinning Sanwoder's car off to the side of the road where it overturned. Harrington's car proceeded a short distance and also overturned.

The crash attracted a large crowd whose parked cars blocked traffic until the arrival of the police. Expecting to find the mangled bodies of the operators, the crowd which rushed to their assistance was met by the two operators who crawled from their machines without a scratch.

Fredericksburg War Veteran's Funeral Held

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., April 23. — A full military funeral yesterday marked the last tributes paid Eugene C. Connor, World War veteran, who died at his home here Saturday. The flag-draped coffin, on a caisson, was escorted to the National Cemetery, where interment was made by a detachment from Battery F, 111th Field Artillery.

AMERICAN SEAMEN'S EFFICIENCY ARGUED

BROWN OPENS PARLEY

(Associated Press.)

Sharp controversy between ship operators attending the third national conference on merchant marine and officials of the third national conference on merchant marine and officials of the International Seamen's Union of America developed yesterday over the efficiency of American seamen.

After Andrew Furuseth, president of the union, had charged that inefficiency was prevalent on board American ships and that union members were discriminated against, Chairman O'Connor, of the Shipping Board, rose to a defense of the board and of the ship operators.

"Furuseth keeps charging," Chairman O'Connor said, "that inefficient men are carried on our vessels. As chairman of the Shipping Board, I deny it." He added that no union man ever came to the Sea Service Bureau and was turned away because he was a union man.

Earlier W. J. Peterson, president of the Pacific American Steamship Association, had replied to attacks of the union head and asserted that Furuseth was not representative of the Nation's seamen.

The ship operators and builders were warned by Representative Free, of California, a Republican member of the House merchant marine committee, that the Jones-White act was unpopular in Congress at this time. Free urged them to keep faith with Congress. He told the shippers to prepare to meet large combinations of foreign ship operators who, he said, were determined to block the expansion of the American merchant marine.

Postmaster General Brown opened the conference with a forecast that American ships soon would be carrying substantially all of this Nation's commerce and throughout the day representatives of the operators and builders themselves discussed means of meeting foreign competition.

Particularly can this end be accomplished through standardization of construction in American vessels to lower the costs, said a report by H. G. Smith, president of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co.

Erlanger Claims Suffer in Court

Self-Alleged Common-Law Wife Loses Plea for Jury Trial.

New York, April 23 (A.P.).—Blood relatives of the late A. L. Erlanger, multimillionaire theater magnate, won two points today in the litigation which is to determine whether Charlotte Pixel Erlanger was his common-law wife and entitled to a widow's share in the estate.

Surrogate James A. Foley, declaring there was no precedent in this State for such a procedure, denied an application of her attorney, Max D. Steuer, for a jury trial to establish her status.

He also appointed Saul A. Baron temporary administrator of the estate, estimated as high as $100,000,000, and ordered Mr. Steuer to furnish attorneys for the estate with a bill of particulars concerning the alleged marriage. Mr. Steuer had opposed the appointment of either Baron or former Supreme Court Justice Mitchel Erlanger, brother of the dead man, as administrator, on the ground that they are interested parties. Both were named administrators in the will, which did not mention Charlotte Pixel Erlanger.

Luckenbach Is Granted Final Divorce Decree

Miami, Fla., April 23 (A.P.).—Final decree of divorce in behalf of Lewis Luckenbach, New York steamship operator, against Lillian G. Luckenbach, was signed by Circuit Judge E. F. Atkinson in circuit court today.

The decree recites that the divorce is granted on grounds of habitual indulgence in violent and ungovernable temper and that the charge of improper relations with another man first made by Luckenbach, has been withdrawn. The decree awarded custody of Lewis Luckenbach, jr., their 9-year-old son, to the father.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

IN these racy days of disrespect and cynicism the childlike worship of Senator Heflin by Senator Trammell, is a most inspiring thing. It is delightful to contemplate, to gaze upon. It rather lifts one out of the sea of futility and despair.

Here is a devotion, a tie between two men. To see the Florida senator as he sits watching the Alabaman in his tirades, to see his eye follow every gesture of the Alabaman's hate, to see the wistfulness in his face, is but to recall the day when you held your youngster upon your knee and told him delightful stories of Santa Claus, of how you single-handedly captured the kaiser and watched his eager little eyes widen in childish faith.

* * * *

IF you have ever had a youngster say as he crawled down from your knee "I wish I were as great as you, Daddy," then you have some idea of just how Senator Trammell feels toward his colleague, the senator from Alabama.

There have been days when the Florida senator was about the only one on the floor listening to Mr. Heflin, but his was an attentiveness that would flatter most any man. He drinks in every word and wonders if he could not develop his own flag-waving oratory to give it just the same nuance, the same sway as Tom.

THERE is a yearning within Trammell's breast, as well as a great admiration. He knows the same words that Tom knows. They both speak the same language. His yearning is to be able to put the words together in the manner of Tom.

"What a wonderful man I would then be!" he sighs.

* * * *

THERE are any number of senators who like the musical resonance of Tom's voice, who like to take their seats, fold their hands across their stomach and doze under its magic sway. It is a Southern lullaby.

That fine old soul, Senator Overman, sleeps most fitfully under its spell; nerve-racked newspapermen come into the gallery for relaxation and dreams.

The lights of the chamber seem slowly to dim, shadows sweep over the earth, and a crooning melody soothes one into a peaceful sleep. It is a most restful thing.

Yes, there are any number of Tom's colleagues who like to listen to the rythmn of his voice.

Senator Trammell is one of the few that attach any importance or sense to his words. He is outstanding in that. He is, indeed, an outstanding man.

LEVIATHAN SPEEDING STIMSON HOMEWARD

DEPARTURE IS INFORMAL

S. S. Leviathan, April 23 (A.P.).—Running at top speed, the steamship Leviathan was speeding westward tonight through a slightly rolling sea. She is bringing back to the United States Secretaries Stimson and Adams, Ambassador Morrow and Senator Robinson, together with members of the staff of the American delegation to the London naval conference.

All the delegates had luncheon and also dinner in the first class salon today, but through most of the daylight hours they rested in their cabins. Secretary Stimson came on deck in the afternoon and tramped several miles.

Unlike the departure from New York for England when the delegates were saluted by Fort Jay and by the sirens of all the ships in the harbor, the sailing from Southampton was so informal as to constitute only the departure of another ship from that busy port. In fact, the members of the delegation were still abed at 7:30 a. m. when the Leviathan loosed her moorings.

Similarly, formalities were lacking at Cherbourg. The only official to board the ship was Fred Houck, acting consul. It was remarked that when Secretary Kellogg sailed from Cherbourg with the text of the pact of Paris he was given naval honors and a farewell by Ambassador Herrick. There was nothing of that sort today, although the prized possession of Secretary Stimson and his colleagues is a certified copy of the London naval treaty. This was deposited in the ship's safe when the delegation came aboard at Southampton.

IL DUCE'S DAUGHTER WILL BE WED TODAY

ing will be the bridegroom, escorting Donna Rachele Mussolini, and in the rear will be the premier himself with the Countess Constanzo Ciano.

As the party enters the church Enrico Bossi's wedding march, directed by Maestro Germano, of Augusteo Concert Hall, will be heard. During the ceremony a chorus will alternate with the Augusteo String Quartet in rendering selections of Italian classical music.

After the wedding ceremony a low mass will be said and upon its conclusion the nuptial contract will be signed by the bridge, the bridegroom, and witnesses—for the bride, her uncle, Arnaldo Mussolini, and Prince Torlonia; for the bridegroom, Foreign Minister Grandi and Count Devecchi, Italian Ambassador to the Holy See.

Thereafter the couple will drive across town to St. Peters, there to pray at the altar of the confession over the grave of the first apostle.

Signorina Mussolini and her future husband stood today in her father's summer residence, Villa Torlonia, to receive the congratulations of her father's old friends and most of the diplomatic and political figures of Rome.

The guest list is small, but among those who will attend the wedding will be heads of the diplomatic missions here, including the American Ambassador, John W. Garrett, and Mrs. Garrett. Strict silence is maintained regarding honeymoon plans.

Vatican City, April 23 (A.P.).—Pope Pius has sent Edda Mussolini, who will be married tomorrow, a solid gold rosary as a gift and with it his benediction. This was an unusual departure in favor of one not of royalty or of Roman aristocracy.

INTENSIVE INQUIRY ON PACT IN OFFING

SURRENDER IS ALLEGED

opinion remains as opposed to small six-inch gun cruisers as the United States was at the Geneva conference, which cracked upon that point. The big navyists are hinting now that the hearings will bring to light this dissenting opinion, and reveal that the naval advisors at London were picked exclusively from the other group.

Admiral Jones, who headed the naval experts at Geneva, according to a report here, also strongly objected to the reversal of American position on big cruisers and the agreement to build small ones instead. Mr. Britten declares that he will oppose building the fleet of small ones for which the treaty calls. He holds that they are unsuited to American defense and therefore a waste of money. The treaty amendment which he has in mind would restore American right to build big 8-inch gun types. It would upset the carefully balanced cruiser ratios entirely.

Hale has already indicated that he, among others of the big Navy advocates, is against the cruiser end of the treaty because it allows the United States to have only fifteen 10,000 tonners with 8-inch guns during the life of the treaty, while Great Britain is permitted fifteen of this type and is allowed to retain, in addition, four others, the Vindictive, Hawkins, Frobisher and Effingham, which are about 9,750 tons each and mount 7.5-inch guns.

Hale is at work on a speech which he probably will make in the Senate when the treaty is sent in by the President immediately after the American delegation reaches Washington.

Capone Henchman Sentenced in Miami

Gets Choice of Fine or Term After Liquor Raid on Mansion.

Miami, Fla., April 23 (A.P.).—Frankie Newton, caretaker of the palatial Palm Island home of "Scarface" Al Capone, was sentenced today to pay a fine of $500 or serve six months in prison for possession of liquor.

Meanwhile, attorneys for Capone were preparing briefs in a padlock injunction suit instituted against the place.

Newton was convicted last week following a raid March 20 on the Capone place. Judge Walter F. Brown of Dade County Criminal Court today denied a motion for a new trial and passed sentence. John Capone, relative of Al Capone, was acquitted on a similar charge. Newton immediately filed cash bond of $1,000 pending appeal of the sentence to the Circuit Court.

Action Against Village Reported.

London, April 23 (A.P.).—The admiralty today stated that the British sloop Lupin was in action three days ago against a rebel village on the Arabian coast. The Lupin, 1,175 tons, has two 4-inch guns and thirteen smaller opes.

Editor Must Face Contempt Charge.

New York, April 23 (A.P.).—Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe today dismissed a writ of habeas corpus and ordered William J. Lavarre, Southern newspaper publisher, removed to Georgia to answer a charge of criminal contempt of court.

36 Die in French Car Crashes.

Paris, April 23 (A.P.).—France experienced possibly the worst week-end automobile casualty list over Easter in the history of motor vehicles. Thirty-six persons were killed and 172 injured in widespread accidents.

PRESS OF ENGLAND LAUDS NAVAL PACT

LESSONS OF CONFERENCE

By JHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, April 23 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The naval treaty signed here yesterday has been remarkably well received by the British press and expected protests from big-navy and Pacifist spokesmen and organizations have not yet developed.

Parliament is not sitting, but indications are that Prime Minister MacDonald has nothing to fear from the debate on the conference soon to be held.

Only the Manchester Guardian, of the serious press, shows itself severely critical of conference results.

While there is nothing in the treaty that was not expected, I find today a disposition to stress the value of signature of the treaty by all five powers from a viewpoint obscured or unmentioned during the days of negotiation.

Few observers here think there will be serious efforts in the near future to reach Franco-Italian agreement and advices from Paris indicate that such negotiations, if launched now, would begin under discouraging auspices. That they are to begin at once is regarded as a convenient diplomatic fiction. The standpoints of Italy and France are too far apart, and a naval race between the two Latin powers in the next few years is inevitable.

There are, no doubt, many morals which can be drawn from the successes and failures of the conference, the Guardian says, but the clearest and broadest, as shown by the attitude of France and Italy toward each other and toward the conference, is that the only effective basis for disarmament is political. Without political agreement and understanding no mathematical formulae, no yardstick, however ingenious, no system of ratios or agreed strengths are of the least avail. The first thing is to establish political confidence.

The official Labor organ, the Daily Herald, whose editorials, however, are seldom inspired by the Labor government, lists the good results of the conference, adding "that is an achievement, yet it is not an adequate achievement. It is limitation, now reduction of armaments. Still less is it in any sense of the word disarmament. The satisfaction at limited success must be tempered and chastened by the consciousness of wider failure, of the fact that even now the task to which the great powers pledged themselves eleven years ago is not begun. Discontent with the results of the London conference must be the spur to greater efforts in the future."

Dr. George Duncan Talks at Toronto

American University Professor Is Guest Speaker in Canadian City.

Toronto, April 23.—Sumeria must now be regarded as the chief cradle of the world's civilization, declared Dr. George S. Duncan, addressing Toronto University today. Dr. Duncan is professor of Egyptology at American University, Washington, D. C.

Recent excavation in Mesopotamia, he said, showed the Sumerians migrated into Babylonia not later than 6000 B. C. Their contributions to civilization include wedge-shaped writing, the pointed and round arches in architecture. They had a highly developed sculpture by 2500 B. C.

Their political ideas in governing city states, Dr. Duncan said, were models for later governments in the Near East, and their laws were the origin of later Babylonian and Mosaic laws.

Highly developed business methods are revealed on their clay tablets recently excavated, while a network of canals covering the south of Mesopotamia evidence their engineering skill.

Two Boys Killed by Train.

Corbin, Ky., April 23 (A.P.).—Two boys, Clifton Harvey, 9, and Kenneth Cauldier, 15, were instantly killed when an L. & N. passenger train hit them 1 mile north of Corbin this afternoon. The boys were evidently watching a northbound freight pulling out and did not see the southbound train coming.

Dr. Schacht's Daughter Wed.

Berlin, April 23 (A.P.).—Inge Schacht, daughter of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former head of the Reichsbank, was married here today to Hiljar Von Scherpenberg, of the German Embassy in London. Foreign Minister Curtius and other prominent officials attended.

On the Rules of Traffic
By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Traffic emerging from alleys in Washington is a hybrid. Accordingly its rights are limited.

The traffic regulations of the National Capital specify that before crossing a sidewalk, vehicles emerging from alleys must come to a complete stop. Then, they must wait not only for pedestrian traffic to clear but motor traffic as well. The speed of emerging from an alley is illegal if above 3 miles an hour.

Example: A driver, traveling at a speed of only 1 mile an hour and sounding his horn in ample warning of his coming, makes a pedestrian step lively crossing an alley entrance. The pedestrian's dignity is outraged and he has the driver arrested. The law is all on the pedestrian's side.

CONFEREES AGREE ON TARIFF REPORT

HOOVER ADVICE LOOMS

(Associated Press.)

An agreement between the Senate and House conferees on the tariff bill was reached yesterday, but eight major points of controversy were referred back to the two branches for final determination, and a bitter dispute over these is in prospect on the floors.

The controversial sugar rate increase, the export debenture, and the modified flexible tariff provision are among the propositions upon which new votes will be necessary before a bill can be sent to the White House.

Republican leaders immediately began conferences seeking to determine whether the House or Senate should be asked to act first on the high points of differences. There is every indication that President Hoover may be called upon for advice on this question. While it is customary for the Senate to act in the first instance, Republican chieftains are undecided as to this course.

Besides sugar, debenture, and flexible differences, the two houses have yet to reach an accord on the cement, lumber, shingles, and silver rates, and the Senate's proposed reorganization of the Tariff Commission.

Before adjourning, the conferees eliminated the Norris amendment, which provided for suspension of duties on all commodities dealt in by monopolies, and accepted the House provision to repeal an existing statute limiting cigar shipments by parcel post from Cuba to packages containing $3000 and over.

Representative Garner saw in the approval of the provision to allow Cuban cigars entry in smaller lots than 3,000 a selling out of American tobacco interests.

He further charged that the action was taken "in return for Republican campaign contributions" by Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

The disagreements over the administrative provisions involve:

The Senate Simmons-Norris amendment restoring to Congress the power now vested in the President to make emergency tariff rate changes after investigation by the Tariff Commission. The House bill retains the existing law on this subject with some liberal changes. President Hoover favors continuation of rate changing power in the Executive.

The Senate Norris amendment authorizing Government bounties or debentures to exporters of surplus farm products amounting to half the tariff on similar commodities imported. President Hoover also is opposed to this provision.

The Senate amendment restoring the present bipartisan character of the Tariff Commission and keeping the membership at six as at present. The House bill provides for a nonpartisan commission of seven, the odd member to break deadlocks.

English Rulers Order Hamlet Presentation

London, April 23 (A.P.).—King George and Queen Mary have commanded a special performance for May 19 of an all-star presentation of Hamlet, which was given for the first time at the Haymarket Theater last night. The presentation is in aid of theatrical charities, to commemorate the birthday of William Shakespeare, April 23, 1564.

Yesterday's event, under the supervision of Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, was remarkable in every way. The large audience included notabilities in many spheres of life. Henry Ainley, one of the best known character actors on the English stage, took the part of Hamlet for the first time

PARKERITES ASK AID OF SOUTH SENATORS

Regular G. O. P. Dissenters Seen Capitulating to Hoover Choice.

CARAWAY STANDS FIRM

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Supporters of Judge John J. Parker for the Supreme Court yesterday began to concentrate their efforts upon Southern Democrats in the Senate.

As the matter now stands more Southern Democrats are aligned against the nominee than intend to vote for him, but there is no telling how the situation will shape up during the next two or three days. Such Democratic leaders as Senators Harrison and Simmons, of North Carolina, are working in behalf of the nominee, while Senator Caraway is the outstanding Southern voice against him.

The supporters are putting up the argument that if Parker is not confirmed no Southerner will be named and getting down to strictly political arguments it is being contended that a Southern Democrat voting against confirmation will lay himself open to the charge that he played right into the hands of the Negro opposition.

Senator Carraway is contending with equal vigor that the latter contention is absurd, because the Negro has no influence whatsoever in Southern politics, and any Southerner knowing this situation would not attempt to contend that a Southern senator voting against Parker was influenced by the Negro opposition. The Arkansas senator is arguing, too, that Parker's appointment was strictly political, made for the purpose of holding North Carolina in the Republican party.

A counting of Southern noses today would show Caraway with the largest following.

One gets the impression that Harrison is rather constitutionally opposed to contesting the Supreme Court appointments of Republican Presidents. He protested against the Democratic opposition to Chief Justice Hughes. He may be somewhat influenced in the present instance, too, by the fact that influential Democratic Regulars of North Carolina, not Hooverites, are working for Parker's confirmation.

As the matter stacks up at present Judge Parker's only chance of confirmation lies with the Southern Democrats, and their attitude is not very heartening to his cause.

But the question has arisen and very seriously as to whether now that all efforts to get the President to withdraw Parker's name and the efforts to get Parker to withdraw his own name have failed, and the Democrats fail to save the situation, the Republican regulars will not after all line up for confirmation, or to put it more aptly, line up with the President.

To hear them talk there is no possibility of this, but there are many observers knowing these regulars as they do who insist that if the Southern Democrats do not come to the rescue the regulars will capitulate and vote for Parker.

There is the suggestion, indeed, that the manner in which some of these regulars have been holding up their hands in political horror and their avowals that they could not possibly vote for the nominee have been with a view to preventing the matter from coming to a vote.

The only way out of their embarrassment now is for the Southern Democrats to bring about confirmation. Wiseacres are saying that just before the final vote there will be some careful counting of noses and if the Southern Democrats do not furnish the necessary votes the deficiency will be supplied from the protesting regular ranks.

It is because of this that Senator Caraway wants the Democrats to lay off. Let the regulars stew, is his motto. His feeling of good fellowship does not go to the extent of pulling the regulars' irons out of the fire.

That they are in a fire is evidenced by the fact that they are now receiving telegrams from home demanding that they stand by the President. On the other hand there is no let-up in the Negro demands that Parker be rejected.

In such a situation if a regular votes against confirmation and the nominee is rejected those who demanded that he stand by the President would very likely feel most vindictive. On the other hand if Southern Democrats confirmed Parker over his vote then he would have satisfied his Negro constituents and the supporters of the President would not be likely to feel so bitter inasmuch as they had been victorious.

Both the West Virginia senators, Goff and Hatfield, plan to vote for confirmation but in party caucuses they have made no secret of their belief that it meant the loss of West Virginia.

INDIA TROOPS KILL 20 IN MOB AS 12 DIE IN HILLS BATTLE

creased in gravity today. The day's events included information that twelve persons were killed yesterday when troops clashed with the insurgents who raided the Chittagong arsenal Saturday, a demonstration by thousands in Calcutta, the shooting of five persons at Feni and the death of a British soldier at Peshawar.

The twelve deaths resulted when detachments of the eastern frontier rifles and the Ourma Valley Light Horse dislodged a group of the Chittagong insurgents from a strong position in the hills. In addition to those killed two were seriously wounded. Fourteen were arrested. No military casualties were reported. The main body of the rebels escaped and the soldiers were continuing the search.

Hunger Strike Rumored.

The demonstration in Calcutta followed upon yesterday's announcement that political prisoners in Alipore Jail had gone on a hunger strike in protest against treatment by jail officals. Reports spread today that one of the prisoners, Mayor J. M. Sen Gupta of Calcutta, arrested in connection with the civil disobedience campaign, was dead.

Thousands gathered outside the jail shouting "show us even his body." The jail officials refused to permit an independent witness to enter the jail and later they issued a communique stating that the prisoner had not been injured, and that Sen Gupta and the others were alive and in the same state of health as when admitted to the jail. The statement said the prisoners were not on a hunger strike.

A British soldier was killed at Peshawar during a disturbance over the arrest of a group of civil disobedience volunteers who were charged with infringing upon the government's salt monopoly. Disorders also occurred in Howrah following upon the arrest of 30 persons, including the vice president of the municipality.

Gandhi for Nonviolence.

At Karachi several persons were sent to the hospital after they had eaten contraband salt gathered from creeks. The health officer declared the salt was impregnated with ferrous oxide (an iron compound) and was unfit for human consumption. He ordered that it be destroyed.

Mahatma Gandhi, the civil disobedience leader, meanwhile was out of the picture temporarily. He is still preaching the doctrine of nonviolence in village.

Thirteen prominent men, including several present or former members of the legislative assembly, tonight wired the governor of Bengal at Darjeeling requesting him to permit Sir Niliratan Sircar and the principal of the Calcutta Medical College to visit Mayor J. M. Sen Gupta in jail. The message said this would allay the intense public excitement over the rumors that the mayor was dead.

CATHOLICS TO HOLD CONVENTION IN CITY

WILL VISIT PRESIDENT

Alumni Federation Plans to Meet in Capital for Three-Day Session.

Alumni from 48 Catholic universities and colleges throughout the United States will gather in the Hotel Mayflower tomorrow for the fourth annual convention of the National Catholic Alumni Federation. Officers of the federation and representatives of the faculties of most of these institutions of learning will attend a reception by President Hoover at the White House at noon.

Members will then return to the first business session which begins at 3 p. m. in the Jefferson room of the hotel. Another meeting will be held in the evening and morning and afternoon on Saturday.

The convention will be concluded Sunday evening with a banquet in the grand ballroom which is expected to attract hundreds of alumni from Catholic institutions now residing in Washington. Representatives James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, former Solicitor General, will be the principal lay speaker. Others who will address the gathering are the Very Rev Bede Jarrett, O. P., prior provincial of the Order of Preachers of England, and the Rev. William Kerby, D. D., editor of the Ecclesiastical Review.

"Our Alumni Organizations and How to Make Them Mutually Advantageous" is the subject of the first meeting of the convention tomorrow afternoon. Speakers include the Rev. W. I. Lonergan, S. J., St. Ignatius College, California; Charles A. Hart, St. Viator College, Illinois, and Bowman Strome, of Holy Cross College.

A reception to delegates will be held tomorrow evening in the garden prior to opening of the general session. Some of the speakers and their topics are "A Plan for a National Catholic Laymen's Information Bureau," by Michael Williams, editor of the Commonweal, New York; "Foundation of National Program of Catholic Higher Education," by Edward A. Fitzpatrick, dean of graduate school, Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis., and "Alumni and Adult Education," by Wilfred B. Shaw, director of alumni relations, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.

DARING MARINES DECORATED BY JAHNKE

Henry Miller Service.

Thomas watched the prisoners for a moment, and with a word of encouragement from one of the chaplains continued his walk across the yard. Guards were sent to quiet the jeering men, but later in the day the murmuring against him continued among the inmates.

Father O'Brien, Catholic chaplain at the penitentiary, revealed today that Thomas probably would have been torn to pieces if he had gone into the prison yard Monday night when the convicts were carrying the dead from the flame-swept cell blocks.

There was a cry against him everywhere among the thousands of prisoners who looked on and it is just as well that he did not attempt to go into the yard, the chaplain said.

Another Victim Dies.

The death list was increased to 318 this morning when one of the scores of injured succumbed in the penitentiary hospital. Four others, their lungs weakened by the inhalation of smoke, are not expected to live.

Before the investigators resumed their inquiry today all survivors of the fire were taken once more into cells from which they cried to be released Monday night.

The purpose of this was to identify the 50 or so charred and disfigured bodies which could not otherwise be identified. Each cell in the damaged blocks contains the prison numbers of the men who occupied them. The numbers were checked to see which were missing and when the task was finished the convicts were promptly removed.

Relatives Call for Bodies.

Disposal of the 318 bodies was the most solemn task that faced the officials today. Against the iron bars of the main prison gate a mass of men and women — mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and friends of the dead men—called to receive releases for the bodies of their loved ones.

One by one they passed beyond the outer gate, where a trusty, with pencil in hand, worked upon a reference book. Then they were taken in charge by Miss Amanda Thomas, daughter of the warden, and Chief Parole Officer Dan Bonzo.

They stood for hours around the main gate, until each received the burial permit and went on to the fair grounds to claim the dead.

Three Reported Alive.

At the fair grounds an elaborate checking system was necessary before the bodies were given over to relatives. The entire records of the men in G and H were removed from the prison to the improvised morgue. The Bertillon measurements, the prison numbers, and various other means of identification were checked to make sure there were no mistakes.

And the danger of mistakes was apparent, for three men who previously had been listed among the dead were reported today to be alive. They were William Law, of Hillards; Andrew Jackson, of Cleveland; one of two brothers from Cincinnati, Kenneth and Edward Scott.

A thorough check was being made to find these men.

Fire Still Mystery.

Inspection of the ruins revealed nothing that would indicate how the fire started.

Guard C. M. Donaldson said there had been trouble with the temporary electric lights during Monday afternoon, but that was remedied. A theory that the fire originated from defective electric wiring also was discounted by E. L. Jenkins, construction superintendent, who said that Lawrence Perry, a prisoner, had told him that the fire started in the roof of the building where there was no wiring.

New precautions against fire have been taken, State Welfare Director H. H. Griswold announced this evening. He said guards have been placed on top of all cell blocks and the dormitories to be on duty at all hours.

Fire extinguishers also have been placed in the cell blocks.

Investigators expressed belief that had there been fire walls between the cell blocks there would have been no loss of life, and it is expected they will recommend erection of fire walls to separate the blocks.

Warden Thomas told the investigators that he had heard rumors that guards had shot two prisoners during the fire, killing one and wounding the other, but that he had been unable, after investigation, to verify the report.

The investigation will be continued tomorrow and Mr. Bettman said he hoped to conclude it by Friday night.

Accused Slayer Is Killed by Mob

Man Captured After Night Hunt Shot to Death on Levee.

Gunnison, Miss., April 23 (A.P.).—A Negro accused of slaying a 17-year-old boy was shot to death by a crowd of some 250 men near here today. The shooting occurred on a Mississippi River levee. Dave Harris, about 35, married and a father, was captured after an all night search for the slayer of Clayton Funderberg, who had accused Harris of stealing groceries from the Funderberg farm. The boy was shot down yesterday.

The Negro was taken to the levee and there volleys of gun shot were fired into his body. Deputy Sheriff T. L. Courtney said no inquest was likely and did not expect any investigation before next fall.

Another Negro found Harris this morning and reported to members of a posse which had searched throughout the night. Deputy Sheriff A. S. Day said he arrived too late to make a formal arrest and declared that the crowd blocked the road when he tried to do so. He said he called other officers, but none arrived.

RUM BOTTLES' SALE BAN SOUGHT BY U.S.

Supreme Court Is Asked to Aid in Enforcement of Prohibition Law.

SEIZURE DEFENSE MADE

(Associated Press.)

The Government urged the Supreme Court yesterday to aid it in more effective prohibition enforcement by preventing stores from selling bottles, casks and other containers which will enable bootleggers to deliver their products to customers in an attractive manner.

The question reached the court in an appeal by Ike Danovitz, of Pittsburgh, Pa., as the surviving partner of the Peitler Bottle Co., protesting against the seizure and confiscation by prohibition enforcement agents of a stock of empty barrels, bottles, corks and other articles.

The Government defended the seizure on the ground that the articles were intended for sale for the illegal manufacture of liquor.

Ward Bonsall, as counsel for Danovitz, insisted that the seizure was illegal on the ground that the prohibition law condemned traffic in articles used only in illegal manufacture. He argued that the manufacture of liquor had ceased before it was bottled or placed in other containers.

Assistant Attorney General Sisson took direct issue with this argument, insisting that the bottling and preparation of the liquor for the market was a part of the manufacture declared illegal by the Volstead act.

Bonsall took the view that should the Supreme Court sustain the lower courts in declaring the seizure and confiscation legal, it would not only aim a blow at the manufacture and sale of bottles generally, but the decision also must be extended to the manufacture of fruit jars and all other containers susceptible of use by bootleggers in marketing their product. Assistant Attorney General Sisson asserted that if the Government succeeded in preventing bootleggers obtaining whisky bottles and compelled them to use fruit jars and milk bottles it would be a material step forward in prohibition enforcement.

Every member of the court asked questions, which indicated approval of the decision of the lower courts authorizing the seizure.

Missing 6-Year-Old Boy Is Found by Searchers

Redding, Calif., April 23 (A.P.).—Asa Lee Lakey, 6-year-old boy who had been lost since last Sunday, was found alive today on Mount Burney east of her. The child had been the object of an extensive search in which an Army airplane and several hundred men participated. He disappeared while on an Easter outing with his parents.

His mother, Mrs. A. L. Lakey, of Burney, said she dreamed last night the boy would be found safe and well.

GIRLS IDENTIFY MAN AS THEIR ASSAILANT

CAPITAL CHARGE IS FILED

Confronted in his cell at the Tenth Precinct Station house by Miss Dorothy Burns, 16 years old, of Varnum street near Fourteenth street northwest, and Miss Helen Teawalt, 19 years old, of Shepherd street near Fourth street northwest, Delly Clark, Negro, of Q street near Thirteenth street northwest, was identified late yesterday by both young women as the man who attacked them.

Miss Teawalt was attacked by a Negro near her home early Monday morning. Just 24 hours later, Clark was arrested by Policeman Denny Murphy, of the Tenth Precinct, as the Negro grappled with Miss Burns at Fourteenth and Varnum streets.

He has been officially charged with an offense that carries the death penalty. His face and neck are severely scratched, marks the police say, inflicted by the two young women in their fight to escape from him.

Striking Students Freed By County Grand Jury

Tazewell, Tenn., April 23 (A.P.).—The Claiborn County grand jury today freed Clay McCarroll and Ernest Fields, expelled students of Lincoln Memorial University, charged with "disturbing" the institution. "Not true" bills were returned in their cases. The two students were arrested during strike activities at the university and were held to the grand jury under $250 bond each. McCarroll was said to have been the strike leader.

Hearings on injunctions against 25 expelled students probably will never be held, J. R. Ketron, university trustee, said today.

Has winter left you

FEELING WEAK?

If you feel irritable; if you sleep badly and wake tired; if the slightest physical task wearies you, take steps at once. Winter has probably impaired your resistance to dangerous infections. Lack of exercise has loaded your tissues with poisons. Absence of sunlight may have lowered your resistance markedly. When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

Sugar belongs in the diet ...ASK YOUR DOCTOR!

"Sugar makes essential foods, which have roughage, minerals and vitamins, more palatable."

SHOULD SUGAR HAVE A PLACE IN THE DIET? Here are some interesting facts—information which your doctor would give you.

Sugar is a preferred fuel food. When eaten in any form, it combines with oxygen in the body. Seventy-five per cent of its energy goes into heat and the rest supplies power to the muscles.

Sugar makes essential foods, which are the vehicles or carriers of roughage, mineral salts and vitamins, more palatable. It modifies harsh acids, heightens bland flavors.

Consider how many fruits and vegetables that you eat are sweet. How unpleasant they would be without this palatable flavor. Often, however, certain familiar vegetables lose the sweetness they possessed when fresh picked, because their sugar has been converted into starch. In such cases it is proper to add a dash of sugar in cooking them to restore their original flavor.

Think of these facts as you plan your meals. And in addition to using sugar as a flavor remember that simple wholesome desserts have their place in balanced meals. The normal diet calls for sugar. Ask your doctor! The Sugar Institute.

I.C.C. RATE REVISION HIT BY PUBLISHERS

SESSION IN NEW YORK

New York, April 23 (A.P.).—A resolution voicing disapproval of the "growing tendency of the Interstate Commerce Commission to revise the freight rate structures of the United States primarily upon a mileage basis" was adopted today at the opening session of the American Newspaper Publishers Association annual convention at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

The resolution, introduced by E. M. Antrim, of the Chicago Tribune, chairman of the association's traffic committee, which declared in its report that "it seems to be the intention of the commission to put the freight rate structure of this country in the same kind of a straitjacket as is to be found in Germany and France."

"The main trouble with a mileage scale is that it results in an absolutely rigid rate structure and rate of progress," the committee said, contending that such schedules could not be justly applied in the newsprint industry, which is centered in one section, eastern United States and Canada.

Increase Is Proposed.

Thus through the mileage basis, the committee pointed out, publishers in the South and West would be confronted with prohibitive rates on newsprint from this section.

When its paper committee generally approved plans to "stabilize" newsprint prices but made no definite recommendation on a schedule advanced by the Newsprint Institute of Canada, the convention adopted a resolution asking for a plan of procedure from the committee.

The Newsprint Institute's schedule calls for a gradual increase in prices over a three-year period up to $60 a ton from the present rate of $55. The committee indicated that the publishers should decide for themselves whether the increase would be fair.

Danger of Consolidations.

Under the stabilization program, the present rates would be continued throughout 1930 with a $2 increase for 1931, another $2 raise in 1932 and a $1 per ton advance in 1933.

Canadian manufacturers last fall attempted to increase newsprint prices $5 per ton outright, but granted publishers a six-month extension of old contracts when a general protest was raised.

The paper committee pointed out that there now is much competition between newsprint manufacturers, but unless the industry is stabilized to a certain extent it may result in consolidations "which, in the long run, may place newsprint prices on a much higher level than if the present competitive situation continues on a price stabilization program."

OPERATIC SEASON IN CAPITAL OPENS WITH FINE PERFORMANCE

to ears attuned to its interpretation of the love and woes of Mimi, all contributed to the operatic glory of the night.

The work of the principals was all the more arduous because it was so seldom relieved by choruses and group numbers. This lack, if lack it was, was offset by the duets, trios and other numbers with which the opera abounds.

As usual with a Puccini opera, when sung by master singers, the melodic quality of the work was what first aroused attention. One felt the very rapture of music as the stars progressed from climax to climax of operatic melody.

Bori Superb as "Mimi."

Perhaps it is only gallant to hand the first bouquet of critical appreciation over the footlights to the prima donna, Lucrezia Bori. She was a dainty, satisfying "Mimi" as great an actress as she was singer. And that is saying a very great deal. For she sang as a lark sings, without effort, yet with a crystalline purity of tone, an instinctive nicety of phrasing and a restrained emotion which added the final touch of realism to her histrionic moments. Bori, as "Mimi," was a creature of music itself with high notes, trills and chromatics, melodiously filled with the golden vocal beauty which has made her one of the leading operatic singers.

Beniamino Gigli was in fine voice last night. His portrayal of Rodolfo was a masterpiece. Mellow tones were mingled with intensity of emotion and passion and thoughts of Caruso sprang into the mind as he sang "Rodolfo's Narrative" in the singing of which this earlier Italian operatic tenor had so often scored.

The initial good impression grew as the opera progressed. In the famous quartet, "Farewell Sweet Love," Gigli was most effective and he rose to real dramatic height in "Ah, Mimi, tu piu," and in the Death Scene.

The tenderness of tonal quality, the exquisite phrasing and the ardor with which he poured forth his soul in Puccini's immortal measures were outstanding.

Tibbett Is Impressive.

Lawrence Tibbett was a realistic Morcello, the painter friend of Rodolfo. His beautiful barytone voice became the part well and he read into it the humor and human interest with which the composer and librettist had so richly endowed this role. Tibbett's dramatic powers are considerable, and he used them to great advantage last night.

One change in the cast was announced, that of Miss Edith Fleisher who substituted upon short notice for Miss Nanette Guilford in the role of "Musetta." Miss Fleisher is a well known Metropolitan artist and she acquitted herself with honors after but brief preparation upon the illness of Miss Guilford. Her part wins its principal laurels from the dainty waltz song, which is called "Mausetta's Waltz Song." Miss Fleisher sang it with artistry and charming effect and sustained the rest of the part acceptably, winning several bursts of applause for herself.

The audience last night was most enthusiastic and several times the show was stopped by ovations given to the principal artists.

Other Parts Well Played.

It would not be fair to close without special mention of Ezio Pinza as Colline, whos "Farewell Old Coat," a famous aria, was one of the high points of the evening. Nor should be forgotten the excellent work of Millo Picco as Schaunard, Paolo Ananian as Benoit, Max Altglass as Parpignol, Pompilio Malatesta as Alcindaro and Alfredo Gandolfi as a sergeant.

The opera was sung in Italian, and the diction of the singers was a lasting lesson in that art. The opera was mounted and costumed as becomes a Metropolitan production, which is all that need be said in its praise.

The production was very smooth, and there were no long waits or rough moments in the presentation.

The opera tonight will be "Andrea Chenier," by Umberto Giordano, sung for the first time in Washington. Rosa Ponselle will take the prima donna role and Giovanni Martinelli will sing "Andrea Chenier." Giuseppe De Luca, Ina Bourskaya, Gladys Swarthout and George Cehanovsky will also appear in the cast.

Customs Officials Dismissed in Probe

Pair, With Long Record of Service, Punished in Drug Inquiry.

New York, April 23 (A.P.).—Two inspectors who had been in the customs service for more than 20 years were dismissed today as a result of the investigation growing out of attempts to smuggle huge quantities of narcotics into the country.

They were suspended on March 14 as a result of the discovery of two trunks, containing $800,000 worth of narcotics, on pier 57 after the Ile de France had docked, and of another on the Majestic's pier a few days later.

The collector of the port, acted on instructions from Washington in dismissing the two men, William D. Hayes, and Frank Murphy.

110 Orphans Flee Fire In Laundry of Home

Lebanon, Ohio, April 23 (A.P.).—One hundred and ten orphans and fifty-five older persons fled to safety last night when fire broke out in the laundry building at the Orphans and Old Peoples Home near here. It became known today. The blaze caused $10,000 damage and for a time threatened to destroy the entire group of buildings. The home is operated by the United Brethren Church.

The fire was believed to have originated in a defective flue.

Another Is Held In Insurance Plot

Prisoner Confesses Aiding Dr. Bass in Killing, Sheriff Alleges.

Linn, Mo., April 23 (A.P.).—Casper Tillman, 35, of Osage County, has confessed, Sheriff Peter Schmitzler announced today, to participation with Dr. A. J. Bass, of Columbia, Mo., in the murder of William R. Pearman, Columbia, Mo., automobile salesman and in the disposition of Pearman's body, found near Gravette, Ark. Tillman was arrested here. He is the father of five children.

Acting on a tip from Boyle G. Clark, attorney for Dr. Bass, who already has confessed slaying of Pearman in a $200,000 insurance policy swindle plot, Boone County officers asked for the arrest of Tillman. Dr Bass yesterday called John R. Duty, Arkansas attorney, to his cell at Bentonville, Ark., and admitted that Tillman assisted him.

Duty notified Clark and Tillman's arrest followed. Tillman admitted he fired at least two shots into the dead body of Pearlman and that he had agreed to kill Machir J. Dorsey, of Hammond, Ind., in a previous insurance plot. The confession was made to George J. Gove, prosecutor, and Sheriff Schmitzler, of Osage County, in the presence of Boone County officers and Clark.

TRIO GRILLED IN BAKER DEATH; NEW LEAD FOUND IN NORFOLK

were confident that the solution of the murder would be closer at hand. Witnesses who saw the attack in the Ellipse will confront the light-skinned Negro, to see if he is the assailant.

Frank, the Richmond suspect, had previously given several other aliases. When questioned by Sweeney yesterday he denied that he had been in the vicinity of Washington at the time of the murder. Early yesterday he confessed to Richmond police that he had stolen cigarettes from a freight car at Goldsborough on April 11, the day of the murder. Prior to this time he had insisted that he was at the home of his sister, Mrs. H. L. Siegel, at Baltimore, on April 10, 11, 12 and 13. His sister denied this assertion and said that he was there for a short while on April 13.

Communion Cups Are Mystery.

Communion cups which Frank is said to have given another prisoner at the Richmond City Jail still remain a mystery to police. It was at first thought that they may have been stolen from a local church. On the day that the sacramental vessels were stolen here, Frank was serving a term in the Raleigh, N. C., prison.

Goldsboro police charge that Frank stole cigarettes from a railroad freight yard there on April 12. Frank confessed that he stole them on April 11. With the money he obtained from the sale of the stolen merchandise, he said, he went to Newport News, Va., and then to Baltimore.

Police declared that if it is discovered that the man held in Richmond is the same wanted in Goldsboro it is highly improbable that he is connected with the killing of the girl. A. L. Dail, a railway agent, is en route to Richmond to determine whether the man is the same who stole the cigarettes from the railroad.

Declared in Home April 10.

An Associated Press dispatch from New Bern, N. C., says that police of that place declared that the man was in his home on April 10 and left there ostensibly for Newport News, Va. He had visited relatives there.

Palm prints of Frank were taken by Detective Sweeney, who will compare them with those taken from the murder car.

Alibis Are Checked.

Alibis of the two colored men, regarding their activities on the night of the murder, were being carefully checked last night by detectives. If there are any discrepancies in their stories police indicated that they might be given a more rigorous questioning.

Mr. Gloth's announcement of the new lead regarding the activities of the traveling salesman who stopped at a sanitarium is believed to have developed in Montgomery County on Tuesday. Gloth and Sheriff Howard Field went to visit officials there regarding a tip.

They would not converse regarding the nature of the lead. Early yesterday an arrest was scheduled to be made in Rockville. It did not materialize when the police learned that their quarry was confined in a Virginia sanitarium.

Former Employe Questioned.

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly yesterday questioned a former employe of the Navy Department who had been dismissed from his position when Miss Baker complained to her superiors that he had been annoying her. His dismissal occurred two years ago. The man knew Miss Baker and had once lived in the Northern Neck of Virginia, in the vicinity of the murdered girl's home.

Since his discharge from the Navy Department he has been working in another branch of the Government service and makes his home in Mount Rainier. Lieut. Kelly announced after his interrogation that the man is undoubtedly innocent of any complicity in the crime. Further details regarding his alibi will be checked. He is not under arrest.

Joseph Rogone, who voluntarily appeared at headquarters and announced that he had sold a watch and coat to Charles Quertermous and Alonzo Lloyd, yesterday met the two men. Each of them identified him as the man who had sold the articles, and Quertermous admitted that he was mistaken in his identification of Mervin Sisson, an exonerated suspect, who lives in Warsaw, Va. Mr. Sisson and Mr. Rogone bear marked resemblance to each other.

Mr. Rogone, who is a peddler, made the sale to the men near the Highway Bridge on the night of the murder or the night preciding it. He is uncertain regarding the date.

Atlanta Pair Reindicted On Charges of Bribery

Atlanta, Ga., April 23 (A.P.).—A new indictment charging Harry York, resigned city councilman, and Jack White, his business associate, with bribery was returned by the Fulton County grand jury today. Both York and White have been tried and convicted following their indictment previously in an investigation of municipal graft here.

The indictment, containing two counts, alleged receipt by the defendants of $150 and of $1,000 from D. F. Seybold, of the Indiana Truck Corporation, in connection with the purchase of motor trucks by the City of Atlanta.

Minister Is Fined In Glasgow Court

Former U. S. Pastor Convicted of Contravening Aliens Order.

Glasgow, Scotland, April 23 (A.P.).—George Chalmers Richmond, one-time resident of Detroit, was convicted in the Glasgow Sheriff's Court today of four charges of contravening the aliens order. He was fined £5 with an option of 30 days imprisonment.

Mr. Richmond said that he had come to England on the invitation of the Archbishop of York to carry on ecclesiastical work. He said that on a previous visit he had been allowed by the police to travel about free from restrictions and that he was only doing what he did then.

Mr. Richmond was formerly a minister in the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States. He was tried by an ecclesiastical court some years ago in Pennsylvania and was suspended, according to church authorities.

Building Permit Is Filed For $126,000 Dwelling

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davidge, 2146 Wyoming avenue northwest, have filed application with the office of District Building Inspector Oehmann for a permit to build at 2825 Rock Creek drive a two-story-and-attic-brick-and-stone residence at an estimated cost of $126,000.

The dwelling will be of Georgian style of architecture, contain 30 rooms and its cubic content will be 180,000 feet. It will have a height of 40 feet and its width at the east end will be 48 feet and at the west end, 67 feet. The structure will be located on a terraced lot 176.33 feet wide and with an average depth of 132 feet at the intersection of Benton street and Rock Creek drive. Andrew Murray is the builder and Wyeth & Sullivan, the architects.

Two More File Protest On Paving Assessment

Two more owners of property on Wisconsin avenue northwest yesterday appealed to the District Supreme Court to cancel special paving and curbing assessments levied as a result of the widening and resurfacing of the thoroughfare. The new litigants are, James Law, of 4715 Wisconsin avenue northwest, and Hartsell O. Bowman, of 5027 Wisconsin avenue northwest. The District and the District Commissioners are named defendants in each action.

Each plaintiff asserts that the assessment was levied on the "front-foot rule" as provided in the Borland law, which the District Court of Appeals recently held was illegal.

ALWAYS HEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? Chances are you're poisoned by clogged bowels and inactive liver. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 90 years—Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients. They act easily upon the bowels, help free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

MOTHERS KNOW ITS WORTH

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the written recommendation of more than 500,000 American women. 98 out of every 100 who report after taking it say, "It helped me." Get a bottle from your druggist today. Be one of the 98.

Mrs. Clyde I. Sherman, R. No. 1, Lickdale, Pa.

"Before I married, my mother and sister and I did all the work on a 64 acre farm for eleven years. Now in addition to my housework and the care of my children I help my husband with the outside work on our farm. After my last child was born, I began to suffer as many women do. One day our doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did and now I am a new woman."

Mrs. Ethel Wright, Cheyenne Wells, Colorado

"I am a busy woman for I have six children to care for. I was rundown and felt so weak I could hardly do my work. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I began to take it. I am feeling stronger in every way, have a good appetite and sleep well. I recommend this medicine to other weak women."

Mrs. Horten Jones, 208-48th St., Union City, New Jersey

"About ten years ago I got so weak and rundown that I felt miserable all over. One day my husband said, 'Why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' When I had taken two bottles I felt better so I kept on. My little daughter was born when I had been married twelve years. I praise your medicine to all my friends, and you may publish this letter for I want all the world to know how much the Vegetable Compound has helped me."

New Needs Arise Daily

A new home today, a new car tomorrow, a new wardrobe the next day and new furniture the next . . . but these purchases are not scheduled in orderly procession—they await the evident need.

YOU Can't Pick the Day When People Will Want What You Have for Sale

Some families will decide that it is time to buy when they see an advertisement on Wednesday, but an equal number will make a like decision on Thursday. Advertising that meets a need on the day that it becomes evident is the most productive advertising, and, at remarkable small cost, any merchant or individual can place his sales message before "the people who WANT to buy on the day that they decide to act." This means a daily schedule of insertions in the NEW Post—

Classified Section

Improved methods of classification, arrangement and A-B-C order of indexing make these columns more convenient and interesting to the reader and consequently of greater value to the advertiser . . . In no other medium, or combination of mediums, can you reach the thousands of exclusive readers of The Washington Post—an audience that is unusually responsive because Post readers are distinguished by their "ability to buy."

Order Your Advertising For Consecutive Insertions

If you skip a day you are overlooking the scores who may be looking for your particular product or service on the day omitted. Advertising is not an expense—it is an investment that brings the required dividends more quickly and at less cost than any other method you might use to acquaint people with what you have for sale—an investment that will bring results EVERY day . . . There is also a very worth-while reduction in the cost of advertisements running on consecutive dates. For full information

THE SAFETY CLAUSE.

The safety clause of the naval treaty makes the limitations of the three-power pact gentlemen's agreements and not binding obligations to maintain the limits set forth in the pact. Great Britain insisted upon this clause as a protection against France's contemplated naval increase program.

Any one of the three powers has the right to exceed the treaty limits whenever, in its opinion, the construction undertaken by an outside power makes necessary such action. It is only necessary for that one power to notify the other two.

Because of this feature, it is suggested that the United States Navy will be placed at a disadvantage and that America will lose parity whenever Great Britain announces that the French building program calls for the British to exceed the limitations of the three-power pact. Should the British admiralty serve notice that more destroyers must be built to cope with an expanding French submarine program, America would have a choice between building destroyers which the United States Navy does not need or losing parity with Great Britain. Great Britain's announcement of an increase in destroyers would permit America to build only destroyers to match or offset the British program and insure parity.

On the surface this looks like a disadvantageous arrangement for the United States. But closer scrutiny of the wording of the safety clause reveals another possibility.

If Great Britain announces at some future time before 1936 that she must exceed the treaty limitations and build destroyers because of the French program, there is nothing to prevent the United States from announcing, independent of the British program, that France's action compels America to build the 10,000-ton cruisers which were to have been constructed under the cruiser-building program authorized last year by the Congress.

America might have no interest in matching an increased British destroyer program and Great Britain might find it difficult to match a big-cruiser American program. But if Great Britain has the right to surpass the treaty limits for her own purposes, America has the same right.

It may well be made clear when the treaty is debated in the Senate that America will insist upon building the types of ship which America needs if the British use the French program as an excuse for exceeding the pact limitations.

DR. ROBERT BRIDGES.

England has always been fond and proud of her poets. But there will be little actual grief in the mourning for Dr. Robert Seymour Bridges, poet laureate. Dr. Bridges reached the end of his career at the age of 85. His work was completed with the publication a few months ago of his last poem, "The Testament of Beauty," and he goes to a rest that is no more sad than peaceful sleep. England has felt poignant sorrow at the death of some of her youthful bards, such as Keats, Shelley and Brooke. But the passing of Dr. Bridges leaves the lovers of poetry with a sense of work completed rather than a vacant feeling.

Dr. Bridges was not a popular poet laureate. His accession to the seat vacated by Austin and previously by Lord Tennyson had a tendency to silence rather than stimulate his muse. His poetry written previous to that time appealed more to scholars than to the people. He was a constant experimenter with new verse forms, and much of his poetry is in unfamiliar meter. No doubt Dr. Bridges found it most difficult to shape his talents to the poetic need of the hour. His temperament was hardly that of a typical poet laureate.

Since the days of Chaucer England has had her national poet. Some have been geniuses, and others are forgotten. Among the latter class are some who were popular while they were writing. Frequently the greatest poets are hampered by a subsidy and by the necessity of making poetical genius conform to political expediency. Britain will be fortunate if she can choose a successor to Dr. Bridges who can serve the state without stifling his art.

SHIPPING BOARD INQUIRY.

The Senate has voted to turn its search light of inquiry on the Shipping Board. The investigation was ordered as a result of a report from Comptroller General McCarl, showing that the Government has lost millions of dollars in the sale of vessels under direction of the board. Although every one is aware of that fact, no harm can be done by opening the affairs of the board to public scrutiny. Chairman O'Connor welcomes the inquiry and will cooperate with the Senate committee in every way.

The kind of investigation to be made depends upon the senators named to the committee. One set might sift the affairs of the Shipping Board with a view to disparaging its members, while another would take note of all that has been accomplished and bring in recommendations for extending further aid through the board to the American merchant marine. The public interest demands appointment of senators who will make a thorough investigation, but from a constructive viewpoint.

Any investigation based on the theory that the Shipping Board was created to sell Government vessels at a profit will be worse than useless. One objective of the board has been to get the Government out of the shipping business, but a much more important function has been to enlist private American interests in that enterprise. The board has been confronted with innumerable obstacles. It has disposed of 1,879 ships—many of them obsolete, and virtually worthless—under terms that provide for operation of American trade lines and for construction of new modern merchantmen. Losses have been sustained, and collections are not up to date. Some elements in Congress will endeavor to make political scandal out of this situation, but no doubt the majority will give attention to the other side of the picture.

With the aid of the Shipping Board and the Jones-White act America has again assumed a place of importance among the maritime nations of the world. During the ten-year period that the board has been in operation American water-borne commerce has been far greater than ever before. Trade with Europe increased 50 per cent; with South America, 200 per cent; with Africa, 325 per cent, and with Asia, 380 per cent. American trade lines extend to the principal ports of the world, and the United States recently advanced from fifth to third place in the list of shipbuilding nations from the standpoint of new tonnage on the ways.

The significant thing is not that the Government has sustained an inevitable loss, but that American ships are again on the seas. A foundation has been laid for development of a merchant marine that will be second to none. In the light of this achievement, an attempt merely to discredit the board would be most deplorable. The situation demands that senators in full sympathy with the universal American desire for a strong merchant marine be appointed to the committee of inquiry.

ANOTHER PRISON HORROR.

Gov. Cooper of Ohio, in a formal statement issued following the fire at Ohio State Penitentiary, calls upon the public to reserve its judgment until an official investigation has been completed. "The situation," he says, "is one which calls for calm judgment and full cooperation on the part of officials and the public alike." That an exhaustive investigation will be made may be taken for granted. The horror of the catastrophy is so great that a demand for prison reform is bound to result.

Ohio Penitentiary was constructed 40 years ago to house a population of 1,600. A roll call completed just before the fire broke out revealed that there were 4,300 inmates. Ohio Penitentiary was badly overcrowded and its inmates were housed in structures of a bygone era, insanitary, poorly ventilated and illy lighted. But the inmates of almost every penal institution are crowded in similar structures. Ohio Penitentiary can not be regarded as the exception, but must be considered as typifying the American penal institution.

The investigation of the Ohio holocaust should involve factors other than the fixing of responsibility for setting the blaze if it was of incendiary origin, and the ascertainment of whether prison officials responded to the emergency in such a fashion that the loss of life was held down as much as possible. It should involve a study of the whole question of penology and prison administration. The affair at Columbus follows closely on the two attempted outbreaks at Auburn, the Dannemora uprising, the Colorado State Prison riots and the Leavenworth disturbance. Whether it was convict inspired or directly due to official incompetence or negligence, it furnishes further proof that something is radically wrong with the administration of the American penal institution.

FIGHTING UNEMPLOYMENT.

Gratifying response is made by governmental units and public utilities to the request of President Hoover that construction work be pushed to ease the unemployment situation. Construction of public works and public utilities for the first quarter of 1930 is 55 per cent ahead of the same period last year. This has been a notable contribution to the relief of unemployment.

Unemployment persists, however. Figures prepared by the Labor Department show that the number of men out of work increased while these extensive contracts for public works were being awarded. Employment of workmen is certain to lag behind the awarding of contracts, but the fact remains that stimulation of public works in times of depression is not sufficient to relieve unemployment. Most of the benefit is reaped by the building trades and kindred lines of work. Factory employes who are out of work are only remotely and indirectly benefited by a building program. The experience of the Government in this instance should provide an index for estimating the effectiveness of this remedy.

A report from the New York committee on stabilization of industry and prevention of unemployment shifts emphasis from public works to the elimination of irregularity in industry. The value of planning public construction for slack periods can not be questioned, but it is a serious mistake to regard this method as a solution for unemployment. The New York committee found that irregular work is "one of the great problems of our time," and recommended that steady work the year round be made a part of business thinking, so that permanent employment would become a fixed economic policy, wherever that is possible.

This is a responsibility which does not fall upon the Government, except in so far as the Government is an employer of labor. It can be worked out only by private industry when executives have become convinced that the present instability of employment is an economic waste. "The continued success of large-scale production, of quick turnover, and of installment buying hinges upon steady employment for the individual," the New York committee concluded. "A man out of work is a drag upon his family, upon his community and upon industry itself, which might have kept him as a consumer if he had been working, and therefore able to buy in normal volume. Unemployment is not only harmful from a social point of view. It is wasteful and expensive from a business point of view."

The committee urges employers to avoid drastic fluctuations in their working forces, to speed up repairs, renovations and construction in slack periods, to work their full force part of the time rather than part of their force all the time, and "to manufacture for stock to the limit of economic wisdom." Where it is absolutely necessary to lay off men, the committee asks that notice be given, that dismissal wages be paid, and that every assistance be given employes to find new work.

Cycles of unemployment and depression will continue until industry finds some way of meeting these emergencies without laying off workmen. The same economic philosophy which has brought higher wages to the workman so that he might become a consumer should lead to stabilization of employment.

A New York woman carves caricatures of famous people out of vegetables. That's one purpose carrots and parsnips can be put to without hurting anyone.

The New Jersey law that would have made it unnecessary for a person to prove that a dog was vicious, that he had taken more than one bite or that he had bitten more than one person in order to collect damages from its owner, has been defeated. Perhaps it's just as well. It's almost as hard to keep a dog from biting by passing a law as it is to keep a man from drinking.

THE AMERICAN EAGLE

From Nature Magazine.

In all ages and among many nations the eagle has been considered the king of birds. In ancient mythology he was held sacred to Jove, who had dominion over the seasons and held in his grasp the lightning. In early historic times many nations paid it special reverence, and the Romans, following the earlier example of the Persians or Assyrians, made it their ensign. More modern countries—France, Prussia, Italy, Mexico—have chosen its figure to adorn their standards. It was natural, therefore, that America should adopt its own fine species as its emblem. Since 1782, when it was formally chosen, the eagle has been selected to appear on the official flags of Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, New York, North Dakota, Oregon and Utah. His image also figures on various flags, standards and seals of the United States, of the Army and Navy, and of the President and his Cabinet, and on several of our coins.

The bald eagle is found in all our States and in Alaska, and may, therefore, come within the ken of every citizen. There exists in nature scarcely a sight more inspiring than such a bird soaring in majesty over mountain crag or towering forest. And as a country needs qualities other than weakness, so it was fitting that we chose for an emblem a bird whose qualities include strength, courage and hardihood.

But how have we treated our emblem? Though it is true that in about 31 of our States, those that have adopted the Audubon bird law, the eagle is protected by inference, and in a few others it is specifically protected, the remaining States either have no laws in its favor, or place it on the list of unprotected birds. And it is rare that a killer of our eagle is punished in any manner.

Since in most of our States the advance of settlement has naturally reduced the range suitable for its continued habitation, in parts of Alaska only can the eagle now be counted abundant. Yet this Territory has voluntarily chosen to bear the ignominy of putting a price on its head. Other countries may have failed to protect the creatures chosen to adorn their standards, but we believe that ours is the first to allow a bounty for killing the bird formally selected as its emblem.

In 1917 the Legislature of Alaska, on the plea that the diminishing supply of fish and game was due in part to the eagle, passed a law placing a bounty on the bird. This law is still in force and the feet of upward of 50,000 of the birds have been redeemed, some for 25 cents each.

But after a century and a half of indifference to the fate of its emblem we note that the Congress of the United States is considering a bill to make the killing of the American eagle anywhere within the territorial limits of the United States a Federal offense.

The destruction of certain birds and animals, on the plea that they are inimical to game birds or animals, or to other interests, but whose preservation from many points of view is desirable, is becoming much too common. Let us be more charitable toward the more interesting of our predatory birds and animals. At least let us refrain from killing our national bird for 50 cents or $1. If a few eagles have been standing in the way of Alaska's prosperity may we not hope that, with twelve years of destruction, the crisis has passed. Let us hold our national emblem not only on our banners and coins, but in our hearts.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

Why is it, asks the New Orleans Times Picayune, that from the earliest days of sports in America wrestling has been in such worse odor than boxing? One would imagine prize fighting, as the more sanguinary, would have attracted in general a more brutal type of professional and by that token a class less likely to observe the financial and other ethics of the game. But, quite the contrary, in pugilism there has been remarkably little throwing of fights, crossing and doublecrossing of backers, &c., and public, whereas whenever wrestling, in itself a splendid sport, has won a degree of popularity by honest matches there is sure to develop a scandal that destroys all confidence and causes a complete abandonment of wrestling entertainments. We recall scarcely any pugilistic scandal in first-class prize fighting in years, whereas again and again wrestling has fallen into justified contempt.

TWO FACTORIES.

The man who ran the factory called all the foremen in.
"We all must know the facts," he said, "if we expect to win.
And you must know the thoughts, I think, and I must know your needs
And there must be no fear to speak, for silence trouble breeds."

Oh, he was wise in business ways, the weakness that you know
Is not so grave a danger as the flaw which doesn't show.
And this he knew and understood, for this he often said:
"In hidden truths our danger lies, and they're the ones to dread."

He had another factory—a power for ill or good—
A son to carry on his name he might have understood,
But since he was a busy man he never sought the truth,
And never tried to learn the facts and needs of modern youth.

The boy stayed silent, so did he, and neither of them knew
Just what the other had in mind, or what he wished to do.
He made his business a success, according to his plan,
But had he known the boy as well, he might have made a man.

Fifty Below Zero Is Remarkable, But One Degree Above Harms Mankind Less

By ROBERT QUILLEN

IF you are an ordinary man, say a bricklayer or a dentist, and never have done anything to harm humanity, you are more important and more deserving of honor than most of the great figures in history and many of those who now are called great.

That is not a far-fetched exaggeration prompted by class prejudice, but a sober statement of demonstrable truth.

There are but three classes of men: those who do good, those who do nothing, and those who do harm.

The second class, comparatively small, consists of men who never do anything conspicuously good or conspicuously bad—who are so nearly neutral, so obscure or so withdrawn from life that they simply don't count.

Men of this class represent zero—the point from which all measurements up and down are made.

Men who are useful—who accomplish anything at all for the benefit of mankind—grade above zero, and men who do anything to harm mankind grade below.

It follows, then, that the most humble and most obscure of useful men, though he accomplish nothing of more importance than the digging of sewer ditches, ranks above the evil doer as far as he ranks above zero plus the distance that the evil doer falls below it.

There are famous men, honored by the thoughtless, who achieve renown solely by reason of the evil they do.

A writer wins attention by the trick of denouncing established faiths and customs, and holds it by appealing to the crowd's fondness for invective and blistering epithets that hurt the other fellow.

He is destructive and harmful, for all his fame, and dies leaving the world more unhappy and discouraged and bitter than he found it.

Another man, a "great leader," uses men as pawns to achieve his own selfish ends, and for all his power and glory goes to his grave with no good to his credit and a path of wreckage behind him.

Men like these are called "great," but in the final accounting and by any logical standard of measurement, they rank far below the level of harmless nonentity.

The common man who respects them does himself an injustice.

Was the slave who sought renown by burning the temple of Diana of greater worth than the unknown masons who built it?

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

WAR UNDER THE NAVAL HOLIDAY TREATY—TIME, ABOUT 1936.

NOTE FROM POWER A TO POWER B.

This is to notify you that we consider a state of war exists between us. We have given your ambassador his papers.

POWER B TO POWER A.

Declaration of war received and placed on file. When do you propose to fight it?

POWER A TO POWER B.

Prefer to begin immediately.

POWER B TO POWER A.

Impossible to begin immediately, as you very well know. Will require six years.

POWER A TO POWER B.

Six years seems quite a long time to wait for a war upon which we have set our hearts. Why do you ask it?

POWER B TO POWER A.

Under London naval holiday agreement have let navy go to dogs for last six years. Will consequently need six years to build navy for adequate struggle.

POWER A TO POWER B.

Do you seriously mean that you observed the naval holiday to the letter?

POWER B TO POWER A.

Absolutely. Are we wrong in assuming you did the same?

POWER A TO POWER B.

This is a war, not an Edison questionnaire. What ships will you need six years to build, if we are not too inquisitive?

POWER B TO POWER A.

Four battleships, ten light cruisers, fourteen destroyers. And don't blame us for keeping you waiting. If it hadn't been for your old naval holiday pact we would have had everything ready.

POWER A TO POWER B.

Really can't wait six years for our war. Cabinet wants to be considerate as possible, but feels six years' delay excessive. Last time we postponed a war that long we forgot all about it. Public never forgave us. Are you receptive to a proposition?

POWER B TO POWER A.

Shoot us the proposition.

POWER A TO POWER B.

If you will consent to war in three years, instead of six, we will loan you enough ships to establish fighting parity.

POWER B TO POWER A.

Split the difference. Make it four years and we will try our best to get into condition to fight you.

POWER A TO POWER B.

Four years then. We want nothing to happen in this war that would embarrass London conference.

POWER B TO POWER A.

One more detail. In our belief world peace would never be disturbed again, we scrapped all our admirals.

POWER A TO POWER B.

That's all right. We'll let you have some of our admirals.

AND WHY NOT?

F. P. A. wants to know if under the merger Floyd Gibbons will be merged with Graham McNamee and Amos 'n' Andy. Probably the new combine to operate as the Gibamos & McAndy Fresh Air Taxi Co.

And some of the radio programs will, of course, be split four or five for one.

After a man has appeared before a Senate committee he can certainly say he has been insulted by experts.

Add similes: As helpless as a Literary Digest editor who never was very quick at figures.

The next step is to submit the limitations treaty to the Senate, where it will be scrambled, reshuffled, made more baffling than ever and then blamed on the League for the Repeal of Prohibition by Mr. Caraway.

A scientist now advances the theory that time flows two ways and that tomorrow may be day before yesterday or vice versa. Most of us have days when we feel that way.

Time, according to this man, flows (in a manner of speaking) both east and west. Probably the reason life seems so uneventful just now is that the east and west time has stopped on signal to let the north and south traffic pass.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Educate the People to the Evil Effects of Alcoholic Beverages, as in the Cases of Liberty Bonds, Recruitment, Japanese Beetle, &c.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: After more than 40 years of observation of the liquor problem, my conviction is that the present situation, in spite of its faults, is far preferable to the old regime, with its saloon on every corner.

If, therefore, the Government were to publish literature and posters concerning the evil effects of beverage alcohol, just as it deals with the problems of agriculture ("foot and mouth disease," "boll weevil," "Japanese beetle," &c.), there would be not only a clearer appreciation of the real issue involved, but a corresponding improvement in law observance and less necessity for the application of the "strong arm of the law," with its inevitable friction and expense.

During the World War wonderful posters, appealing to patriotism, asking for support of the war program, for the purchase of Liberty bonds, &c., were most effective. How much more important, therefore, it is for the Government to warn, especially our youth, against the dangers and evils of drinking, and to call them to the support of the Constitution against the attacks of thirsty citizens and greedy, selfish brewers and distillers who war against the Constitution and who wish to fill their pockets with money at the expense of their fellow men.

While temperance and reform organizations can, and do, help in this laudable undertaking, I believe that it is more incumbent upon our Government to do this fundamental work. Surely it is not less important to warn our citizens against alcoholic beverages and to call for law observance than it is to "educate" about things that menace our cattle and our crops.

If wet nations like Germany, France and others are issuing, directly or indirectly, pamphlets and posters warning against the evil effects of legalized alcoholic beverages, it is not inconsistent, nor is it less important, for the United States to do likewise against an outlawed evil.

ED J. RICHARDSON.

Drastic Enforcement of the Regulation According Fire Department Vehicles the Right of Way Is Demanded.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Some months ago the Police Department launched a drive for the purpose of acquainting motorists with the necessity of coming to a dead stop when fire engines pass.

There seems to be another lapse in the watchfulness of drivers, as very few of them pull in to the curb and stop at the approach of Fire Department vehicles. Tuesday afternoon the Fire Rescue Squad, preceded by an official of the Fire Department in a touring car, was going west along Pennsylvania avenue. The official's car was leading the rescue squad vehicle by at least half a block. Upon arriving at Fourteenth street the leading car made a left-hand turn and went down Fourteenth street. Traffic did stop for this car, but the larger car, carrying members of the rescue squad, was right behind the official car, and it followed the same route. The sirens could be heard for more than a block, yet a motorist going east on the avenue attempted to cut across Fourteenth street, monopolizing the right of way of the engine. A fatal accident was miraculously avoided by the calm headwork of the driver of the engine.

Fire engines have always had the right of way over all traffic, and they should always have this right of way. The Police Department should start another strenuous drive to enforce the regulations requiring all traffic to pull in to the curb and stop at the approach of fire engines.

Careless drivers who fail to carry out this regulation will sooner or later suffer severe consequences because of their negligence. R. S. K.

Equip All Automobiles With Speed Governors, Otherwise 60,000 People Yearly Are Doomed by Auto Accidents.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is estimated that 31,500 men, women and children were killed by automobiles in the United States in 1929. In Great Britain, for the same year, 6,100 were killed. We may conservatively estimate the killed in the remaining countries of Europe at four times the number given for Great Britain, or, let us say, 24,000. Thus we have a total of 60,000 persons killed by automobiles in Europe and the United States in 1929.

These fatalities are upon the increase. As speed increases, year by year, the harvest of death grows larger. At the very least there are, therefore, 60,000 innocent persons, two-thirds of them women and children, condemned to die a barbarous death in the course of the current year. No effective means are being taken to save them. Their only hope of reprieve lies in a drastic reduction of speed.

All motor vehicles, both public and private, should be equipped with governors limiting their speed, automatically, to a safe and reasonable figure to be established by law.

Another Thinks Traffic Officers Should Not Blow Their Whistles While Pedestrians Are Half Way Across the Street.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: That is a fine idea of the pedestrian correspondent who suggests that the traffic cop at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, where she crosses, going to and coming from work, be detailed to experiment as to the possibility of easing pedestrians across the street without getting them caught midway in the traffic jam.

If the experiment at this crossing should be a success, it can be tried out at others. Let us hope that, it having been demonstrated that traffic cops are not really pedestrian blind, their whistles will no longer be blown while people on foot are only half way across the street.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Future Plans Are Outlined By Miss Olaya

Envoy's Daughter Hopes to Emulate Her Father.

SENORITA MARIA OLAYA, 18-year-old daughter of Dr. Enrique Olaya, president-elect of Colombia, has an ambition to follow in her father's footsteps in journalism and politics. This she disclosed in an interview—her first—given in New York, where she went to meet her distinguished father on his return from Colombia.

Behind Senorita Olaya are centuries of Castilian ancestry and adventuresome forebears, who sailed for Colombia more than two centuries ago. One of her ancestors, Ricaute, is the national hero of Colombia for his part in the war of independence. Her grandfather was one of the foremost writers of the republic. Senorita Olaya, however, spoke of neither of these but of her own aspirations and hopes.

At Notre Dame Academy in Baltimore she has been specializing in writing and public speaking courses, and before that, when she attended Western High School, she held editorial positions on various school publications. She now plans to study for a year in France and to return to an American university.

In spite of her enthusiasm for sports, "especially swimming," her zest for dancing and her thrill over occasional airplane rides, her heart is in the studies which may contribute to a successful career. Senorita Olaya is blue eyed, auburn haired and exceptionally pretty.

Dr. Olaya will return to Washington next week and will resume his duties as Colombian Minister to the United States. Tonight he will be the honor guest of the Pan-American Society at a dinner at the Plaza Hotel in New York, and yesterday he was entertained at luncheon at India House by the Colombian Chamber of Commerce.

Cuban Ambassador Returns to Capital.

The Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrara returned to Washington yesterday after visiting New Orleans and St. Louis.

The Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter have gone to New York to pass the week-end with their sons, Mr. George Peter and Mr. Mau Peter, jr., who make their home there. The Minister and Mme. Peter will return Monday.

The Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro will have as guests over the week-end Senor Octavo Mendez Periera, Minister of Panama to England and France, who is en route to Panama.

The Minister and Senora de Alfaro will go to Easton, Pa., today to attend the model assembly of the League of Nations to be held at Lafayette College, at which Dr. Alfaro is to be a speaker tomorrow morning. Tonight they will be honor guests at a dinner to be given by Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette College, and Mrs. Lewis at the president's house.

The Minister of Bulgaria and Mme. Radeff and the Minister of Czechoslovakia and Mme. Veverka were ranking guests at a dinner given last evening by Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr.

Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley Is Luncheon Hostess.

Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, wife of the Secretary of War, entertained a small company at luncheon yesterday.

Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, will entertain at luncheon today in the Pan American room of the Mayflower.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde will return to Washington tomorrow. Mrs. Hyde and Miss Hyde are visiting in West Point. The Secretary, who was with them there over the week-end, has gone to Chicago for a brief visit.

Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten will entertain at dinner this evening and will later take their guests to the opera. Last evening they gave a dinner and attended the opening performance with their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Britten will leave Washington Tuesday for Atlanta, Ga., where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little for a week. They will attend the opera there and take part in the many entertainments which will accompany the opera season in Atlanta.

Dr. Rowe Entertains At Pan American.

The Director General of the Pan American Union, Dr. L. S. Rowe, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Pan American Annex in honor of Dr. Enrique Gil, secretary of the Argentine-American Cultural Institute. The guests included the Secretary of the Interior, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur; the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Francis White; the United States Minister to Honduras, Mr. Julius G. Lay; the Consul General of the United States in Mexico, Mr. William Dawson; the Right Rev. Mgr. James H. Ryan, rector of the Catholic University of America; Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, president of the George Washington University; Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the University of Maryland; Dr. James Brown Scott, secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace; Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society; Dr. Esteban Gil Borges, Assistant Director of the Pan American Union; Dr. John T. Vance, law librarian of the Library of Congress; Dr. C. E. McGuire, of Washington, and Mr. J. C. Luitweiler, of New York.

Mrs. Hoke Smith Sails For Court Presentation.

Among the American women to be presented at the Court of St. James' on May 15 is Mrs. Hoke Smith, wife of former Senator Hoke Smith, who is also a former Governor of Georgia. Mrs. Smith will leave Atlanta the last of this week and will sail immediately for England. Mrs. Smith will be introduced by Mrs. Charles Gates Dawes, wife of the United States Ambassador to Great Britain, an old friend. Mrs. Smith will tour the continent after her visit in London.

Dr. and Mrs. Macpherson Crichton entertained at dinner last evening in compliment to the Ambassador of Turkey, Mr. Ahmet Muhtar, and to Mme. Slavko Grouitch, wife of the Minister of Jugoslavia to the Court of St. James. Dr. Grouitch was formerly Minister to the United States.

Dr. and Mrs. Davenport White are at the Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, for a week's rest while the latter is convalescing from a serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Munn Are Capital Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurnee Munn, who have been passing the winter at Palm Beach, are at the Wardman Park Hotel for a few days before going to New York.

Miss C. L. Peterkin, of Parkersburg, W. Va., is the guest of Mrs. Margureite du Pont Lee at the Powhatan.

The Misses Anna and Isobel Smith, daughters of Senator and Mrs. Ellison D. Smith are in Washington for a few days, after which they will return to their home in South Carolina.

Maj. and Mrs. Parker West entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the new Chief of Cavalry and Mrs. Guy V. Henry. This evening they will entertain for the Commissioner of the District and Mrs. Herbert Crosby.

Mrs. Charles W. Bunker, wife of Commander Bunker, U. S. N., with Mr. and Mrs. E. Hill, of Stamford, Conn., is at the Grove Park Inn at Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. Bunker is making her home at 2100 Massachusetts avenue while Commander Bunker is at sea.

The Rev. and Mme. Florian Vurpillot have closed their house and will sail for Carlsbad Saturday by the Europa. On their return they will pass the rest of the summer at their house in Williamstown, Mass.

Hebert Family Plans Recital at Club.

Mr. Adrien Hebert, Miss Marguerite Hebert, Miss Katherine Hebert and Mr. Felix Edward Hebert, children of Senator and Mrs. Felix Hebert, will give a recital tomorrow afternoon at the Congressional Club. Mr. Adrien Hebert and Mr. Felix Hebert will play the violin; Miss Marguerite Hebert the cello, and Miss Katherine Hebert the piano. Mr. Adrien Hebert, who has been passing the week with his parents at the Wardman Park Hotel, will return to Providence the early part of next week.

Mrs. Newton Gulick is passing some time in Atlantic City where she is stopping at the Ritz-Carlton.

Hostess at Opera

Harris & Ewing.

MRS. FRED A. BRITTEN, wife of Representative Britten, entertained informally at dinner last night before the opera and will have guests dining with her again tonight as a prelude to attending "Andrea Chenier."

Mrs. Meredith Is Hostess at City Luncheon

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Is Among Guests at Event.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mme. Slavko Grulitch were the guests in whose honor Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith entertained at luncheon yesterday in the Pan-American room at the Mayflower. There were 20 in the company. Mrs. Meredith's late husband was Secretary of Agriculture in President Wilson's administration. She is making her annual springtime visit to Washington and is renewing acquaintance with many old friends.

Mrs. Mededith expects to remain in the Capital until early in May, and will be joined later by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith, jr., whose home is in Des Moines, Iowa. Mrs. Meredith spent most of the winter in Florida, and had with her her daughter, Mrs. F. O. Bohen, who was a welcome visitor in Washington on many occasions while Mrs. Meredith was a member of the Cabinet group. Mrs. Bohen is president of the Junior League of Des Moines.

Mr. Sidney Taliaferro Is on Southern Trip.

Mr. Sidney Taliaferro, former District Commissioner, has gone to Montgomery, Ala., to attend a meeting of the trust section of the American Bankers Association. He will rejoin Mrs. Taliaferro at their home in Georgetown on Sunday.

Miss Rebecca Dial entertained at an informal studio party last night in compliment to Mrs. M. F. Grossheim, Mrs. Charles Stark and Mrs. Clark Winter, of New York, a cousin of the hostess.

Dr. Edith Seville Coale has had as her guests at the Hay-Adams House for the Easter holiday Dr. Rosaria B. Rossell and Mr. William Bender, of Buffalo.

The Art and Archeology League of Washington has sent out cards for a lecture on "The Origin and Development of Medieval Universities," by Canon Anson Phelps Stokes, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in Whitby School of the National Cathedral School for Girls, through the courtesy of Miss Mabel Turner, principal. Mrs. Mitchell Carroll is president of the league and Miss Harriet E. Garrels is secretary.

Changes Planned In Apollo Theater

Owners to Increase the Size of Playhouse in Near Future.

Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., is purchasing ground in the vicinity of their Apollo Theater, at 624 H street northeast, with the idea of enlarging the present structure and making it one of the largest and most modern motion picture houses in the city.

Representatives of the motion picture corporation said yesterday that plans for the structure have not yet been prepared, but that every convenience for the comfort of its patrons and all the latest devices insuring satisfactory motion picture projection would be embodied in them.

Unofficially it is understood they will provide a frontage of 153 feet for the building on H street and a depth of 144 feet. The store space will be afforded in the ground-floor facade, and the seating capacity will be approximately 2,400, making the theater the second largest of Washington.

Tentative plans are understood to call for a change in the present seating arrangement from east to west to one running from north to south. This is because a large alley to the north of the building will permit future enlargement of stage space for the theater or additional facilities for its patrons.

Baltimore Man Faces Charge of $226 Theft

Frank E. Ragland, 25 years old, of Baltimore, Md., was arrested yesterday by Detective Sergt. Oscar Mansfield on the charge of stealing $226 from the safe in the offices of the Capital City News Co., 44 H street northwest.

Ragland is alleged to have been seen loitering about the office. When the money was missed he was suspected and Detective Mansfield scoured the section and located Ragland in a drug store. Police say that they found the money in Ragland's possession. Ragland was charged with grand larceny and was held at the Sixth Precinct Station.

Newcomer Bids Lowest For Eliot High School

W. P. Rose, of Goldsboro, N. C., a newcomer in the ranks of bidders for District contracts, was the lowest of ten bidders for the contract for the construction of the proposed Charles William Eliot Junior High School when bids were opened by Roland M. Vrennan, chief clerk of the engineer department.

Rose bid $425,500. Other bids ranged up to $492,000 by De Sibour Construction Co. Charles H. Tompkins, an established bidder for District contracts was second lowest bidder with a bid of $477,700.

Mr. Peter Jay Entertains at Capital Home

Secretary of Treasury and Mr. Pepper Are Honor Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Augustus Jay entertained a large group at luncheon yesterday at their Washington residence. The guests of honor were the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, who is treasurer of the national committee for Washington Cathedral, and former Senator George Wharton Pepper, of Philadelphia, who is chairman of the Washington Cathedral executive committee.

Following the luncheon Mr. Pepper told of recent activities in the country-wide movement now in progress in behalf of Washington Cathedral. He explained the plans and purpose of the great edifice which is being built on Mount St. Alban and said that the immediate objective was the completion of the north and south transepts for use in 1932 during the national observance of the George Washington bicentenary.

Mr. Coleman Jennings is in Rochester, N. Y., where he went to be best man for the Rev. Charles Leslie Glenn, of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glenn, of Jersey City, at his marriage to Miss Georgianna Farr Sibley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Sibley, of Rochester. The ceremony took place Tuesday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Dougherty to Speak To University Women.

Mrs. John Allan Dougherty will be the principal speaker at a luncheon of the Women's Guild tomorrow at 1 o'clock at the clubhouse of the American Association of University Women. At the guest table will be Mrs. Dougherty, Mrs. George B. Woods, chairman of the committee in charge, Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker, Mrs. James Shera Montgomery, Miss Mary Appel, Mrs. William Fraser McDowell, Mrs. Frederick Davenport, Mrs. John Nicholson, Mrs. W. S. Dewhirst, Mrs. Frank Bristol, Miss Frances Battelle, Mrs. J. Phelps Hand, Miss Elizabeth Pierce.

Hostesses for the various tables will be Mrs. Homer Hoch, Mrs. H. N. Kitzmiller, Mrs. Diller F. Groff, Mrs. Lucius C. Clark, Mrs. H. W. Fisher and Mrs. J. W. Crabtree. The reception committee consists of Mrs. Frank Bal-

Tax Lawyer Sues For $75,000 Fee

Attorney Asserts German Firm Owes Him for Year of Work.

George R. Jackson, an income tax lawyer of Washington, yesterday filed suit in Equity Court seeking to recover $75,000 from the Munchener Ruckversicherungs Gesellschaft, a German reinsurance corporation, for work he alleges he did in redetermining the firm's income tax liability for the years 1917 and 1918, which involved additional tax and specific penalties totaling $1,317,000.

Jackson also seeks a restraining order to prevent Howard Sutherland, alien property custodian, and William O. Woods, treasurer of the United States, from surrendering property of the corporation held by them until his claim is adjudicated.

Jackson states that he found an intricate income tax situation and that after he had worked on the matter for almost a year, discovered that his services had been discontinued and that another attorney had been employed. Efforts to collect the money due him have met with failure, Jackson states. The German firm, according to the petition, maintains branch offices at Hartford, Conn., and New York City.

Woman Traveler Dies.

Mrs. Rebecca Weiner, 60 years old, of 180 West 175th street, New York City, collapsed as she was about to board a train for New York in the Union Station yesterday afternoon. She was carried to the first aid room in the station and was pronounced dead by Dr. J. B. Bayne. Heart trouble was given as the cause of death. The woman was en route to New York from Florida.

Committee Favors McLeod Pound Bill

House District Group Puts Off Merger Action ot May 8.

The McLeod bill to clothe the local poundmaster with police powers and to raise his salary from $2,250 to $3,060 a year was favorably reported yesterday by the House District committee.

Action on the traction merger resolution was postponed to May 8, which makes it unlikely that this measure will be enacted at the present session.

Representative Hull (Republican), of Wisconsin, the most vociferous of the opponents of the resolution, characterized the merger as a stock promotion scheme.

SILVERWARE ROOM, FIRST FLOOR

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

IT has been my purpose throughout the current week to go a little further into detail concerning the improved sound reproduction at the Rialto. During the period of its darkness the Ninth street house underwent a metamorphosis in this regard that is no less than amaging. While it was apparent even to the casual listener, prior to the theater's temporary closing, that all was not well with the sound apparatus, still nothing could be found the matter with it by those who ought to know. So the search for the trouble moved out into the auditorium.

Once out in the gusty spaces of what was erected to be the Capital's only one-floor house, plenty was discovered to be remedied. It is not within my knowledge how many yards of that peculiarly sound-absorbent and echo destroying material known as Bolsom wool were used to eradicate the "soft spots" in the Rialto's acoustics, but they carted the stuff into the back door by the bale. When they were through tacking it up, nailing it down and stretching it this way and that, the result was found to be as you will discover it now—practically perfect.

This method of procedure is not among the newest innovations of the wired theaters, but final outcome of the treatment is not always so successful as it has been found at Ninth and G.

I accord major credit to Andy Sharick, the Rialto's managing director, not so much because he knew he had a problem on his hands as that he never let go of it until he had it whipped.

Reliable advices that reached my desk late Wednesday afternoon are to the effect that "Ingagi"—pronounced "Ingagi"—the attractions opening Saturday at the RKO-Keith Theater is far more than a travelogue. It is a sensationally adventurous combination of big game expedition, love story and weird tribal rites of the natives of the upper Congo. I am confidentially informed that much of the action is such as to make "sensationally adventurous" too conservative by at least five or six adjectives.

It seems that amongst the more advanced thinkers of the upper Congo there is, or was, a deep-seated conviction that it would be a smart thing every year to sacrifice some the women folk to the gorillas. It is upon this spirit of altruism that at least a part of the plot of "Ingagi"—still pronounced "Ingagi"—is based.

Maybe what they thought they were naming it was "I'm Ga-Ga!"

The first of the new theater building projects of which you will hear will be the Warner Brothers new Apollo on H street northeast, on the site of the present neighborhood house but occupying all of the ground formerly devoted to the Apollo al fresco garden, plus more in addition. Seating capacity about 2,400, largest of any residential theater in Washington. In fact, if you will turn to Mr. Cahill's real estate column in today's issue of The Post . . .

There will soon be more than the current vague hints floating around that next week is N. V. A. week in all the theaters. The celebration of this annual observance will culminate this year in a giant midnight benefit performance at the Fox Theater, Friday night, May 2.

This truly festival program will be participated in by the combined rosters of artists of all the playhouses in the city, including the complete stage shows of the Palace and Fox, with Wesley Eddy and Alexander Callam acting as their respective masters of ceremonies. There will be much more about this between now and then.

So you might just as well crack open the boy's bank now and have it over with!

Three holdovers in the first-run picture houses next week. Al Jolson remains at the Metropolitan, Harry Richman at the Columbia and John Boles at the Rialto.

The "Captain of the Guard" engagement at the Rialto, by the way, will only be continued through next Wednesday, the gala premiere of Paul Whiteman's magnificent production of "King of Jazz," adventing locally on Thursday of next week. And watta pitcher!

The links-eyed members of the local industry hold their Film Golf Tournament tomorrow at seven smackers a copy—a bargain, even if you don't believe it!

After flitting about the country from Washington, to Pittsburgh, to Atlantic City, to New York, to Detroit and way stations, Guy Wonders, formerly managing director of the Rivoli Theater in Baltimore, has rejoined the executive staff of the Warner Brothers Theaters in Washington.

And for the ensuing week, it looks something like this: Fox, Warner Baxter and Catherine Dale Owen in "Such Men Are Dangerous," by Elinor Glyn; Palace, Buster Keaton, Anita Page, William Haines, Cecil B. De Mille, Fred Niblo, Trixie Friganza and Richard Carle in "Free and Easy;" RKO-Keith's, "Ingagi"—pronounced "Ingagi;" Earle, George Bancroft in "Ladies Love Brutes;" Metropolitan, Al Jolson in "Mammy," second week; Columbia, Harry Richman in "Puttin' on the Ritz," second week; Rialto, John Boles and Laura La Plante in "Captain of the Guard," second week; Little, Corliss Palmer in "Damaged Souls," second week, for men only.

Now if the moths haven't eaten up the evening clothes and it wasn't the top hat that the trunk fell on and I can only find the other pump, this opera business may not be so bad, at that!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

LIME WATER AND MILK.

THE old custom of adding lime water to the baby's milk has been abandoned because milk of itself is rather too alkaline to be easily digested. In recent years the effort has been to find ways of acidifying milk to be used by babies, and by many adults as well. One of these methods is by souring with various forms of bacteria. Another is by making use of buttermilk and sour milk resulting from the usual changes.

Another line of endeavor is to make milks more digestible by the addition of orange juice, lemon juice, or other fruit juices. A method that has met with the approval of some experienced baby specialists is the addition of lactic acid. Great advantages for lactic acid milk have been claimed and proved.

Drs. Gouce and Templeton propose the use of citric acid, the acid found in the juice of oranges, lemons, and other fruits, instead of lactic acid. The principal point of superiority they claim is ease and convenience. A quart of cow's milk is boiled. As it cools, but before it is cold, sixty grams of citric acid is added. In making lactic acid milk the milk is boiled, then chilled, and, lastly, the acid is added slowly and skillfully. The method, however good it may be, can not be used in homes where there is no refrigerator, or no ice, and some skill and care in adding the acid is a requirement. Citric acid milk can be made in homes where there is no ice box (and this means in most of the homes) and rarely does the acidifying go wrong.

Drs. Gouce and Templeton used citric acid milk in feeding a considerable number of babies under good control. In some instances it was given to babies but a few months old. It was found to be easily digested, not to cause nausea, and not to harm the kidneys. If these physicians have done nothing more they offer baby feeders one promising addition to the group of methods from which to make choice.

R. H. F. writes: Please tell me what to do for my skin. Every time I take a bath I break out with a rash; even when I wash my face and neck I break out like I had the measles. When I scratch welts appear.

REPLY.

My guess is that you have been sensitized to cold and this is a species of nettlerash caused by cold. If so it is unimportant, except as it is inconvenient. If necessary you can use cold creams instead of water. Perhaps changing the temperature of the water may help you.

What Today Means to You

"TAURUS."

IF April 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 12 noon, from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m., and from 10:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 3:15 p. m.

Financial stress is predicted for this date—resources drained on account of others. A helping hand from an elderly relative. A new chapter is commenced in your life, which will be full of vivid experiences.

The child born on this April 24 will at times show signs of perverseness and disagreeableness. Do not give undue importance to its shortcomings, as it will get its balance better if left alone. It will be impulsive, but let it plunge and extricate itself from the muddles of its own making with fortitude.

You have a very restless disposition, your nervous energy will not let you relax for long at a time. It's impossible for people to help liking you, and your shortcomings are accepted with good grace. You vex people one minute, and charm them the next into forgiveness. You are big-hearted, generous and quick-tempered. You are, however, full of repentance for your flashes of fury and are swift to make amends. You never poison your system and mind with stored up grievances. Your emotions are very unsuppressed.

You are too erratic, too temperamental and moody to be dependable. You must have admiration, approbation and approval. A few words of adverse criticism send your spirits to zero, or take all the heart out of your work. You must be in the limelight—you must have some one to play to or the bottom falls out of your life. You are attractive to all types of people, but you do not universally like everybody. You can not be bothered with those who are dull and uninteresting. You do not want to waste your wit and talents on barren soil. You strongly attract, and are attracted to, those of the opposite sex. If you be a woman, you will find other women jealous of you, and that men are your most understanding friends.

Successful people born April 24:

1. John A. Alexander, Orientalist and linguist.
2. Benjamin J. Sweet, soldier.
3. Cyril Maude, English actor.
4. Oliver Cromwell.
5. Sir J. Colman, "The Mustard King."
6. Santos Dumont, aviator.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

Style No. 8291 comes in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44-inches bust.

Lettuce green wool jersey is very chic.

Sherlock Stuff

Bender! There was a name to conjure with! Arch criminal and alias Jimmy Valentine of the A. E. F. Audacious and suave, he gave the criminal investigation branch of the military police much to disturb the otherwise smooth tenor of their downsittings and uprisings. Bender it was who, soon after the armistice, sold one of the lines of the Paris subways to a wealthy Spaniard and secured a substantial first payment in cash. I understand he wore the uniform of a captain of the United States Army and represented to the gullible victim that France was going to repay part of its indebtedness to America by turning over to it one of the lines of the Metro or Nord-Sud (subways), and that he was in charge of taking over same and of selling same to the highest bidder. Oh, well, the Brooklyn Bridge has been "sold" many times, as have the lions on the Connecticut Avenue Bridge. Appearing from time to time in many disguises, Bender proved a hard one to apprehend for one of his numerous crimes, and the search narrowed down to watching a certain lady of Paris with whom he was enamoured. This not proving productive of results, she, on the basis of cherchez la femme, was taken into custody and held in Rue St. Anne "for investigation," the authorities believing that by watching those who came to see her, and with whom she communicated, they would eventually locate Bender. Several days passed; she was clamoring for her freedom, and the officials were yet lacking in information as to their quarry. Finally, in desperation, she was told she might go. She requested that a certain number be called on the telephone and directed to send a cab for her. Shortly a cab drew up to the curb and, after she had entered it, hurriedly speeded away. An officer who accompanied her to the doorway was sure that the fellow driving the cab was none other than Bender. When last heard of Bender was serving time in a military prison.

Getting Souvenirs

After a concentrated fire on a German machine gun nest for about two hours, early one morning about the 26th of October, 1918, our efforts were relieved by the dropping of a shell near enough to the Germans to put them out of action. Having been quite convinced that they could not do further damage, we crept up to investigate what had been their stronghold. Upon arriving there, we found two Austrian soldiers and one German dead near their gun and one Austrian badly wounded trying to crawl away. After getting the wounded man safely on his way to our rear lines, we turned our attention to the other three. The first one I came to was a young Austrian, and searching him I found in the upper lefthand pocket of his blouse several postcards, a note book and a couple of pictures—one of himself. These cards were pierced by the bullet which took his life, he having been shot through the heart. I have these mementoes at home. One is an American card addressed to Mechanic Robert Porter, Camp Merritt, N. J., and forwarded to him to France. How the Austrian came into possession of this card I have never learned—but possibly had procured it much in the same way that I did.

And So Do We

Like all overseas women workers, I had had instructions to report immediately anything that appeared suspicious or out of the ordinary, and to be on the lookout for spies even among persons whom I met socially.

In the Paris pension where I lived, there appeared one day a young and pretty woman whose clothing as well as her manner contrasted strikingly with the worn uniforms and fagged appearance of women war-workers grouped about the pension table.

Introductions followed and it was soon learned that the newcomer was a school teacher from British South Africa caught in England at the outbreak of the war and therefore unable to return to her home and her teaching. She said she had been told that if she could reach New York, she could get a boat directly from there to Cape Town. All the Americans present, in chorus, assured her she had been misinformed. A wounded British officer, on detached service, asked how she had succeeded in leaving England where the labor of every woman was commandeered. She replied, "There was absolutely nothin' that I could do. I tried in every way to fin' somethin' but without success."

According to her daily reports, she continued to seek a field for service in Paris but unsuccessfully. A week later she signed up for a course in French literature at the Sorbonne. When she announced this, the women at the table found it difficult to be polite and the men had ceased to notice her soon after arrival.

This was in March, 1918, when everyone was keyed up, tense with apprehension and working over time. Although all the men and women at the pension knew that certain subjects were defendu, human nature forced us to talk and there was much said at our pension table that might be of importance to a spy.

My suspicions of the idle blonde came to a head when I saw her appear in a uniform like that worn by the women of the Y. M. C. A., a perfect copy but without insignia. When questioned, she said she had it made because she felt safer in a uniform when all the other women were wearing them.

The last incident sent me to the headquarters of the U. S. Secret Service in Paris, where I told the story to a young man who took down my report without comment save to ask me to notify the office if the lady moved.

The next day the lady did move. She said she was discontinuing her studies at the Sorbonne because she had been officially informed that it would be closed because it was too much in the line of shelling. She expressed much annoyance because the money she had paid in advance would not be returned.

When I reported this at G-2 B, to the same young man, he showed me a folder four inches thick with typed sheets—the record of my fellow-boarder. I did not have the satisfaction of reading it, nor did I know what became of her except that she disappeared mysteriously from her second pension.

Amateur sleuthing has its drawbacks. One misses the end of the story.

A Somnambulist

At the beginning of the Meuse-Argonne offensive we were stationed some ten or twelve miles from the front, having previously been engaged establishing lines of communication in connection with the impending drive. Suddenly a detachment was ordered out and hurried off in trucks. All night we pushed on at a snail's pace through a shell-torn country. In the morning we shouldered rolls of wire and leaving our packs behind started for Montfaucon. Through that desert land that was once the Argonne Forest we pushed on. Roads that lead back from the front were crammed with trucks, wagons, ambulances, &c. Engineers worked frantically to repair these roads so that traffic could be moved. These roads were furrowed by great shell holes and here and there great pieces of road were torn away even as they were being repaired.

It was through this devastated country we pushed on toward Montfaucon loaded with rolls of wire like pack horses, climbing over barbed wire, through trenches, up hills and down again with an occasional rest. At the foot of one particular rough incline we rested a bit; then shouldering our load of wire we trudged on slowly up the hill. We were about at the top when I noticed Corporal ——— laboring on—step by step as if his load was unusually heavy—but he carried nothing. He had forgotten his load of wire and left it at the bottom of the hill when we rested. One can imagine his chagrin at having to retrace his steps, shoulder his load and do his act all over again—but this time with a weight on his back.

Delicious—New!

. . . a luscious cereal with a "VEGETABLE EFFECT"

See how it wins your children.

You, Mother, know the good that vegetables do in regulating the important health-habits of children. But you are aware also of the difficulty of getting such good foods consumed in right amounts, so this new delicious cereal should be a boon to you. The reason is this:

HEINZ of "57" fame has included a fine cereal-cellulose in flavory, crunchy, oven-toasted flakes of rice—a natural food-substance which is part of rice itself.

NOT BRAN

No, this food-substance isn't bran. It is soft and fluffy—not harsh or irritant in any way. Its volume, however, is increased four to six times by the absorption of moisture after eating, forming the mildest, gentlest, natural bulk and roughage that Science has developed.

HEINZ with more than 60 years' experience in food making, spent 8 years in perfecting it.

Proof is easy, Mother. Let a children's jury try these alluring Rice Flakes on the point of flavor only. If they sustain our claims to the most delicious of all cereal flavors, let your children have this luscious food twice daily for one week to start the regulating "vegetable effect"; once daily thereafter to continue it.

IN ONE FOOD ONLY

Here is a food the benefits of which you need not "take on faith". In a few days children's health-habits are definitely improved. And you need do no urging—think what that means to you! If you are not satisfied in every way, your grocer will refund the purchase price.

Of course HEINZ Rice Flakes contain all the usual energizing food value of rice. Don't serve in place of vegetables but to supplement them.

Remember that HEINZ patents control this extraordinary feature, in the daintiest of all flaked foods. No other cereal of any type supplies it. To get it for your children, therefore, you must insist on HEINZ Rice Flakes, for no other cereal will answer if you want to make this test.

Just as good for grown-ups as for children.

ASK YOUR PHYSICIAN

He will tell you of the importance of the effects of cereal-cellulose in the absorption of moisture and the resulting bulk.

Plans are in the making during the Vita-Minutes

What salesman wouldn't grab at a chance to get to prospects when they are rested and refreshed, when the pressure of the day's activities isn't claiming them, when the day's purchases are still to be made?

It can't be disputed that the best time in which to tell people about your merchandise is some time when they're willing to listen—and when they have a chance to listen.

And there is, of course, a time of day when buyers aren't disturbed by telephones ringing, or appointments pressing, or callers asking for them. It's the very time, too, when they are rested and refreshed, with all the day before them and many of the day's decisions still in the making—with room for new questions to arise, and be themselves decided for same-day action.

What a made-to-order time to get them to thinking about the day's purchases!

And that is just the time when both their doors and their minds are opened to the morning paper. That's just the time when The Post—the welcomed outside visitor into homes during the Vita-Minutes hours—is being unfolded, read, is furnishing most of the subjects of family conversation.

That's just the time to talk to the people whom you'd like to make into customers.

Homes, homes, homes—The Post goes, every morning, into thousands of homes in the District of Columbia and in adjoining Maryland and Virginia—and goes into those homes during the Vita-Minutes, when people's plans for the day are in the making.

The Washington Post.

THE CAPITAL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

OIL STOCKS CLIMB; STEEL ISSUES DROP

Market Is Quite Irregular as 5,500,000 Shares Are Traded.

RADIO-KEITH UP 6 POINTS

New York, April 23 (A.P.) Strenuous efforts to revive the bull movement in stocks in the face of large-scale nervous selling from traders dissatisfied with current business reports sent prices churning about confusedly in today's market and piled up total sales of more than 5,500,000 shares, the largest in nearly two weeks.

Some of the oils, amusements, utilities and specialties made sharp gains, but steels and several leading industrials were inclined to sag, and at the close, gains and losses about balanced, the index of 90 leading shares showing a gain for the day of only 1-5 of 1 point. The market displayed marked buoyancy in the early afternoon, but heavy selling appeared in the last half hour and gains achieved earlier shrank rapidly.

Speculative sentimnet remained highly confused. Pool operators were encouraged by the stemming yesterday of the stream of liquidation which developed sizable proportions on Monday, and some commission houses advised their customers that the market's technical position had been greatly improved. Others, however, continued to urge lightening of accounts on bulges, and the maintaining of liquid position until business recovery becomes more pronounced.

Steel Outlook Satisfactory.

There was little in the day's news to influence the market either way, although oils were stimulated by report of the ending of a price-cutting war between Dutch-Shell and Standard interests in the Near East, higher gasoline prices on the Pacific Coast, and estimates showing that higher production in California last week was offset by curtailment elsewhere. The weekly steel trade reviews indicated that conditions are fairly satisfactory.

Although buying continues of a hand-to-mouth character, increasing requirements of automobile manufacturers tends to offset smaller buying by railroads. Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co., stated that he did not look for marked business revival until after July 1.

Standard Oil of New Jersey surged up 5 points, to 83¾, exceeding its 1929 record level by nearly a point. It closed at 82½. Radio-Keith shot up nearly 6 points, to 48¾, within ½ of its record for all time, reached before the autumn crash. American Water Works, A. M. Byers, J. I. Case, Diamond Match, General Foods, and Ingersoll Rand were rushed up 4 to 11 points to new 1930 highs, although much of these advances were lost before the close.

Anaconda Touches New Low.

Anaconda and Kennecott lost about 3 and 2 points, reaching new lows for the year, and National Cash Register and Eureka Vacuum touched new low levels for 1930. Such pivotal shares as American Can, General Electric, International Harvester and Johns Manville lost about 2 points. Electric Power & Light, recently a buoyant feature, tumbled 3 points, and Vanadium, another bull favorite of late, fell back 8 points. Republic, Youngstown and Bethlehem Steels lost a point or two, and U. S. Steel closed barely steady.

Credit conditions were stationary. Call loans officially ranged from 4 to 3½ per cent, but were available in the outside market at 3. Foreign exchanges were firm, sterling cables rising 3-16 to $4.86 5-16, as expectations of a lower Bank of England rate this week vanished with a rise in French franc exchange on London, close to the point at which shipments of gold from London to Paris would be profitable.

Commodities were firm. Wheat gained 1⅛ to 1⅝ cents a bushel on less favorable weather and crop reports, and better export sales. Corn remounted nearly as much. Cotton rallied $1.30 to $2.25 a bale.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 23 (A.P.)—Something akin to buoyancy returned to the wheat market today after a fortnight of declines which had pulled prices down 14 cents a bushel. Sudden huge broadening out of export business in wheat from North America was largely responsible for the right-about-face action of the market, and so, too, was the fact that Federal Farm Board quantities of the immense holdings of the allies were taking ownership of immense delivery contracts. Furthermore, drought complaints were again at hand from the Southwest, with a sheet frost predicted for parts of Kansas and Oklahoma unless rains come soon.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¾c to 1⅛c up, oats, ¾c to ⅞c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

Estimates were current that European purchases of wheat to be shipped from Canada and the United States had reached an aggregate of 12,500,000 bushels or more in the last 48 hours. The total was said to include good-sized quantities of No. 2 domestic hard winter wheat to go by way of the Gulf of Mexico, and significance was also attached to the fact that Pacific Coast bids were likewise apparently on a working basis. Meanwhile, special notice was being taken of the official weekly crop report from Washington saying that, despite rains, the drought Southwest is still largely unrelieved, with wheat deterioration in particular, as well as central and western Oklahoma.

Adding to the force of today's upturns in wheat values were unofficial advices indicating that the winter wheat belt of Kansas and Oklahoma has a very unpromising outlook and that under any conditions hereafter a bumper crop this season is unlikely. It was pointed out in this connection that prices of late had declined to where they were four weeks ago. Then, last, talk was heard that exporters yesterday and today had accomplished more than during any similar time in many months, with millers abroad buying and with Liverpool quotations showing a best premium over Chicago that has prevailed in a long while.

Corn and oats advanced with wheat, besides, contract stocks of corn in Chicago are now almost 12,000,000 bushels, less than at this time a year ago, and country offerings are light last year, and country offerings are light.

Provisions were somewhat firmer because of scattered buying despite downturns in hog values.

BOND MARKET IDLE; MONEY RATES DROP

RAIL INQUIRY SLUGGISH

New York, April 23 (A.P.).—The bond market drifted idly today in the dullest session of the month. Sales totaled only a shade above $10,000,000, due to the slowness of most of the convertibles. Investment rails held their Tuesday gains, but the list in general was irregular.

Money was plentiful and dull. Call loans again dropped to 3½ per cent, but rates on term accommodations were unchanged. United States Governments ruled higher on small dealings. Treasury 3¾s advanced 11-32, the day's largest gain.

With the usual exception of American Telephone 4½s, the most active domestic issue was the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron convertible 6s, which mounted with the stock to a new high. The bond touched 106¾, its highest price since last fall, and the closing figure of 105½ represented a net gain of 4¼. International Telephone 4½s finished 2¾ above previous close.

General Theaters 6s sagged 3¼ on the offering of the additional issue. Shubert Theaters 6s advanced 4 points, in line with the strength in the amusement stocks, while Warner Bros.' Pictures 6s were unusually active but failed to move. The company is planning to list another block of the debentures to the amount of nearly $16,000,000, and will use part of the proceeds to pay for acquisition of the phonograph and radio divisions of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co.

Inquiry for the rails was sluggish. Minor advances appeared in an assortment of high grade bonds, including Santa Fe general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio refunding 5s, Central Pacific first 4s, New York Central debenture 4s, Pennsylvania gold 5s and Southern Pacific collateral 4s.

Inland Steel 4½s, Gulf States Steel 5½s, Pressed Steel Car 5s, International Match 5s, Goodyear Tire 5s and Gould Coupler 5s were firm items in the industrial classification. Utilities were exceptionally dull and slightly easy.

Trading in the bonds of Chile featured the foreign group. The 6s sold off ¼ to ¾ on unusually large turnovers, to the accompaniment of reports of new financing by that nation. Prices of prominent European government loans were mostly lower. Sao Paulo State 6s and 8s improved.

ACACIA OFFICIALS AGAIN REELECTED

RECORD BUSINESS SEEN

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Reelection of all officers for another year featured a meeting yesterday of the board of directors of the Acacia Mutual Life Association held at the Temple of Service, First street and Indiana avenue northwest.

William Montgomery, who has been Acacia's active head for more than 35 years, again was elected to the presidency of the life insurance association. During Mr. Montgomery's affiliation with Acacia, the organization has grown from a small local insurance association with two small rooms for headquarters to its present national stature, occupying a magnificent home office building in the Capital, having branches located in leading cities throughout the Nation and with approximately $350,000,000 of insurance in force.

J. Harry Cunningham was reelected vice president; J. P. Yort, secretary and treasurer; J. Claude Keiper, treasurer; Charles E. Baldwin, assistant treasurer, and Dr. J. B. Nichols, medical director.

Directors at the meeting yesterday were informed that April business of the association is setting new records and that it already is clearly apparent that a new high mark will be established for this period. It was pointed out that Acacia's branches throughout the country are cooperating splendidly in the effort to make April an epochal month in the association's history.

Telephone Revenue Is $142,352.

Telephone operating revenues for the month of March were $711,521 with operating expenses of $519,043, the report of operations of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia shows. Net revenues after deducting taxes and uncollectible were $142,352.

For the three months ended March 31 the company's operating revenues amounted to $2,126,572. Operating expenses for this period were $1,577,-218, making net revenues after deducting taxes and uncollectible $402,-229.

Gross additions to plant and equipment in the District of Columbia for the three months ending March 31 were $1,091,905. Retirements during this period were $386,331, making net additions $705,574. Net additions to plant for the twelve months ending March 31 were $3,753,744.

A net gain of 933 telephones were added to the system in Washington during March, making 160,946 telephones in service at the end of the month. Telephone users made 17,-752,600 calls, which was an increase of about 4 per cent over the number made during the same month last year.

District Life Insurance Gains.

New life insurance written in the District in March showed a gain of more than 15 per cent over the month a year ago, according to the monthly report of the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn.

President John B. Larner, of the Washington Loan & Trust Co., is back from a two weeks' vacation at Hot Springs, Va.

The McLachlen Banking Corporation has sent out invitations to the opening of its new Southwest branch at 310 Fourteenth street southwest next Monday.

Vice President George H. O'Connor of the District Title Co. has been appointed a delegate to the convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce to represent the American Title Association.

A group headed by Guaranty Co. of New York is offering today $30,000,000 five year 6 per cent gold notes of the Van Sweringen Corporation, due May 1, 1935, at 100 and accrued interest.

Each note will have attached thereto warrant entitling the holder to purchase 20 shares of common stock of the corporation, at $25 per share. This is the price at which the common stock is being issued to the organizers for the assets which are being acquired by the corporation.

VIRGINIA NINE WINS OVER TIGERS

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 23. After Princeton had pushed over three runs in the ninth to tie the score, Virginia registered the winning tally in her half of that frame to take a 7-to-6 victory here today and break even in a two-game series with the Tigers.

The Cavaliers drove Aicher from the mound in the seventh with a fusillade of hits, one of which, Finder's triple, scored three runs. The Tigers knotted the count in the ninth, when two bungling plays by Delafield, substitue first baseman, coupled with two passes, a wild pitch and a screeching double by Hendisy, accounting for three runs. Virginia won out in her half of the ninth. Holland, pinch hitting for Delafield, was hit by a pitched ball and Pinder reached first on Camerson's wide peg to first base.

Weaver Drives Out Single.

Weaver drove a slashing hit to right field and continued to second when Bennett threw to hold Holland on third. This put two Virginia men on second base and one on third, and while the Tiger infielders were figuring what to do Holland raced home with the winning run.

Three fast double plays featured Virginia's defensive play in the early innings. Bryant led in the attack, hitting safely four out of five times up. Austin and Biernals drew passes in the second and scored Princeton's first two runs. Wittmer started the third frame with a triple and registered on a fielder's choice. Capt. O'Toole and Austin fielded sharply for the Tigers.

All-Marine Tossers Beat Manhattan, 6 to 1

Quantico, Va., April 23.—The All-Marine Baseball Team again defeated Manhattan College here today by a score of 6 to 1. Couch, the Sea Soldiers' twirler, was in rare form, allowing but four hits and fanning nine of the collegians. Their lone tally was made when Shands' second hit went through Gatewood, allowing the batter to circle the sacks.

For the Devil Dogs, Casey and Gatewood each hit for the circuit, while Capt. Eddie Gorman helped himself to a triple and double. Billie Tolan, the home team's short fielder, played a sparkling game at his new position, while Munari at second accepted seven chances. Noonan and O'Neill, for the visitors, played a fine game afield, disposing of ten batters.

Special to The Washington Post.

Williamsburg, Va., April 23.—William and Mary won its ninth straight game by defeating Boston College, 2-1, today in a contest featured by the hitting of Engelbert, the Indians' right fielder.

Sundin, William and Mary sophomore, pitching his first varsity game, had the edge on Dixon, his Hub City opponent, allowing but four hits and striking out seven. Wallace, by fast handling of Colbert's triple in the seventh, saved it from being a homer and the game for William and Mary.

Virginia Poly Nine Beats Generals, 7-2

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., April 23.—Reggie Mapp kept Washington and Lee hits well scattered today and led the attack to hurl V. P. I. to a 7-2 win over the Generals. He fanned seven, was master with men on base, scored one run, drove in another, and garnered three hits in four times up.

Port Deposit, Md., April 23.—The Tome Golfers defeated the Peddie linksmen here today to continue their string of victories by an 8½ to 3½ score. There were no good individual scores due to the cold and high winds.

ARMY GAME IS TEST FOR MARYLAND

Lacrosse Players Are Ready for Fray Saturday.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND'S lacrosse squad reveled in the snappy weather yesterday, but the Old Line Ball Team was not so joyous as the two combinations prepped for their engagements with West Point aggregations at College Park Saturday.

The lacrosse players staged their last hard scrimmage prior to the test with the Cadets and the diamond squad had a practice tilt among themselves. However, Coach Burton Shipley's diamonders will have a chance to tune up for the West Pointers as they have a game with Washington and Lee tomorrow.

Faber to Name Team Today.

Coach Jack Faber of the stickwielders will make up his mind today as to his definite line-up for Saturday's battle. It is a certainty that Jimmy Lee, a reserve until last week, will start in one of the attacking positions, and it is just possible that Harry Wilson will go back to the defense.

Work will be completed today on the new grandstand and the sodding along the side lines and tomorrow will be utilized to put the new diamond, that will be dedicated Saturday, in spic and span trim for the occasion.

The ball game Saturday will start at 2 o'clock with the lacrosse struggle two hours later.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 23.—Episcopal High School Tennis Team, being defeated for the first time yesterday afternoon by Western High School of Washington, will get back into action tomorrow against the St. Christopher Team from Richmond, Va. The matches will be held at the local school courts and a large crowd is expected to be on hand.

The interclass track meet that was scheduled at the Alexandria High School last week was postponed until tomorrow afternoon, when the four classes at the local school will battle for honors. A trophy will be given the class scoring the most points. The event will start promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

The annual banquet to the St. Mary's Celtics Basket Ball Team was given last night by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kurshman, and proved to be a big success. Gold basket balls were given the members of the team. Jack Tulloch was toastmaster, while Fred Pettitt acted as master of ceremonies. Those receiving the basket balls were Capt. Warren Zimmerman, Wilbur Wright, Morris Cohan, Lester McMenimam, Carl Dreifus, Larry Kersey, Jack Allen, Earl Cronin, Bussy Brenner, Ellett Cabell, Eddie Gorman and Manager Robert McDonald.

The St. Mary's Celtics will face another strong opponent on the ball field Sunday afternoon when the Takoma Park Tigers come to this city. The Celtics dropped their opening game, but will try to swing into the win column this week. Carl Dreifus, local boy, will more than likely take the mound, with Kidwell doing the catching.

Alexandria High School Baseball Team dropped its first game in the Third District race yesterday when Washington and Lee High School tripped it, 23 to 4. Coach Reynolds could not find a pitcher that could stop the Arlington County team, while Rosenberg was pitching airtight ball. On Friday the local high school will play its second game at Fredericksburg against the high school of that city.

V. P. I. Names Leaders In Three Winter Sports

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., April 23.—Captains and managers of V. P. I. winter sports teams for the coming session were announced today.

Charles B. Baker, Winchester, diminutive forward and high scorer of the Tech Quintet during the 1930 season, will captain the 1931 varsity basket ball team. Ben F. Woodson, Richmond, was chosen manager, and John R. Kernan, of Bristol, was named manager of the 1931 freshman team. Junior managers for the coming years are Chrales M. Ballard, Exmore; Marvin W. Doyle, Roanoke, and Lewis B. Wilkins, Turbeville.

The 1931 boxing captain is Herbert L. "Irish" Mehaffey, of McKeesport, Pa., scrappy 145-pounder. Mehaffey is just a sophomore and boxed in varsity togs for the first time last winter. He is the first underclassman ever elected captain of the Polytech fighters. A. Mosby Harris, of Richmond, was chosen manager. Junior managers for 1931 are Robert A. Bondurant, jr., Roanoke; David A. Neff, New Philadelphia, Ohio, and Leroy D. Patterson, Danville.

Joseph H. Bailey, Kinsale, mainstay in the 145-pound class for the past three years, was elected captain and manager of the 1931 wrestling team. John B. Whitmore, of Wellville, was named junior assistant manager in football.

Navy Nine Extended To Beat Villanova

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 23.—Although outhit by a ratio of 3 to 1, the Navy Baseball Team pulled through to victory over the fast nine of Villanova College of Pennsylvania here today by a score of 6 to 5.

The game was scrappily contested all the way, particularly in the ninth stanza when the visitors were making a final desperate effort to overcome their lost early advantage, and vehemently protested a close decision by Umpire Greene at the plate, which resulted in Second Baseman Deluca being banished from the game for rough talk and what bore every semblance of an attempt to attack the arbiter.

The Middies had one big inning in which they won the game, the sixth in which they scored all of their runs. Up to that frame, Kolibis, who had held the Tars at his mercy, became unsteady, and issued four free tickets. He also contributed a wild pitch, and two singles told the rest of the story.

ELLA CINDERS—No Chance to Explain — By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb

Ella and Blackie, homeless, awakened after sleeping in a tenement hallway, to find an abandoned baby in a bundle near them. It was placed there by a mysterious, veiled woman who was being pursued.
WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WITH THE BABY, ELLA? GEE, WE CAN'T EVEN FEED OURSELVES AND WE DON'T KNOW THE ADDRESS OF A SINGLE KIND-HEARTED COW!
WE'LL TRY TO FIND THE MOTHER AND RETURN HER CHILD! SHE'S PROBABLY FRANTIC WITH WORRY! IF SHE OFFERS TO PAY US, I'LL SAY WE CAN'T THINK OF ACCEPTING A THING EXCEPT A YOUNG GROCERY FOR BREAKFAST AND A TOWN HOUSE IN THE COUNTRY!
I'LL INQUIRE HERE! THEY MAY KNOW THE PARENTS! YOU STAND GUARD, BLACKIE, AND DON'T LET ANYBODY HAVE HER WITHOUT A BIRTH CERTIFICATE AND CLOSE FAMILY RESEMBLANCE!
YEH, OR UNLESS SOMEBODY WHISTLES TO IT AND IT RUNS TO HIM!
HERE, YOUNG LADY, I SAW YOU! YOU CAN'T ABANDON YOUR BABY ON THAT DOORSTEP! TAKE IT ALONG NOW, OR I'LL LOCK YOU UP FOR SO LONG THAT WHEN YOU GET OUT THE BABY WILL HAVE WHISKERS AND GRANDCHILDREN!
HONEST, OFFICER, I CAN EXPLAIN! BUT YOU WON'T LET ME!

GASOLINE ALLEY — Walt's Courage Never Wavers

I'VE BEEN THINKING OF WHAT YOU SAID ABOUT MONEY THE OTHER DAY, MR. WICKER. I WONDER IF IT IS TRUE OR IF IT WAS JUST YOUR MOOD AT THE TIME.
SIT DOWN WALT AND I'LL TELL YOU MORE ABOUT IT. MONEY IS OBSEQUIOUS BUT INSINCERE. IT MAKES YOU BELIEVE YOU ARE ITS MASTER AND ALL THE TIME IT IS YOURS. YOU MAY HAVE YOUR OWN WAY IN LITTLE THINGS BUT IT HAS IT'S WAY IN THE BIG THINGS. YOU MAKE THE GESTURE OF DIRECTING IT BUT MORE AND MORE IT DIRECTS YOU.
BUT YOU WOULDN'T GO BACK TO THE OLD TIMES WHEN YOU DIDN'T HAVE WEALTH.
JUST ANOTHER EVIDENCE OF IT'S MASTERY, WALT. IT PAMPERS YOU WITH NEW LUXURIES, AND PERMITS YOU ENOUGH PETTY FREEDOM TO MAKE YOU THINK YOU COULDN'T LIVE WITHOUT IT. THEN IT EXACTS A TOLL WHICH IS AS WEIGHTY AS IT'S BENEFITS.
WELL IN SPITE OF ALL THAT, I THINK I'LL TAKE A CHANCE IF IT COMES MY WAY.
BY ALL MEANS, I AM NOT GLORIFYING THE LACK OF IT, MERELY WARNING YOU THAT IT WILL NOT GIVE YOU EITHER ALL THE JOY OR FREEDOM YOU EXPECT.

STRONG DEFENSE GETS NATS AWAY TO FAST START

Hunter Wins Match; Bell Collapses

Foe Demands Default After Youth Is Carried Off Court.

Veteran, Near Defeat, Criticized; Mangin, G. U., Beaten.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 23 (A.P.).—Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, advanced to the semifinals of the Mason and Dixon tennis championship today by claiming a default from Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Tex., after the youthful Texan collapsed when he was within 1 point of the match.

The startling finish was not satisfactory to the large gallery, but the committee was unanimous in supporting the decision of the referee, S. Howard Voshell, to whom Umpire Beals C. Wright appealed for final ruling.

Wilmer Allison, jr., of Austin, Tex., eliminated John Doeg, of Santa Monica, Calif., No. 3 ranking player, earlier in the afternoon by a pretty display of aggressiveness in four sets. The score was 7—9, 6—3, 6—3, 6—2.

Van Ryn to Meet Hunter.

John Van Ryn, of South Orange, N. J., earned the right to oppose Hunter in the upper bracket of the semifinals by defeating Gregory Mangin, Georgetown University player, 1—6, 6—2, 6—3, 6—2.

George M. Lott, jr., of Chicago, defeated Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., 6—0, 6—4, 6—2.

On Thursday, Hunter will play John Van Ryn, while Lott will meet Allison.

The Hunter-Bell match was the outstanding contest at the time of Bell's collapse from a painfully cramped leg as the players held two sets each, with Bell leading six to five in the fifth set and with the vantage point. After dropping the first set, Hunter displayed a crushing attack that wore down his less conditioned opponent and won the second and third sets, 7—5, and 6—4. Returning to the court after the ten minute allowed rest, Bell gained an early lead in the fourth set, but Hunter recovered to even the match five all. Bell held the odd game and won the set at 11—9.

Bell Gains Advantage Point.

The fifth set was similar and after the games were 5-all Bell won his service to lead, 6-5. Hunter, serving, won two points and then allowed Bell to even the points. The game went to deuce and Bell gained the advantage point. At this moment he fell to the court and cried out in anguish with a cramped leg.

Hunter watched several spectators carry Bell to a chair on the sidelines and then walked to Umpire Wright's chair and demanded that the match be continued or that a forfeit be given. With this he picked up his rackets and sweaters and walked off the court to the dressing rooms.

In two or three minutes Bell rose, limped to the court and said he wished to continue the play. The committee then met privately with Umpire Wright and S. Howard Voshell.

When the match was awarded to Hunter by default, the audience drifted away, many criticizing Hunter for alleged unsportsmanship, others holding that having worn out his opponent Hunter was entitled to take advantage of his superior physical condition.

French Would Ban Tilden For Competing With Pro

Paris, April 23 (A.P.).—Disqualification of Bill Tilden because of his match with the professional, Karel Kozelu, is being demanded of the French Tennis Federation by a portion of the French press.

Andre Foulon, general secretary of the federation, declared today, however, that this would not be done.

"Even admitting that Tilden broke the rules of amateur tennis in France," he said, "the French Tennis Federation would not act. It would be up to the International Tennis Federation or his own United States Lawn Tennis Association.

"You may announce that as far as the French federation is concerned, Tilden's entry for the French hard-court championship May 19 is accepted."

Unbeaten Vander Pool Wins $10,000 2-Year-Old Race

Mrs. M. P. Allen's 2-year-old colt, Vander Pool, by Campfire, scored his sixth successive triumph yesterday, when he won the $10,000 Aberdeen Stakes for Juveniles at Havre de Grace, equaling the track record.

Allen Colt Beats Up by Length at Graw in Sixth Start.

By J. B. SNODGRASS

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., April 23.—Fifteen thousand lovers of King Horse yelled themselves hoarse here this afternoon as Mrs. M. P. Allen's Vander Pool, a 2-year-old son of Camp Fire—Bramble Rose, stepped four and one-half furlongs in 53 seconds to equal the track record and win the $10,000 added Aberdeen stakes.

The veteran Bill Kelsay gave the unbeaten colt a powerful ride from flag fall to wire to have him home a handy winner over Admiral Cary T. Grayson's Up, with H. P. Whitney's Equipoise taking third money from the Nevada Stock Farm's Siskin. It was Vanderpool's sixth start.

After a six-minute delay at the barrier, Starter Milton dispatched the field of ten in alignment. Up broke from No. 1 position running, but he had not reached the first turn before Vander Pool was on even terms with him.

Vander Pool Shows Class In the Stretch.

Coltiletti whipped and drove Up and managed to keep the Washington-owned colt on top until after the field had entered the home stretch. Once straightened out in the stretch, Vander Pool proved his class by slowly, but surely, moving to the front to start drawing away from Up at the sixteenth pole.

It was strictly a two-horse race throughout, with Vanderpool's class carrying him to victory in the final sixteenth.

Equipoise and Siskin, who ran third and fourth, respectively, after leaving the back lane, finished as named. They were running gamely through the home lane and should improve off today's effort.

Vander Pool's time equaled the previous figures of Mother Goose, Single Foot, Fiddle Sticks and Rock Man.

In today's race Vander Pool carried 122 pounds, whereas the other holders of the record all had less poundage up.

The purse of $12,250, which the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association turned over to Mrs. Allen today, constitutes a new money record for the Aberdeen.

Today's score was Vander Pool's sixth. He had previously won three races at Miami, Fla., and a pair at the recent Bowie session.

Michigan Boy Takes Chesapeake Trial.

The Chesapeake trial—a mile and 70 yards affair, offered as a tightener for the candidates for the $10,000 Chesapeake, mile and one-sixteenth feature to be run Saturday—saw J. L. Pontius' Michigan Boy win from Harry Payne Whitney's Crazy Coot, with the latter's stablemate taking the show money from G. W. Foreman's Ned O.

When the field of five left the Waite stall gates, Crazy Coot was quickest to find his racing legs. He led around the turn with Michigan Boy, Skirl, Battleship and Ned O running in the order named.

In the run down the back lane, Crazy Coot opened a two-length lead on his field, with Skirl moving ahead of Michigan Boy.

Rounding the far turn, the field started closing in on Crazy Coot, and they hit the turn for home in a bunch. Workman slipped over to the rail with Crazy Coot, while Robertson brought Skirl up alongside, thus blocking Ned O's attempt to come through in his favorite spot. In the meantime, Michigan Boy was running

G.U. Runners In Fast Trials

Kelly, Carlin, Briggs, Burke in 2 Relays at Penn Games.

Wildermuth Recovered From Injury, to Run in Dashes.

CHEERED by their good work in time trials yesterday afternoon, Georgetown's trackmen depart this afternoon for Philadelphia where they will compete in the Penn relays tomorrow and Saturday. Running on the Central Stadium track, the Hilltop thin-clads turned in various times which on the whole indicated that they are in the best condition they have enjoyed to date this spring.

Coach John D. O'Reilly stated afterward that, while he would not predict victory for his charges, their rivals would "have to go some" to beat them.

Jim Kelly, slim-built sophomore sensation, who will run on both the mile and sprint medley relay teams, covered a half mile in 1 minute 57 seconds for the most impressive performance in the trials.

Same Quartet Entered In 2 Events.

Kelly will do the first leg of the mile relay and the anchor of the sprint medley, the respective distances for him being a quarter-mile and a half-mile. Others in the mile relay lineup are Chuck Carlin, Artie Briggs and Vic Burke. The same trio will accompany Kelly in the sprint medley, Burke running a quarter, and Carlin and Briggs each 220 yards.

Georgetown also will have a two-mile relay team in action, with Louis Ricca, Jay Julicher, Jack Mara and John Downing handling the four half-mile legs in the order named.

Karl Wildermuth, intercollegiate 100-yard champion, who will compete with George Simpson, world's record holder, of Ohio State, in the feature 100-yard dash; Leo Sexton, who will offer contention in the high jump, shot, discus and hammer; Erik Kjellstrom, hurdler; Clarion Cosh and Lew Parlette, decathlon hopefuls; Bernie Bonniwell, high jumper, and Bill Siezak, weight tosser, will carry the Blue and Gray banner in individual events.

Kjellstrom Only Winner For G. U. Last Year.

Kjellstrom last year was Georgetown's only individual winner at the Penn carnival. He won the 400-meter hurdles, in which event he again is entered, Kelly, Carlin, Briggs and Burke captured the freshmen mile relay race in the fine time of 3:23 flat.

Much interest is centered on the reappearance of Wildermuth, who has been inactive since January 18 on account of an injury to his right leg. He tested the ailing member in two century sprints yesterday without feeling any ill effect. Despite the fact that he ran in sweat shirt and trousers and did not extend himself, he was timed in 10.4 seconds.

Browns Beat Tigers, Despit Ten Walks

St. Louis, Mo., April 23 (A.P.).—Dick Coffman was wild, but the Tigers could do nothing with his delivery when hits meant runs, and St. Louis defeated Detroit, 5 to 1, here today. Coffman issued ten bases on balls. Detroit's two pitchers, Herring, who started, and Samuels, his successor, were nearly as wild, giving eight walks.

The game was the only contest of the day in the American League, cold weather forcing the six other teams to idle.

Manush, with a double and a triple, and Schulte with a double and two singles led the Browns' attack.

Phils Defeat Robins, 16-15, in Slugfest

Philadelphia, Pa., April 23 (A.P.).—The Phillies and the Brooklyn Robins shattered all of the young baseball season's slugging marks today as Philadelphia gained its second straight victory, 16 to 15, in a weird game that lasted almost three hours.

The two teams, first one leading then the other, got 38 hits for their 31 runs, but it took an error to decide the issue. Jake Flowers, Robin second baseman, booted Thompson's grounder with two out in the ninth and let Spotts come home from third. The lead had changed hands on three previous occasions. Brooklyn used six pitchers, three of them in the first inning, while the Phils called on four. Collins got credit for the victory and Clark was charged with the defeat.

Chuck Klein, 1929, National League home-run leader, got his third homer of the year in the eighth, to put Philadelphia within striking distance after Brooklyn had scored six runs in the seventh. Thompson also contributed a homer to the Phillies' scoring.

Shawkey Bewails Lack of Hitting as Yanks, Idle Due to Cold, Nurse 5 Straight Defeats

Gehrig Alone of Sluggers Is Batting at True Pace.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, April 23 (A.P.).—The historic inability of one rose to proclaim a summer is a soothing philosophy these days to Bob Shawkey, new manager of the New York Yankees, for it is just as self-evident that five straight losing ball games at the start do not make a season, though he'll grant you they don't help much—either.

Robert the Gob had a multitude of explanations to offer today for the quick nose dive of the Yankees, rated the outstanding contenders to Connie Mack's Athletics, to the cellar of the American League in the first two weeks of play. As the brisk cold froze out the chance to win his first game from the A's, Bob had enough time on his hands to figure out that his was a better ball club than the world champion Athletics everywhere but on the pitching hill.

We're Not Hitting, Says Shawkey.

"We're not hitting," he said. "That's the trouble, but it's the best kind of trouble I could have because if there is anything you can be certain of over a full season's play, it's that the Yankees will hit.

"The outfield, with Babe Ruth, Earl Combs, Byrd and Cooke in there has hit exactly .119 in five games. You know that can't last. Tony Lazzeri, a .350 hitter, has had three safe bingles. Cooke will start hitting when the rest do. The only man on the team hitting his normal stride is Lou Gehrig, and Lou had a bad season last year.

"Gehrig should go great. He fell into a bad habit of taking his eyes off the ball last season and falling away as he swung. He has remedied the fault and should climb right back into the .350 class.

Macks Superior Only in Pitching, Says Manager.

"I'm glad we're having our slump now rather than later on. We spent the last two weeks of the training season in sleeper berths and everyone has colds. We'll begin to get the breaks again, speed up with the heat, pick up the hitting and pass those fellows when their time comes to slump.

Rates Yanks Infield Best.

"Gehrig, Lazzeri, Koenig and Chapman give the Yanks a better infield than the A's have in Foxx, Bishop, Boley and Dykes. The only place we can't match them is in pitching. I need a real relief hurler badly.

"Balks cost us a game with the Red Sox and we've had a mess of bad breaks. The umpires are calling a lot of balks and I'm in favor of them but they should give out warnings first. They haven't been doing it. The idea, of course, is to make a pitcher hesitate, stop for a moment before he throws to the plate, and offer some stimulus to smart baserunning, which is passing out with the lively ball."

Robert Walsh Released By Yankees on Option

New York, April 23 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees today released Robert Walsh, young pitcher, to Hazelton, of the New York-Pennsylvania League. The former Notre Dame pitcher, who is a son of "Big Ed" Walsh, famous Chicago White Sox star 25 years ago, will remain the property of the American League Club, going to Hazelton under option.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 23.—Washington and Lee's Tennis team was vanquished by the Naval Academy racqueters, 8 to 1, in the annual match here today. Despite a cold wind which swept the courts to the discomfort of players and spectators alike, some flashing work was shown.

The Navy singles team swept through all six matches. Pilley and Sheilds, of Washington and Lee, bested Salisbury and Halstead, of Navy, 1—6, 6—3, and 7—5' in a rapid-fire match for their team's only score.

Singles—Johnson (Navy), defeated Gooch, 6—2, 6—1; Halstead (Navy defeated Shields, 6—4, 6—4; Robertson (Navy), defeated Pilley, 6—1, 6—3; Lucas (Navy), defeated Bready, 6—4, 3—6, 6—3; Salisbury (Navy), defeated Cox, 6—1, 6—1; Holtzworth (Navy), defeated Clapp, 6—0, 6—4.

Doubles—Chew and Robertson (Navy), defeated Gooch and Bready, 6—3, 6—3; Pilley and Shields (Washington and Lee), defeated Salisbury and Halstead, 1—6, 6—3, 7—5; Lucas and Johnson (Navy),

Light Hitting Is Offset by Pitching

Goslin, Judge Not Yet in Stride; Nats Idle Due to Cold.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER WALTER JOHNSON'S Nationals have lived up to the preseason dope so far, except in one respect, that being the fact that they have won more games than has any other entry in the American League, their present rating being 5 victories as against 2 defeats. After seeing them perform in their exhibition series, the prediction was made that, while they probably would be outhit by many of their opponents, they could make up for this lack of power by better pitching and a tighter defensive game. And the figures seem to bear out this contention.

In their first game with the Athletics, Myles Thomas had a bad day in the box and the Nats were beaten, 9 to 0, the figures of this one contest making their general showing look much worse than it actually has been.

Nats Have Outhit Opponents.

Even including these figures, the Nationals have outscored, outhit and outfielded their opponents and as they have averaged but 8 1-7 hits per game, this means that they have gotten exceptionally good pitching, their opponents having averaged but 8 safeties per contest, despite the 13 obtained by Mack's sluggers in giving the Johnsons their worst beating of the season.

Th efigures to date, which give a good picture of the Nats' work, follow:

No doubleheader will be played at the Clark Griffith Stadium this afternoon despite the fact that yesterday's scheduled game between the Nationals and Boston Red Sox was postponed because of cold weather. Baseball rules provide that twin bills be staged on the second visit of clubs, but, although Boston opened the season here, that game is considered as a special departure and the Sox and Nats will not stage a bargain day card until Heine Wagner brings his club here again next month.

Several hundred fans were disappointed at the postponement after wending their way to the park only to find that their afternoon had been wasted. The stadium, however, was wind-swept with little warmth coming from the sun, which shone only for brief moments at long intervals. The Washington players, too, were disappointed, as they have won three games in a row and all teams dislike a pause in the course of a winning streak.

Johnson May Save Jones.

"Sad Sam" Jones was scheduled to do the pitching yesterday and may draw the box assignment this afternoon, although Manager Walter Johnson intimated last night that he might switch to Myles Thomas and hold Jones over for the Athletics. The world champions are due to show here for games tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday, when some real battles are promised.

The improvement of just one player makes a whale of a difference to a ball team, this being exemplified by the 1930 performances of one Joe Cronin. This young shortfielder has cracked out two homers already, ranking among the league leaders in this respect, while he has driven home nine mates and scored six runs himself. As the Nationals have tallied but 27 times, Cronin's record is quite unusual and he has done much to carry the team along while Goose Goslin and Joe Judge are trying to get in their batting stride.

Workman Repeats With 35-to-1 Shot.

Sonny Workman's army of followers deserted him when the program showed him astride Nae Breeks and as a result the 4-year-old son of Ultimatum—Plaid Kilts went postward at the lucrative odds of 35.25 to 1 in the second race.

When the Washington youth drove Nae Breeks home ahead of fourteen other platers, there was utter silence and the gloom was even more prevalent when they hung out $72.50 against the winner. It was the longest priced winner Workman has driven home at this meeting, which has found him astride an even dozen winners, including today's longshot. He scored a pair of victories on opening day, a trio the next and then was blanked. A lone victory on the fourth day was followed by another shutout. He then won a pair of races on the sixth and seventh days, to go scoreless yesterday.

Workman's victories in the first two races today enabled him to draw away from his field in the race for the $500 gold stop watch offered by General Manager Edward Burke, of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association.

NAE BREEKS, prominent from the beginning and handled with good judgment, responded gamely when the final drive came and, finishing with a rush through the last furlong, was up in the last few strides. PADDOCK, displaying high speed in the early stages, opened up a winning lead, saved ground, but faltered in the closing test.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FAIRY MAIDEN, $3.70, $3.10, $2.30; SEARINGTON, $16.40, 16.30; ORMONEIRD, $3.70.

FAIRY MAIDEN, getting fairly hardly under improved handling, was kept in reserve while saving ground, worked her way between horses when making her effort, wore the leaders down and came away to win with speed in reserve. SEARINGTON, a trailer in the early part, came around his field and closed stoutly. ORMONBIRD was unable to improve his position, but was best of the others. ARCTURUS set a good pace, raced KING BIRD into defeat, but weakened badly at end.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MICHIGAN BOY, $15.10, $6.10, out; CRAZY COOT, $2.70, out. SKIRL, out.

MICHIGAN BOY, following in near pursuit of the leaders, was under slight restraint until leaving the back stretch, was released from restraint when entering the home stretch, swung to the outside, finished stoutly and, displacing the leaders inside the final furlong pole, came away smartly in the last sixteenth. CRAZY COOT had stood early speed, saved ground and came around again when placed to severe punishment. SKIRL, a keen factor all the way, gained a slight lead at the far turn and held on well under punishment. NED O., a slow beginner, was reserved early, was racing strongly on the inside when entering the home stretch, but was blocked badly when attempting to come through on the rail. BATTLESHIP was outrun.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—VANDER POOL, $5.60, $3.90, $2.70; UP, $6.20, $3.50; EQUIPOISE, $2.80.

VANDER POOL reached UP with high speed, was kept under hard urging, wore the latter down steadily and was going away gradually at the end. UP displayed keen speed, saved a lot of ground and held on resolutely when forced to a hard drive. EQUIPOISE, forced to work his way up on the outside, closed full of run.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:20. Off at 5:21. Winner, E. Hilderbrandt's b. g. (5), by Pandion—Betty Hanes. Trained by M. S. Powell. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:41 2-5, 2:07 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DOCTOR FRED, $22.70, $9.70, $7.00; KEYDET, $7.30, $5.70; GUNTHER, $6.30.

DOCTOR FRED, following in nearest attendance of HEDGEFENCE, was not hurried until midway of the back stretch, where he rapidly took command and, sent right along when in a safe lead, drew out at every stride. KEYDET, allowed to remain under slight reserve early, came away when under a drive, but was unable to threaten the winner. GUNTHER picked up his field steadily after covering seven furlongs. HEDGEFENCE, rated in front and saving ground, reached the far turn under steadying restraint, but flattened out when the real issue came.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 5:50. Off at 5:51. Winner, J. C. Fletcher's ch. m. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLANCO, $9.60, $5.30, $3.30; LUCIE ANN, $7.40, $4.40; HAYES' CHOICE, $3.30.

BLANCO, sent into a forward position, was not hurried to reach the pacemaker, gained fast when shaken up rounding the far turn and, assuming command at the last furlong pole, had enough in reserve to withstand LUCIE ANN. Latter, under steadying restraint, responded with good speed when called on, but was forced to make up too much ground when she threatened in the final stages.

—Havre De Grace Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., April 23.—Fillies and mares, 3-years-old and upward, will compete in tomorrow's feature, the Princess Handicap. The race, which will be decided over the 6 furlong route and run as the fourth number, attracted the names of nine entries over night.

FEATURE RACE.

ON HER TOES, the speedy lassie which races for the Glen Riddle Farms Stable, is the top weight of the Princess field, but despite her 126 pounds she not only looks like the winner here, but the most probable winner of the day. The fleet daughter of High Time and Tripping showed a splendid effort in the $10,000 Harford Handicap when she finished third to the Heathen and Balko. That was her first start of the year, so it is only natural to believe she will improve off the race. She hasn't much to beat in the Princess.

MY SIS, too was in the Harford. She finished far back after showing a brief flash in the back stretch. This mare likes the Havre de Grace course. She may be hard to keep out of the money tomorrow. George Widener's FINITA turned in a fast 6 furlongs in winning yesterday. She may be better than generally rated.

ST. PRISCA and MOLASSES JANE, which will race as the Brann-Castle entry, may find too much early foot in the race to suit them.

FIRST RACE—ANGRY, a half-brother to Diavolo, which races for for H. P. Whitney, turned in an impressive effort when he finished third to Battling On and Gunman last Thursday. That was his first start and the race was at 6 furlongs. ANGRY, away poorly, finished stoutly, leaving the impression he will go well over a route. BELLI CASUS raced well at Bowie. He has trained well here. GUNMAN beat ANGRY the other day. We have our doubts as to whether he can do it going a mile and 70 yards, which is the distance of the day's opening number.

SECOND RACE—If you can toss PLAY EM'S last two races out, he has a chance to beat the juvenile platers he will meet. He was very good at St. John's Park. In his two starts in Maryland he suffered interference. GAY CABALLERO has been scratched twice since he raced in the Bowie Kindergarten. He may be the good thing. PRINCE ZEUS beat a cheap field of youngsters at New Orleans, and then his owner got high on him. He was outclassed in his last two starts. SHIELD went well at this track Tuesday. ALL HAIL may be best of those which haven't raced. He is well bred and comes from a good stable.

THIRD RACE—JIMMY MORAN and PARTICULAR will run coupled as the E. K. Bryson entry if both start in the Pathfinder Purse, which will be decided over the 6-furlong route. JIMMY MORAN ran a clever race back of Flimsy the first day of the current meeting. Since then he has turned in some smart trials. PARTICULAR also has trained well, but he may need a race. FLIMSY was driving hard to beat JIMMY MORAN opening day. She takes on 5 pounds and JIMMY drops 2. FORRTUNATE YOUTH should hold WHILE-AWAY safe.

FIFTH RACE—Cheap platers like the ones that will meet in the fifth have a habit of beating each other. CALOME seemed to be a trifle short last Monday. He may improve enough off that race to win tomorrow. NAYLOR finished a length back of CALOME. This one is a slow beginner and he is most certain

TECH COMES FROM BEHIND TO DEFEAT DEVITT, 6-5

6-Run Rally In 7th Wins Contest

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, Jr.

GOING into the last inning on the short end of a 5-to-0 score after being held to one hit in the first six frames, Tech High's baseball team scored six times before the third man could be retired, to defeat Devitt Prep's nine, 6 to 5, in a dramatic finish of a seven-inning game yesterday ont he Monument Lot.

Prior to the last-inning assault, Pitcher Bill Gleeson, of Devitt, had held the high school lads in the hollow of his hand, allowing but one Tech man to get on the bases.

Five runs behind, Tech took advantage of two errors in the last inning, and with the aid of three hits, a walk and a hit batsman, overcame the seemingly invincible lead. With one out and Russell on first as the result of Beasley's error, Wellens singled, sending Russell to third. Wellens immediately stole second. Chumbris followed suit with a hit, scoring Russell and when Thompson reached first after Devitt's catcher had missed the third strike, Wellens took third. Spigel walked, filling the bases and Benner was hit by a pitched ball, forcing home Wellens.

A rap to the box by Pinch-hitter Wills momentarily dazed Pitcher Gleason and when he had recovered, Chumbris had scored, although Wills was flagged at first. English then singled, scoring Thompson and Spigel, tying the score. After stealing second, English dug for third, and when the catcher's throw went into left field, scored with the winning run.

Business Loses, 15-11, To Tome in Opener

Special to The Washington Post.

Port Deposit, Md., April 23.—Business High School, of Washington, D. C., lost its opening game of the season here today when it was defeated by the Tome Institute Nine in a slugfest, 15 to 11. Although the winners made nine errors, in contrast to six by Business, they outhit the visitors, 14 to 8, counting two doubles, two triples and a home run.

Buck, Tome left fielder, led the attack with two singles, a triple and a home run.

Jacobson, Business shortstop, was the leading hitter for that team, cracking out a home run and two singles, while Schneider and Chase collected two hits each.

Gallaudet Bows, 14-4, To Tank School Nine

Special to The Washington Post.

Fort George Meade, Md., April 23.—A fourth-inning rampage which netted them seven runs enabled the Tank School Nine to defeat Gallaudet College here today, 14 to 4, in a seven-inning game. It was the second victory for the locals over the Capital Collegians, the game of April 9 having resulted, 10 to 2. Gallaudet filled the bases in the third, but could not score.

Georgetown Church League Opens Monday

The 1930 schedule of the Georgetown Church Baseball League was announced last night, and officers for the coming year were elected. The league will open its season next Monday evening, and all league games will be played on the East Ellipse Diamond. Six churches—Calvary Baptist, West Washington Baptist, Grace Episcopal, Vermont Avenue Christian, Eldbrooke Methodist Episcopal and the First Baptist—have teams in the league.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Earl Bowman; vice president, Z. C. Hodges, and secretary-treasurer, H. C. Tucker. James J. Sweeney was again selected as the umpire with J. Cowan being chosen as substitute umpire.

NAVY PLEBE NINE BOWS.

Annapolis, Md., April 23—Naval Academy Plebe tossers were thrown for a loss in their season's debut today, losing to Baltimore City College, 12 to 5.

Despite poor baseball weather, both pitchers bore down, but physics of the Collegians allotted the Navy but 3 hits. Errors and wildness helping the Tars toward their 5 tallies.

ERROR COSTS GONZAGA GAME

Episcopal Wins, 9-7, When J. Farrell Drops Fly.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 23.—A brother's error cost Pitcher Al Farrell, of Gonzaga High School, of Washington, a ball game here today, when Jake Farrell dropped a fly ball in the eighth inning, allowing three runs to cross the plate and give Episcopal High School a 9-7 victory on Hoxton Field. Two were out, with Gonzaga leading 7-6, when Jake committed his muff.

Until that time it appeared as if Gonzaga might turn in its first victory of the season by virtue of five runs in the second and two in the sixth which had given it a 7-3 lead. Gonzaga's five runs came as the result of five hits, one of them a homer by Dunn, with one man on base.

Tech High Tackles Emerson Nine Today

Tech High's baseball team will have its hands full today attempting to make it three in a row, when it tackles Emerson Institute, at 3:30 o'clock on the Monument Lot. Emerson has already taken the measure of Western and Eastern, having conquered the latter school twice.

INTERSTATE SEEKS FOE.

The Interstate Commerce Commission Baseball Team, of the Government League, wants a game for Sunday with an unlimited club which has a diamond. Call Wesley McDonald at National 3120, branch 189, after 1 p. m.

REDWOODS TRIM TRINITY.

The Redwood Insects defeated the Trinity Nine, 8 to 5, yesterday on the Thirty-fifth and P Streets Diamond. For games with the winners call Preston Stonbock at West 1844.

MATCH POSTPONED.

The bowling match between the Clarendon and King Pin teams scheduled for tonight has been postponed until Mondayn ight when it will be rolled on the Lucky Strike alleys. Stellar performers of each team are slated to roll with other teams tonight.

C. U. Faces Boston College; G. U. Plays Princeton Today

DESPITE lack of real competition for two weeks and the fact that their opponents rank with the strongest in collegiate circles, the Catholic University Cardinals look forward with optimism to their game today with the Eagles of Boston College on the Brookland Stadium diamond, starting at 3:30 o'clock.

Not since they encountered Harvard's heavy hitters on April 11 have Coach Chick Gagnon's pupils tasted intercollegiate opposition. But in the absence of this sort of action, they have remained at Brookland during the Easter holidays playing intrasquad practice games.

C. U. Nine Primed For Game.

These practice sessions have brought out keen spirit among the players. Some of them chose to return to school for practice several days before the holidays closed, although they were given permission to enjoy the full period of the vacation which ends today.

Gagnon has made three shifts in the Cardinal line-up, including the change of Capt. Gene Murphy from the outfield to the pitching corps. In Murphy's old post in right field, Ted Bonetti, rugged sophomore, will perform today, while Carl DeMello will go to shortstop in place of Rocco Blasi, with Lou Gieffre, formerly the first baseman, taking third base. Blasi is now fighting it out with Johnny Oliver for the second base assignment.

Hurley to Toe Mound.

Lou Hurley, main reliance of the pitching staff, will toe the rubber against Boston College. Everybody in the Cardinal camp looks for him to show his fine early season form, discounting a poor performance in the Harvard game, when the Cambridge boys slugged everything he tossed plateward. Hurley has a good fast ball and knows how and when to use it. Coach Gagnon feels Catholic will take B. C. with Hurley at his best.

Capt. Murphy may get his first call to the slab in the Manhattan game at Brookland on Saturday. The Cardinal leader employs a side-arm delivery, which, when working properly, makes plenty of trouble for opposing batters.

Maryland U. Names Relay Four for Penn

University of Maryland's Relay Team which will run in the Penn relays at Philadelphia Saturday will be composed of Urban Linzey, Bob Remsburg, Bill Kinnamon and either Dick White or Claude Smith. Linzey probably will lead off, with Kinnamon running anchor.

The Old Liners will race Saturday at 3 o'clock against DePauw. Williams and Mary, Bucknell, Union and Fordham. Maryland defeated William and Mary indoors and it appears as if it will have to beat Union and Fordham if it is to win.

Kinnamon and White also will compete in the 400-meter hurdles and hop-step-and-jump, respectively, both of which will be decided tomorrow afternoon.

Potomac Boat Club Honors Court Team

Members of the Potomac Boat Club's Basket Ball Team will receive gold basket balls at the clubhouse tonight as a result of their performances on the court this season. Those to receive awards are: Lilly, Aman, Eshbaugh, Timmons, Wiler, Cunningham, Canavin, Adkins, Robey, Kelso, C. Millar and Manager E. Millar.

Gallagher and Lamar Rematched for May 12

The much-talked-of prize fight between Henry Lamar and Marty Gallagher, Washington heavyweights, which was postponed recently owing to an injury to Lamar, has been rescheduled and will be held in Baltimore on the night of May 12, it was announced last night by Jimmy Gallagher, brother of Marty.

Both Lamar and Gallagher are training in Boston, the present base of their activities. A badly cut lip caused Lamar's manager to obtain a postponement of the match, originally scheduled for last Monday night.

SEEK SATURDAY GAMES.

GEORGETOWN INSECTS WIN.

Georgetown Insects took the measure of the Columbian Nine, 12 to 7, yesterday. For games with the winners, call Potomac 4883 between 5 and 7 o'clock.

GIRL CHAMPS IN TANK MEET

THE BAY SHORE CLUB WOMEN'S RELAY TEAM, South Atlantic A. A. U. champion and record holder, will compete in the 200-yard relay race of the women's division of the first District of Columbia A. A. U. championship swimming meet, which opens next Monday night in the Ambassador Hotel pool, it was announced yesterday.

Composing the Bay Shore Team are Grace Warner, holder of four South Atlantic records; Louise Downer, owner of two South Atlantic marks; Louise Calligan and Genevieve Willford.

It is reported by the committee in charge that the meet has attracted most of the leading swimmers of Washington and vicinity. The contestants look upon the meet most approvingly, as it affords them a chance for competition that has never before been presented in Washington.

G. W. Awards Letters At Banquet Tuesday

The spring athletic banquet of George Washington University will be held next Tuesday night at the Hamilton Hotel under the auspices of the Colonial Club, an undergraduate organization of the school. The ceremonies will open at 7:30 o'clock.

The award of "letters" and other prizes to members of the basketball team, which enjoyed a successful season, will be one of the principal features of the affair.

G. W. and Army Net Teams Clash Saturday

George Washington University and the Military Academy will clash at tennis Saturday afternoon on the courts of the Columbia Country Club, starting at 2 p. m., it was announced yesterday by Max Parrington, assistant athletic director of George Washington. The match will consist of 6 singles and three doubles. Last year the two teams met for the first time the match resulting in a 4-4 tie.

George Washington, which has won two matches to date, also will engage Washington and Lee, this match being listed for Friday on the Columbia courts.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

EDWARD DENSTEADT, radio supervisor of the Detroit Police Department, told the Radio Commission something yesterday which mighr interest Gen. Crosby. Mr. Densteadt said that the Detroit short-wave radio service is a vast improvement over the old telephone system.

In about two seconds after an alarm is received by the police regarding a hold-up or burglary it can be flashed to all of the Detroit police stations and to 36 police cars cruising about the city.

A broadcaster visiting in Washington tells of a practice of "time chiseling" which is being indulged in, he says, by unscrupulous radio stations in certain parts of the country at the expense of the chains.

One minute's time is cut off the end of a chain program. And one minute is cut off the beginning of the next program. That leaves the local station with two one-minute periods at its disposal. This time is then sold to local merchants for commercial announcements, each minute bringing in from $5 to $10 extra revenue for every announcement, amounting to as high as $500 a month on a single program.

This, according to the informant, is done entirely without the knowledge of the chain, which pays the station about $50 an hour for carrying the program, expecting, of course, to receive the entire time.

A local chain executive remarked, upon hearing of this chiseling, that if a chain ever caught a station indulging in such a practice they would instantly cut it off their network.

RUTH HANNA McCORMICK will tell the inside story of her Illinois campaign—maybe—when she faces the microphone tonight (WRC, 7:30 o'clock); and Herbert Hoover, jr., will broadcast from an aeroplane during the Army maneuvers in San Francisco (WMAL, 3 p. m. —WJZ network at 3:15 p. m.).

Also, Mrs. Edward Porter Humphrey, of Louisville, will discuss the "Thoroughbred Horse" (WJZ net., 5 p. m.), and Rudolf Ganz, pianist, and Mme. Renee Chemee, French violinist, will give a recital (WRC, 10 p. m.).

There seems to be no limit to the popularity of radio bridge. During the season just closed, Allison F. Stanley, of Cincinnati, reports that the series were broadcast from 160 stations.

DEDICATING what, according to word reaching the Capital, is the finest broadcasting station in the world, about 100 artists will participate in the first program of WENR, the 50,000-watt Chicago station, from its new location on the forty-first, forty-second and forty-third floors of the Chicago Civic Opera Building tomorrow night.

Credit for developing this great station, a subsidiary of the Chicago Commonwealth Edison Co., goes to John F. Gilchrist, vice president, who began as an office boy, and Morgan L. Eastman, conductor of the Edison Symphony Orchestra, which will be heard at its best tomorrow night.

The program begins at 10 o'clock and lasts until 2 in the morning. WENR broadcasts on a frequency of 870 kc. (the same as WLS, Chicago), and may be found on the dial about half way between WABC, New York, and WHAS, Louisville.

STILL another Washington church will be on a country-wide hook-up when Columbia broadcasts the dedicatory exercises Saturday night of the Universalist National Memorial Church, just built at Sixteenth and S streets.

A special choir will be directed by Dr. Albert W. Harned.

The R-K-O Hour continues to slip.

The American Radiator Co. embarks on a new weekly half-hour series tonight (WRC—9 p. m.) with Mario Chamlee, tenor.

THE radio chains deny invading the news field, but what do they call Columbia's thrusting a microphone into the hand of Convict 46,812, who saw many of his fellows die, and who told the radio audience about it from the Ohio State Penitentiary while the fire was still raging?

A radio announcer in a Philadelphia station lost his job recently as a result of a remark he made not intended for the public. He had concluded a bedtime story for children and thought the power was turned off. For the benefit of the control room he added: "I hope that pleases the little darlings."

Only, according to Variety, he didn't say "darlings," but instead a name not fit to print. This went out over the air. Within 10 minutes several telegrams of protest had arrived. Others came later in bundles.

"There are many 'joy riders' on radio sets who keep them in their homes on demonstration as long as they can work the dealers for them," a radio dealer reports.

He suggested an exchange of names of these people between the dealers.

A man new in the broadcasting business couldn't think of the word "heterodyne," so he just said "logarithm" instead.

Dare Interprets the MODE

Paris, April 23.

I USED to have a positive antagonism for tulle because it seemed to mean to me only one thing—ballet costumes. If someone said to me, "Oh, I've bought the darlingest new tulle dress," I shuddered, picturing with my sometimes too painfully vivid imagination a barrel-like rotundness of contour. Probably it was all my own fault, maybe I'm too narrow-minded or single-track-minded, or whatever one is in a case like this!

However, I found out! If someone would only buy me a tulle dress now, it would make me happy. They are so sleek and slim and shapely and unfrilly—in the "fussy" sense of the word. They make such a gorgeous silhouette, with incrustations deftly following the line of the figure.

Some tulles are very fine and silky and soft; some are coarse as fishnet or heavy lace; and some are glazed and very shiny, so lovely in the bright lights of evening. Tulle that is glazed sometimes stands out in a jaunty flare at the hips, under which a matching soft tulle hugs the figure to the knees and then the flaring tulle makes the bottom of the skirt.

* * * *

Jenny favors a little band of beaded fringe all around the bottom of the underslips of tulle and chiffon dresses this season. It's rather charming because this weights down the underskirt and brings it close to the ankles, and gives a discreet glitter to an otherwise simple gown.

* * * *

And doesn't that give you some ideas for lengthening your evening dress?

* * * *

I won't tell you a single thing about it in this column! Nothing about the flattering neckline, nothin' about the way you put it on in two pieces, nothin' about how you have it all hemstitched and you hardly have to lift a needle yourself. I won't tell you anything until you send me your stamped, self-addressed envelope, the Dare Department, The Washington Post, 'n then I'll tell you everything—in one little illustrated leaflet.

* * * *

Blanche Lebouvier, a couturier, who is extremely popular in Europe, but not so very well known in America, has a particular silhouette idea of her own which is very charming and especially becoming to certain figures. This silhouette was so well expressed in a blue lace and tulle evening gown, that I just had to sketch it for you today. And the lovely evening hat that accompanies it was made of matching materials, whereas the odd belt buckle and the unusual necklace were of turquoise filigree. I sketched the belt buckle for you up in the corner!

* * * *

In addition to all this you really should read the weekly Dare fashion letter. It's in the big Sunday Post each week.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

PLEASE examine the inclosed fern fronds and then try to diagnose the trouble.

MRS. CATHERINE A. G.

Your fern is covered with mealy bugs. Better begin to spray it every other day with cold, soapy water. When the insects disappear, cease the treatments.

Please suggest a remedy to kill the inclosed weeds which have infested our lawn. A. E. S.

The weeds were powder when they reached my desk. Better use a commercial fertilizer and follow directions on container. Your seedsman will be able to recommend such a preparation.

Please tell me how to get rid of insects which have attacked one of my indoor roses. WILLIAM J. L.

As a rule, you can free a plant from such insects as the green rose aphid or the rose aphid (macrosiphum rosae) with a stiff stream of water. Nicotine also proves an effective weapon in getting rid of these pests.

After reading your article in today's paper, I would like to know of a few more plants and bushes suitable for planting in the shady places. Please also tell me how to care for a primrose plant. I bought a pandanus from a chain store, wrapped in moss. Please tell me how to plant it. I am keeping this plant in the cellar, where it is cool. Is this right?

MRS. G. A. K.

The following shrubs and plants will do well in shade: Regel's privet, California privet, rhododendron and barberry. Forget-me-nots, myrtle, ferns, violets, spring bulbs and tuberous-rooted begonias will all do well in shade. Keep your primrose in a warm, sunny, well-ventilated place and give it water every day. Go over the plant each day and remove all faded or dying flowers or leaves. Bring your pandanus to the light and immediately plant it in a soil composed of good, rich loam, sand and manure in equal parts. In the future keep this plant in the sun and if the temperature of your room is about 70 degrees, give it water three times a week. Also spray the foliage once a week with cold, soapy water.

Please tell me if March 15 is a good time to uncover spring flowering bulbs, such as tulips or daffodils.

J. E. H.

Yes.

Please tell me when to start cuttings from such hard-wooded shrubs as hydrangea, spirea or forsythia.

E. H. D.

You can take cuttings from any of these three varieties of hardy shrubs any time after growth starts. Forsythia can be easily rooted in water. The other two varieties do best when rooted in good, rich loam. All three kinds do best in sun.

Please tell me a kind of herbaceous plant or plants which will bloom late in the fall. I have one bed in particular which I want to have in bloom the entire summer. MRS. J. M.

Coreopsis, gaillardia and gypsophila will bloom from early spring until cut down by the frost in the fall.

WORK'S BRIDGE

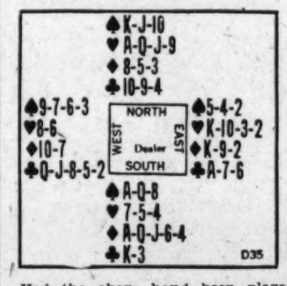
GOOD NEWS, BRIDGERS.

We are pleased to announce we can now renew the offer of Milton C. Work's great Contract and Auction booklet entitled "THE PLAYING PROBLEMS." Bridgers who receiveu copies from previous offers are most enthusiastic over it.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS" presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reason for each answer in complete detail.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

A PROPERLY PLAYED HAND.



Had the above hand been played at Auction Bridge, South would have obtained the contract at one No Trump; but it was played at Contract and North jumped South's one No Trump to three. Instead of bidding three No Trumps, North might have bid three Hearts to give South a choice between trying for game at Hearts or No Trumps; but that is a dangerous declaration with only four cards of the major.

THE PLAY.

West started by leading his fourth best Club; East won with the Ace and returned the higher of his two remaining Clubs, South winning with King and West playing the Deuce. Declarer now knew that West had the Queen-Jack-Eight of Clubs, and East the Six of the nine cards higher than West's original lead, West must have three and East one. East has played the Seven and, as he would return his higher, he must have the Six remaining. If either adversary obtain the lead they would take five tricks all told—the one with which they get in, three more Clubs, and the trick already won with the Ace of Clubs. This would cost Declarer the game.

Declarer could be sure of the one Club he had taken, three Spades and two red Aces; he needed three more tricks. Of course if the King of Hearts should be held by West and and King of Diamonds by East, if the adverse Diamonds were divided 3-2 (which was probable) and the adverse Hearts 3-3 (which was improbable) the Declarer would have twelve winners with only eleven tricks remaining to be played; but losing either finesse would cost game and therefore it would be foolish to try a finesse in the other suit if the first should succeed. There was no indication in favor of the success of either finesse; but to make game with the aid of only one, four tricks must be won in that suit. It was long odds that if the Diamond finesse succeed, five Diamonds would be made; but if the heart finesse succeed, the chances were that only three Hearts could be made as one adversary probably had four.

So Declarer played properly when he placed dummy in the lead twice by overtaking South's Spade Queen and Eight, and took two Diamond finesses which yielded five Diamond tricks. These with three Spades, one Heart and one Club made four-odd.

The "Little Cape" Caught in the Meshes of Net

● The little cape, which makes the sleeves, is done in that fascinating manner typical of Chanel, of cutting out lovely designs and adding net to show them to best advantage.

A WEEK'S SUPPLY OF SWEETS FOR THE AVERAGE FAMILY.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

A sample weekly supply of sweets for an average, or census family is shown in Figure 4. These sweets represent about 4½ pounds of sugar, or about 80 hundred caloric portions. It is believed that this amount of sweets if used regularly will contribute to the attractiveness of the diet without interfering with the use of the required amount of protein, mineral substances and vitamins. The separate items are as follows:

Sugar, granulated, 4 cups, 2 pounds.
Sugar, loaf, ¼ pound
Candy, ¾ pound
Honey, about ¾-cup, ½ pound
Syrup, about 2-3 cup, ½ pound
Molasses, about 2-3 cup, ½ pound
Jelly, ½ pound.

The Goofus Wingo

The Goofus Wingo long had sought
A way to subtract one from naught.
The problem seemed a bit involved,
He didn't think it could be solved,
Until at length he reached his goal—
He took a doughnut from its hole!

SCHOOL FACILITIES STUDIED BY BOARD

Fairfax County Officials Are in Favor of Better Roads for Buses.

DRY CASE IS DISMISSED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 919-J-1

The Fairfax County School Board at an informal meeting and dicussion of school and eductional facilities throughout Fairfax County in preparation for the joint meeting with the County Board of Supervisors next Wednesday, indicated that it would be necessary for several of the roads of the county to be improved so as to allow transportation of pupils of outlying districts to school centers.

The board also favored abolition of small schools, especially one to three room buildings, in the future. It was the opinion of the majority of the members that they would be doing the pupils and the county injustice by erecting any more of these buildings. The members of the board expressed themselves strongly in favor of consolidating schools, with adequate bus transportation, saying that if this were done better buildings with all modern facilities would be made possible.

They pointed out that if schools were built in various centers in the county where at least 200 pupils could be gathered, the children would be given better educational advantages. By having a teacher for each grade, and each having approximately 30 pupils, they would devote their energies to one grade instead of several, as is being done now. Every school would be a standard school and the efficiency of pupils and teachers increased.

After considerable discussion the board made tentative plans for future development of the school building program for the county. The State law passed several years ago abolished school districts within the county, making the county school system a unit. This law also made the school tax rate equal throughout the county except for bond issues for building purposes in each magistrateral district. In making plans the board took into consideration the various centers of population, the improved road centers and the logical sites for buildings that would serve an entire section. Most of the members were not in favor of launching such a building program immediately but they felt that it was their duty to look to the future in erecting school plants.

One of the members stated that to carry out such plans would mean an ideal condition of schools in the county and it was the board's duty to work toward this goal, in the interest of school children and future generations. While their plans would not remedy all the educational evils existing it would at least eliminate the majority of them. The board members also realized that such plans might possibly meet with a great deal of opposition from the parents in various communities but they believed that after the educational advantages and the saving in school expenditures were impressed upon them their sentiments in favor of consolidation would change. The board members were of the opinion that if representatives of the communities where this system has been established in other counties and States would be invited to outline the advantages of such a program of school consolidation for the people that there would be little opposition in Fairfax County to such system.

While no plan was officially adopted, the members felt that a great deal of good had been accomplished by this meeting.

Lewis E. Withers, of Burke, Va., was arrested yesterday morning by Sheriff E. P. Kirby and charged with violation of the State prohibition law. The arrest was made following a raid upon Withers' store and home at Burke. During the raid the officers found almost a half gallon of alleged liquor in a shed a short distance in the rear of the store, they stated. Withers was taken before Justice of Peace Thomas P. Chapman at Fairfax, where the testimony showed that the shed belonged to M. D. Hall, of Burke, and that Withers had permission to use the shed, but of late Mrs. Hall had been keeping her car there. It was also shown that the building was an open one and that any person might have access to it. As the officers were unable to prove that the alleged liquor belonged to Withers, Justice Chapman dismissed the case on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

Prohibition Inspector Virgil Williams and County Traffic Policeman Lewis L. Finks arrested William D. Sample, of the 300 block of C street southeast, Washington, last night when a one-half-gallon jar of alleged whisky was found in his car at Lacey's dance hall near Baileys Cross Roads. Sample was taken before Justice of Peace John B. Dowden at Baileys Cross Roads and held for the action of the grand jury at the May term of the Fairfax Circuit Court on a charge of possession of liquor. The car was ordered seized for violation of the State prohibition law.

The members of the Ladies Social Club will be entertained this afternoon by Mrs. Raymond Kane, of McLean, at the El Nido Catholic Church.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Zion Episcopal Church at Fairfax yesterday afternoon attended a tea and prayer service given by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Theological Seminary, near Alexandria, in Fairfax County.

Miss Sara E. Thomas, home demonstration agent and 4-H Club organizer of the county, is issuing a letter to the girls' 4-H clubs of Fairfax County urging them to tune in on the radio program Saturday to hear the talk given by Martha D. Dinwoodie, adviser of women students of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Va., who will speak on "The Opportunities at the Institute" for women.

A triple automobile collision on the Little River turnpike, between Ilda and Annandale, caused the arrest of E. L. Kitson, of Route 1, Alexandria, and his conviction before Justice of the Peace John B. Dowden at Baileys Cross Roads, on a charge of reckless driving. Mr. Kitson's attorney noted an appeal to the circuit court of Fairfax County.

According to County Traffic Policeman Lewis L. Finks, Kitson attempted to pass the car of I. C. Yates, of Bennings, D. C., on the brow of a hill, at which point it was impossible to see anything coming in the opposite direction. As Kitson drew alongside of the Yates car the automobile of G. F. Wolls, of Alexandria, coming in the opposite direction, knocked him into the side of Yates' car and then into the ditch, the officer said. Not being able to settle their differences among themselves they were taken before Justice Dowden.

Kenmore Council, Daughters of America, will meet tonight in the Andrew Chapel Schoolhouse.

A minstrel show given by the boys of the Occoquan Methodist Church under the direction of Fred Reeder, will be presented tonight in the community house at Woodlawn for the benefit of the Woodlawn School and the Occoquan church.

Miss Mary McBride, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Va., landscape garden specialist of the State extension service, will be in Fairfax County today to assist the Floris Home Demonstration Club in landscaping the Floris School grounds. She will also visit the school at Clifton.

Miss Sara E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, has launched a county-wide garden campaign among the women of the county. She is mailing literature to all the members of the various home demonstration clubs. She is also inviting other persons interested in this work to communicate with her at Fairfax. Each person is being urged to grow two varieties of vegetables that they have not grown before. L. C. Beaner, vegetable garden specialist from the university at Blacksburg, Va., will visit the county to aid all those participating in this campaign.

SETTLERS' LANDING WILL BE OBSERVED

Program to Be Held at Cape Henry Saturday; State Governor to Attend.

NOTED GUESTS LISTED

Richmond, Va., April 23 (A.P.).—The pilgrimage Saturday to Cape Henry, in commemoration of the landing of the first permanent English settlers and the first Protestant Church service in this country, will begin with the reception by Gov. Pollard and Miss Suzanne Pollard Friday evening of former governors of Virginia and visiting governors and their wives, which the Cape Henry pilgrimage committee has made a part of the event.

Gov. Pollard is expecting Gov. Conley of West Virginia, Gov. Gardner of North Carolina, Gov. Hardaman of Georgia and Gov. Richards of South Carolina here for the reception following their attendance at the Winchester apple blossom festival Thursday and Friday. Brig. Gen. William F. Ladd, representing the Governor of Connecticut, is also expected.

The party will leave here at 8:45 o'clock Saturday morning, traveling by automobile to Norfolk, where it is scheduled to arrive at 11:45 a. m. At Newport News it will be met by a State patrol which will escort it to the Nansemond County line, proceeding thence to Portsmouth.

The party will cross the river to Norfolk and land at Campbell's wharf, there to board the barges Admiral Burrage and Admiral Cluverius. At the Hague, in Norfolk, the members will disembark and be met by Mrs. Frantz Naylor, chairman of the Cape Henry pilgrimage committee, city officials and an official committee of hostesses.

Luncheon will be served at the Woman's Club at 12:30 p. m., after which the party will leave at 1:45 p. m. for Cape Henry, arriving there at 2:45 p. m.

Services Will Be Conducted.

At 3 o'clock the religious services will be conducted by the Right Rev. Arthur C. Thompson, Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, the services being in commemoration of the first Protestant church services in this country, held at Cape Henry on April 26, 1607.

Speakers from 3:15 to 4:30 p. m. will be Gov. Pollard, who will present Mrs. Naylor, who as chairman of the committee will deliver the historical address; Gov. Conley of West Virginia, Gov. Hardaman of Georgia and Brig. Gen. William F. Ladd, representing the Governor of Connecticut. Dr. W. H. T. Squires will pronounce the benediction.

$300 Verdict Given For Illegal Arrest

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., April 23.—For illegal arrest and imprisonment because he did not have a license while soliciting magazine subscriptions, Harry Haskins obtained a verdict of $300 against the mayor and council in the Circuit Court here late yesterday at the hands of a jury. Haskins and Harold Mager did not have a license as required by ordinance and they were placed in the Frostburg lockup and later in the Cumberland Jail.

They contended the ordinance was unconstitutional, while the defense was that the municipal corporation was not responsible for the acts of its police or peace officers sworn to enforce the corporate laws and ordinances.

Mager has a similar suit pending and both have suits against Magistrate Edward J. Donahue and Bailiff Edward J. Dufty, Frostburg, for false imprisonment. Bailiff Dufty died since the suit was filed.

Others on the new staff are John Page Williams, of Richmond, Va., managing editor; Edward A. Marks, jr., of South Orange, N. J., business manager; William D. Cabell, of Charlottesville, Va.; Frank Story Cutchin, of Franklin, Va., and Edwin D. Dupree, jr., of Pine Bluff, Ark., news editors; William Bennett Bean, of Charlottesville, Va., assignment editor; Irwin L. Bernstein, of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Victor I. Harris, of Newport News, Va., sports editors, and Jack F. Adler, of Norfolk, Va., assistant business manager.

The new editorial staff has taken immediate charge and will edit the remaining issues of the session of 1929-30.

Boy Crushed to Death When Truck Overturns

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., April 23.—Clyde Thacker, 3-year-old boy, was crushed to death yesterday when his father's truck overturned on a road near here. The parents and several brothers and sisters were on the truck at the time, but all escaped serious injury.

C. T. Thacker, the father, rushed the child to the Mary Washington Hospital here, where it died fifteen minutes later. Mr. Thacker said he lost control of the truck going down a steep hill when the rear axle snapped.

CHURCH ASSEMBLY TO STUDY INCOME

Southern Presbyterians Face Diminishing Receipts on Home Missions.

REPORTS ARE GIVEN

Charlottesville, Va., April 23 (A.P.).—The Seventieth General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church, when it convenes here May 22, will be faced with the problem of a diminishing income for its home mission enterprises accompanied by increasing indebtedness, noted in the report of Dr. Homer McMillan, of Atlanta, general secretary of home missions.

During the last year there was a decrease of $65,638 in total receipts, and the indebtedness of home mission work increased from $49,000 to $91,000, says the report, resulting in a decrease in appropriations to the presbyteries and missions for 1930 of $119,577 from the amount in 1927.

"It will be for the assembly to decide whether the executive committee of home missions, after an almost unparalleled service to the church, is to become a diminishing force in the life of the church or whether there is to be such vision and action as will assure the continuance of a growing church," declares Dr. McMillan's report.

Church Extension Report.

In the department of church extension, the report continues, 280 pastors served 502 churches and 244 outposts in 48 presbyteries, 41 Sunday schools were organized, 16 churches were established, 12 churches were assisted by loan or donation in the erection of buildings and 23 churches were brought to self-support.

Among the Negroes 39 pastors serving 59 churches and five outposts were supported, and Stillman Institute, with fifteen teachers and 200 students, was maintained. The executive committee of home missions cooperated in the support of three Negro missions in Atlanta, Louisville and Richmond and a new Negro mission was begun in New Orleans.

In the mountains aid was given thirteen pastors and ten community workers serving 24 churches and 25 outposts; aid was also given 152 teachers in 25 schools with 2,593 pupils.

Among the foreign-speaking peoples, 37 ministers serving 52 churches and missions, and thirteen teachers in three schools preached to and taught Czechoslovakians, Chinese, Cubans, French, Hungarians, Italians, Mexicans and Syrians.

Evangelical Department.

Two missions for Jews were maintained in Washington and Baltimore in cooperation with the National Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., with six workers employed.

In hte evangelical department 27 evangelists and superintendents, including assembly, synodical and Presbyterial and evangelists for special classes and twelve community workers under the direction of Presbyterial superintendents were aided.

Through the efforts of 650 ministers and missionairies, serving 702 mission enterprises with 304 outposts and preaching points, 4,749 persons were added to the church upon profession of faith and 2,265 by letter.

Firemen's Show Seen by 25,000

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., April 23.—More than 25,000 people already have thronged the long midway at Pentagon Park where the Mellville-Reiss shows are presenting the spring festival of the Alexandria Fire Department all this week, it was announced tonight by Fire Chief James Duncan.

In a statement issued at the termination of the first three days of the festival, Chief Duncan called particular attention to the absence from the Mellville-Reiss midway of all those objectionable features such as, in past years, have drawn much unfavorable criticism upon traveling outdoor amusement organizations.

"Constant, close investigation, not only this week but long before the Melville-Reiss shows first came to Alexandria a year ago," the official declared, "has proved conclusively that in this big carnival company, the Alexandria Fire Department has found midway attractions which can be enjoyed without the slightest possibility of embarrassment and with real pleasure by every man, woman and child in the community."

The festival will continue through Saturday night, and on the final afternoon there will be special matinee performances of all attractions for children.

Frostburg Rotary Has Election.

Frostburg, Md., April 23 (Special).—Horace G. Evans was elected president of the Frostburg Rotary Club for the ensuing year at the annual meeting held at the Race Hotel. James E Spitznas, supervisor of high schools for Allegany County, was chosen vice president; William C. Cook, secretary, and Clifton D. Jeffries, treasurer. J. M. Stewart, Frederick Eyler and Rudolph Nickel were chosen directors.

ARLINGTON HEALTH CENTERS PRAISED

Operations of Department Described by County Health Officer.

BUS SERVICE EXPANDED

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Reviewing the work of the Arlington County Health Department since its establishment in August, 1918, Dr. P. M. Chichester, county health officer, in an address over the air as the feature of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce program, yesterday declared the most effective work now being done in the county is that which is carried on in the three well established health centers in watching the children as infants and the work in the county public schools.

Dr. Chichester pointed out that aside from the very effective work in the county public schools, the health department is bending its efforts to improve dental conditions through educating the public toward diets, both prenatal and in young infants and preschool children, as well as removing as many obstacles as possible from the way of dental care in the preschool child. To gain this, he stated, free preschool dental clinics have been established in each of the three health centers.

"Most effective work has been accomplished since the organization of the county health department toward the reduction and elimination of the following conditions," he said.

"Typhoid fever, through sanitation, vaccination, the control of milk and other food supplies. Smallpox has been practically eliminated through the carrying out of the compulsory school vaccination law.

"Diphtheria is a disease of rare occurrence in the county due largely to the very extensive immunization of school children and preschool children in the county by means of the toxin-antitoxin treatment.

"Tuberculosis is being attacked through a case-finding process and education of such cases as to proper methods of living, from the standpoint of a cure and from the standpoint of the protection of others closely associated with the patient."

In conclusion Dr. Chichester said, "In addition to the activities of the department mentioned, the health workers are carrying on such work as orthopedic clinics, and many of the crippled children of the county have been greatly relieved. Some that have not walked for years are now able to get around without assistance."

According to information obtained from the offices of the Washington Maryland and Virginia Coach Co. at Clarendon it was learned yesterday that the extensions of its service in the county which have been granted by the Virginia State Corporation Commission will be put into effect within the next ten days.

Those extensions are the running of buses along the Glebe road from Columbia Pike to Pershing drive thence to Fort Myer, Georgetown and to Pennsylvania avenue and Twelfth street and from the Country Club Hills over the northern section of Glebe road, turning left on Wilson boulevard thence to Georgetown.

The granting of the permit by the commission was made in the presence of a large delegation of persons who will be affected by the improved service headed by Edward Duncan, chairman of the Arlington County Board of Supervisors.

Commenting on the favorable action of the commission, Robert H. Forman, of the Glebewood Citizens Association, which has led the movement for the past two years, said: "With improved road conditions which has made the extension of the service possible nothing will add to the development of Arlington County more than increased transportation service to the public."

The annual meeting of the State Auxiliaries to Fire Departments will be held tomorrow in the auditorium of the Jefferson District Firemen's Hall.

The morning session will open at 10 o'clock with Mrs. John Travers, State president, presiding. The invocation will be given by the Rev. J. W. Townsend, pastor of the Aurora Hills Calvary Methodist Protestant Church. Mrs. Ethel T. Thorpe, president of the Jefferson District Auxiliary, will deliver the address of welcome.

Following luncheon at 12 o'clock the afternoon session will be devoted to speeches and music.

Among the speakers will be State Senator Frank L. Ball, Walter U. Varney, president of the Arlington-Fairfax Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association, and G. Frank Allwine, chief of the Jefferson District Fire Department. Mrs. C. W. Lee, State vice president, will preside at the afternoon meeting.

Aroused by the airplane crash which occurred in Lyon Park, Arlington County, Tuesday afternoon, causing the death of the pilot, Richard L. Bacho, vice president of the Back to the District Association, last night strongly condemned the practice of low flying which occurs over Arlington County almost daily, and declared further that were Arlington County in the District of Columbia student fliers would not be permitted to carry on such practice.

The Lyon Park Citizens Association at its meeting last night adopted a resolution strongly condemning the practice by aviators of flying low over Lyon Park and other thickly settled sections of the country.

The secretary was instructed to report the matter to the Secretary of Commerce.

The association also adopted resolutions favoring the proposed $640,000 bond issue for the enlargement of a number of the county school buildings.

The newly elected officers of Clarendon Lodge, No. 1315, Loyal Order of Moose, were installed at the meeting held last night at Clarendon.

Those who were installed by R. Colton Lewis, junior past dictator, are P. F. Marstellar, past dictator; M. Black, dictator; J. E. Marsteller, vice dictator; R. F. Beatty, prelate; L. S. Whitehouse, secretary; F. C. Venegas, treasurer; J. Longerbeam, sergeant at arms; D. L. Loveless, inner guard; S. C. Wood, outer guard; J. D. Coberth, James F. Costellow and F. Fearson, trustees. Representatives to the Supreme Lodge, L. S. Whitehouse and J. D. Coberth.

Plans were completed for the dance to be given in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon the evening of May 1.

The Arlington District Council of Citizens Associations at its meeting held last night in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce instructed its public utilities committee to make a study of the gas rates in Arlington County and consider plans whereby a reduction could be brought about equal to the present rates in the District of Columbia and Maryland.

The Men's Club of St. George's Episcopal Church will hold its monthly meeting tonight in the parish hall at 8 o'clock.

All members are asked to attend. The program committee promises a good time.

A benefit dance will be given tomorrow night in the Barcroft Community House under the auspices of the Barcroft School and Civic League.

Bus Crashes Hurt 25 School Pupils

Inquiry Is Launched Into Two Accidents Near Danville.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., April 23.—Twenty-five Pittsylvania school children were nursing injuries today, received yesterday when two school buses turned over in different sections of the county.

The most serious accident took place at Callands, when the bus got beyond control, ran up a bank and caromed off into the road, where it turned over. Fifteen children were in the vehicle. Annie, Robert and Eva Barker, daughters of L. C. Barker, were brought to the hospital here with broken limbs and cuts. Elizabeth Jefferson and Aubrey Clark also were admitted, the latter with a crushed arm, which may mean its amputation.

The other accident occurred near Chatham, when a bus driven by Roy Dodd skidded in loose dirt and turned over. Estelle Ford and Carl McNichols were severely cut, eight others being bruised. County Superintendent of Schools Fletcher B. Watson has instituted an official inquiry into both mishaps.

Orchards Are Believed Unharmed by Cold Spell

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 23.—Although thin ice was noticeable here early this morning and unofficial thermometers went to slightly below freezing, fruit growers did not think the apple blossoms damaged. Opinion was that because of continued cool weather, the buds would probably survive temperatures several degrees below freezing.

A very slight snow fall was recorded here this morning, with mountain reports telling of heavier falls. The official minimum temperature Tuesday night was 33.

Mystery Fire Destroys Shinnston Glass Plant

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 23.—Fire of mysterious origin destroyed the plant of the Marion Glass Co. at Shinnston this morning, causing a loss of $80,000. Insurance of $21,500 was carried, according to Peter Viggiano, owner, who said he planned to rebuild.

The plant manufactured novelty glassware.

Alleged Attacker Spirited Into Jail

Attempted Assault Charged to Youth; Woman, 79, in Serious Condition.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., April 23.—Charged with attempting an attack on Mrs. Deal Scruggs, 79, prominent county woman, Ezekiel Roach, 19-year-old Pittsylvania Negro, was in jail here today, brought by county authorities for safe keeping.

City Jailer Harper Chandler was enjoined by Sheriff C. A. Murphy, of Pittsylvania, from permitting anyone to see the accused because of an alleged plot whereby a white man was to secure access to the jail under a permit and to shoot the youth in his cell. Roach denied that he threw a blanket over the head of the aged woman and then attacked her. The victim's husband, 80, has identified Roach as the Negro he saw running from his home soon after his wife had screamed. Mrs. Scruggs' condition is reported serious.

Murphy sped to Danville with Roach when neighbors gathered at the scene while the sheriff was questioning the Negro. According to Murphy, feeling against the Negro was openely voiced.

Reorganization Planned For Bank of Lewisburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Lewisburg, W. Va., April 23.—Dr. Gory Hogg, who recently moved from Fayette to Greenbrier to join in new coal developments, and a number of associates have planned to reorganise and take over the Bank of Lewisburg. Terms of the proposal have been approved by old shareholders, and final approval is looked for at a meeting called for May 3.

Associated with Dr. Hogg in the bank will be John L. Dickinson, Waller C. Hardy, E. W. Knight, F. D. Drumheller, W. S. Wood and D. H. Morton, all of Charleston; J. Wade Bell, of Quinwood; C. E. Boone, of Ronceverte, and H. A. Matthews, of Lewisburg. The name of the reorganized bank probably will be the Lewisburg Bank & Trust Co.

AIDS ARE SELECTED FOR CHAMBER DRIVE

F. Clinton Knight Appoints Alexandrians to Help in Movement.

G. O. P. MEETING IS HELD

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 522.

In connection with the "forward movement" of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, F. Clinton Knight, commander in chief of the sales army of 200 solicitors, which is being organized as a part of the movement has associated with him Hugh T. Clarkson, A. M. Remschell and L. H. Dudley, with the rank of colonels. Yesterday the colonels announced their immediate assistants, ranking as majors, Col. Clarkson's appointments being James Armstrong, Joseph H. Newell, Lawrence E. Roland and Robert L. Kane; Col. Remschell appointing J. Kent White, Sidney Well, St. Clair D. Shelton and J. F. Myers, and Col. Dudley announcing the appointment of Maj. Alfred Thomson, Tom Jones, Robert G. Whitton and C. C. Brown.

Robert S. Barrett, general chairman of the movement, has addressed a letter to the professional and business men of the city, pointing out that the chamber of commerce reorganization program is not alone for manufacturers or retailers, but that its 29 phases of proposed development affects the business and professional man and the industrialist alike.

Chairman Barrett stated that the professional men, as well as others, are interested in the work largely because of the benefits the whole community will receive. He believes it will increase the population, give the city a larger clientele and increase the value of the real estate holdings.

The Republicans of Alexandria, in a mass meeting held in the George Mason Hotel, have selected 23 delegates and alternates to the district Republican convention to be held in Orange, May 14, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress to succeed R. Walton Moore. A new city committee was elected, as follows:

First Ward—C. A. Strauss, John Barton Phillips and Mrs. C. A. Strauss.

Third Ward—L. O. Hardin, O. P. Angelo and Mrs. E. R. Thomasson.

Fifth Ward—Richard B. English, E. E. Carver and Mrs. E. F. Baldwin.

Sixth Ward—W. B. Fulton, M. L. Bettis and Mrs. W. L. Kleysteuber.

The delegates to the convention are: J. B. Phillips, F. C. Knight, E. E. Carver, M. L. Bettis, Mrs. E. R. Thomasson, Mrs. E. F. Baldwin, J. B. Kirchner, J. C. Keith, Mrs. C. A. Strauss, R. L. Akner, O. P. Angelo, W. B. Fulton, F. L. Flynn, William Kleysteuber, John Strauss, R. B. English, James Rust, W. A. Crawford, Raymond Gaines, T. H. Hamilton, R. Johnson, C. D. Welch, C. R. Hupp; alternates are Mr. Kellar, John Logan, Mrs. P. R. Henderson, R. S. Luckett, D. E. Robey, R. P. Whitestone, Mrs. Fugett, S. J. Hammersley, Mr. Roseberry, A. S. Doniphan, E. R. Thomasson, L. O. Hardin, R. L. Agner, Leonard Miller, Frank Meyers, Kemp Rush, Henry Padgett, R. E. Grover, Charles Dean, W. A. Harding, Gorman Ferguson, Samuel Haslett and P. F. McConnell.

The Kiwanis Club today at its luncheon meeting at 12:30 in the George Mason Hotel will be addressed by Edward Hill, of Washington, and the lieutenant governor of the District for Kiwanis, and also the club will welcome two new members, Albert A. Smoot and Charles M. Sprague.

Robert C. McCullough, worshipful master of Cathedral Lodge, No. 40, A. F. and A. M. of Washington, D. C., with his staff of officers and a number of the lodge members, will visit Alexandria-Washington Lodge, No. 22, tonight at 8 o'clock. C. F. Swetnem, worshipful master, will preside, and states the Master Masons' degree will be conferred.

Sarepton Lodge of Odd Fellows has postponed the date of the smoker set for next Tuesday night, in order not to conflict with the circus to be held that evening under the auspices of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion.

Capt. Thomas E. Posey, aged 64, one of the best known rivermen in this section, died Tuesday night at his home, 309 South Lee street, following a stroke of paralysis a week ago, while in a boat on the river shore. The deceased has for the past 35 years been employed by the Columbia Sand & Gravel Co., and has been in charge of the company's dredging machine operating on the Maryland side of the Potomac River, opposite this city. He is survived by two sons and a daughter. The funeral will be held at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning from St. Mary's Catholic Church, conducted by the Rev. Hugh McFadden, assistant pastor. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Police Capt. W. W. Campbell yesterday received a letter from Baltimore requesting him to locate relatives of W. W. Clark, a native of Knoxville, Tenn., who had been employed at the paint shop of the Southern Railway Co. in this city, and who was drowned on Monday night at Baltimore.

Meeting to Weigh Lee Road Change

Cramton and Grant Will Speak to Gathering at Middleburg.

Special to The Washington Post.

Middleburg, Va., April 23.—A mass meeting at the Red Fox Theater, Middleburg, at 8 p. m., Friday, May 2, will be addressed by Representative Louis C. Cramton, of Michigan, and by Col. U. S. Grant 3d, Superintendent of Public Buildings and Public Parks, Washington, D. C.

The meeting will consider the relocation of the Lee Highway from Fort Buffalo, in Fairfax County, to the present junction of the Lee Highway with the Little River Pike, 1 mile west of the town of Fairfax.

The proposed relocation is an extension in a practically straight line, between the points above mentioned, of the Lee boulevard, which begins at the Virginia end of the Arlington Memorial Bridge. It will avoid the towns of Fairfax, Falls Church, Cherrydale and Rosslyn and will eliminate the corners at Fairfax and Rosslyn. It will enable motorists to drive at the speed limit all the way, it is declared, without the slow speed and stops now required in the town and villages on the existing road.

Daily O'Currences

—By JOHN DALY—

WHEN Luella came out of the District Building, where she had gone to pay her respects to the Commissioners, complimenting particularly Mr. Crosby on his courtesy campaign for the Police Department, she encountered a traffic officer. He was placing a slip on the windshield of her car.

She surveyed the officer as he tucked the little piece of paper under the windshield wiper. He tipped his hat and asked:

"Are you the owner of this car?"

Luella hesitated: "Well," she said, truthfully, "there are several more payments to be made——"

"I mean," said the officer, "are you the driver?"

"Oh," said Luella, "I parked it here several hours, I mean, about 45 minutes ago——"

"You did?"

"I did."

"Then," said the officer, "if it isn't too much trouble, I should like to see your driving permit."

* * * *

LUELLA fumbled amongst the many articles in her hand-bag. She had everything there but the permit.

"I must have left it home," she stated, nonchalantly, "if you're out that way any time, do drop in——"

"Madam," said the officer, "we are not permitted to leave the beat——"

"How awkward," she said, "suppose——"

"An officer is an officer," he declaimed, "and where duty calls——"

"Well," said Luella, arguing with him, "doesn't duty call you out to my house to see my driving permit?"

"Duty prescribes that I shall present you with an additional ticket," said the officer.

"A ticket?" asked Luella, "I don't want any tickets. I have all the tickets I can use. Too many, in fact——"

"That may be so," said the officer, "but you'll have to take this one——"

"Really," said Luella, "this is too much. As it is, we have tickets for everything—even the opera. Every time we turn around somebody sells us tickets for something."

"I'm not selling you these tickets—just giving them to you for parking overtime and being without a driver's permit."

* * * *

FORTHWITH he handed Luella two pink slips of paper.

"How pretty!" exclaimed Luella.

"You'll present these with the customary collateral——"

Just then Commissioner Crosby emerged from the District Building, stood on the pavement and overheard the by-play between Luella and the traffic officer. The Commissioner relieved the situation by suggesting to the officer, "I think we might be reasonable in a case like this, don't you?"

"Oh, sho', sho'!" said the officer, imitating Andy.

"Check and double check," answered Luella, smiling her thanks to the Commissioner.
